The average number of years' purchase on gross annual value of agricultural land in 1909–10 was 29·42, as compared with 18·50 in 1908–9 and 18·75 in 1907–8. The average of years' purchase of freehold house property and business premises was 13·23 in 1909–10, and had steadily declined from 15·79 in 1901–2. Ground rents were valued at 31·41 years' purchase in the remarkable year 1901–2, at 25·64 in 1906–7, and at 24·24 in 1909–10. The number of estates, realty and personalty, valued at more than £250,000 each was 75 in 1907–8, with a capital value of £52,500,000, and 74 in 1908–9, with a capital value of £44,500,000. In 1909–10 the number of estates, realty and personalty, valued at more than £250,000 each was 79, with a capital value of £59,000,000, upon which the Estate Duty levied was £7,000,000.

LARGE AND SMALL ESTATES COMPARED.

The Estate Duty was levied in 1909–10 on estates of various amounts in the following proportions :—

	No. of Estates.	Capital Value.	Estate Duty.
Over £250,000 each	79	£59,160,000	£7,174,097
Between £100,000 and £250,000 each	209	33,240,000	£2,462,593
Between £25,000 and £100,000 each	1,284	63,998,000	3,595,217
Between £1,000 and £25,000 each	20,090	107,224,000	3,964,354
	21,662	£263,622,000	£17,196,261
Under £1,000 each	47,712	20,040,000	273,098
	69,374	£283,662,000	£17,469,359

The capital of a little over 59 millions from the seventy-nine estates over £250,000 each thus yielded twice as much in Estate Duty as the capital of nearly 64 millions from the 1,284 estates between £25,000 and £100,000 each. In 1908–9 Estate Duty was levied on 67,524 estates with a net capital value of £270,903,000, and the amount of the duty was £14,173,895.

PERSONALTY SITUATED ABROAD.

The gross capital value of personalty situated abroad and subject to Estate Duty was in 1899–1900 £15,715,953, and of this the amount in foreign countries was £13,894,259, and the amount in British Dependencies £1,821,694. In 1901–2 the total was £8,693,608, of which more than 7 millions were in foreign countries. Since 1902 the annual average has been about 8 millions levied in nearly equal proportions from estate in foreign countries and in British Dependencies. In 1909–10 the capital value of personalty situated abroad upon which Estate Duty was levied was £5,440,692, of which the amount in British Dependencies was £3,252,090.

LEGACY AND SUCCESSION DUTIES.

The net receipt from Legacy Duty in 1909–10 was £3,527,006 on a total capital of £71,993,580, as compared with a receipt in 1908–9 of £3,335,598. Nearly half of the receipt in 1909–10 was from legacies to persons not of kin to the testator. The rate of duty (10 per cent.) on this class of legacy was not altered by the Finance Act of 1909. The new duty imposed by that Act of 1 per cent. on a legacy to the husband or wife of the deceased yielded only £1,580, but is not payable if the value of the estate does not exceed £15,000. Legacies to brothers and sisters and their descendants at the new rate of 5 per cent. yielded £530,000, and at the old rate of 3 per cent. £1,106,093. Future increase in the yield of the Legacy Duties seems likely to be derived chiefly from the additional 2 per cent. on legacies to brothers and sisters and their descendants. The total capital value of legacies of this class in 1909–10 was about 47½ millions.

Succession Duty in 1909–10 yielded £650,000 on capital valued at £16,212,580, of which rather more than half was capital which passed on the succession of a brother or sister of the predecessor or on the succession of any descendant of a brother or sister. Increased duty on the new scale in respect of this class of succession is not to be levied if the value of the property does not exceed £15,000. Succession Duty in 1901–02 yielded more than £1,300,000 on a capital value of £26,500,000, but that was an extraordinary year.

DETAILS OF THE INVESTMENT OF CAPITAL.

In the records of classification in detail of the gross capital value of personalty in the United Kingdom, amounting altogether in 1908–9 to £200,481,000, and in 1909–10 to £210,900,000, comparative figures of the following items are chiefly interesting :—

	1909–10.	1908–9.
Funds of the United Kingdom	£7,903,000	£7,940,500
Foreign and Colonial Stocks	11,982,000	11,369,000
Company Shares and Debentures	91,129,000	88,570,000
Cash in the House	631,720	603,720
Cash at the Bank	17,606,000	17,288,000
Money out on Mortgage	13,120,000	14,730,000
Policies of Insurance	8,757,000	9,075,000
Household Goods and Pictures	6,829,000	6,984,000
Share of Partnership Estate	10,808,000	9,067,000
Personal Estate not classified	16,183,000	9,667,000

The valuation of life policies at over 8¾ millions, although a quarter of a million below the valuation in 1908–9, is the highest in any other year since 1899. This form of investment shows a steady and satisfactory increase in the figures published by the Estate Duty Department. Probably the growth of thrift in this direction is much more marked than is apparent in these figures. Neither the Post Office, in which through the Savings Bank a large business is done in Life Assurance of small amounts, nor the Insurance Companies and Provident Societies require a grant of Probate to be taken out when the effects are of small value and the sum payable under the policy does not exceed £50.

CONSOLS.

The decline in the valuation of holdings in the funds of the United Kingdom in the above schedule in 1909–10 as compared with 1908–09 is partly due to lower market prices, but the holdings of these securities, as stated in the Inland Revenue accounts, have sensibly decreased over a period of years, and are now much less than 4 per cent. of the gross capital value of personalty in the United Kingdom, whereas Colonial and Foreign Stocks are more than 5½ per cent., and the Company Shares and Debentures more than 45 per cent. These securities seem to be passing from private into corporate possession. Consols during a considerable part of last year were quoted at about 80, and in October at about 79½. It has always to be kept in mind, however, that Consols now carry interest at the rate of only 2½ per cent. Thus 3 per cent. Consols at 80 are only equivalent to 2½ per cent. Consols at a little under 67, but 2½ per cent. Consols at 80 are the equivalent of 3 per cent. Consols at 96, and yield to the investor at that price 3⅛ per cent., which is a lower rate of interest than they yielded during the great part of last century. It was not until the year 1850 that the price of 3 per cent. Consols averaged during the year £96 10s. In 1804 the quotation for 3 per cent. Consols was from 53¾ to 59¾, in 1810 from 63 to 71, in 1814, 54 to 67, and in 1825, the year of Bank failures, 75 to 94¾. It is noteworthy that in 1810, when the announcement of the death of Mr. Abraham Goldsmid, a great contractor for public loans, was made, the Stock Exchange quotation for Consols fell 3 per cent., but the failure of the disastrous Walcheren Expedition did not depress Consols, and the news of Wellington's victory at Busaco was not followed by any considerable rise in Consols, which appear to have been usually little affected by political circumstances.

Estates not Liable to Duty.

The number of estates not liable to Estate Duty of which the Department had notice was in 1909-10, 17,951, and of these 1,924 were insolvent estates with a gross capital value of £3,570,500, and 16,027 estates not exceeding £100 each in capital value, with net capital value of £903,858.

The accounts of the Commissioners of Inland Revenue state the capital assessed to the Death Duties during the past ten years as follows:—

Year.	Capital Value.	No. of Estates.	Duties Paid.
1900-1901	£264,514,000	62,523	£16,721,000
1901-1902	288,860,000	61,393	18,513,000
1902-1903	270,473,000	62,310	17,913,000
1903-1904	264,118,000	62,108	17,326,000
1904-1905	265,103,000	63,918	17,258,000
1905-1906	272,172,000	62,845	17,344,000
1906-1907	298,460,000	66,082	18,958,000
1907-1908	282,294,000	67,533	19,108,000
1908-1909	270,903,000	67,524	18,310,000
1909 1910	283,662,000	69,374	21,754,000
	£2,760,559,000	645,610	£183,205,000

The Budget Estimate of the receipt from the Death Duties during the year which will end on 31st March, 1911, was £25,650,000, and during the financial half-year ended 30th September, 1910, the actual receipt was £12,951,000, which seemed to give promise of a substantial surplus, but how much of the half-year's receipt really appertains to estates respecting which payment of the duties had been delayed until the Finance Act of 1909 was passed, which, as the Commissioners point out, has effected numerous alterations in the law relating to Estate Duties, cannot at present be exactly ascertained.

The new Land Value Duties, which came into operation in October last, yielded in the three weeks to 22nd October, £50,000.

Imaginary Wealth.

As mentioned in WHITAKER'S ALMANACK last year, there had been since the collapse of what was known as the Druce-Portland case a remarkable diminution in the number o announcements of windfalls, unexpected inherit ances, and claims to fortunes and titles. Tha diminution has fortunately been continued, an such few announcements of the kind as hav appeared have been so extravagant as hardly t be deceptive. In one instance, an unexpecte inheritance of £5,000,000 in America was eventu ally trimmed down to less than £5,000, and eve then appeared to be doubtful.

Rich Estates of the Year.

Nine estates exceeding a million each hav been reported since our last issue, with a aggregate capital of £15,000,000, "so far as a present can be ascertained." A list of thes and of other very rich estates will be found a page 435.

Works of Art.

The total estimated value of the propert exempted from Death Duties in the course o the year ended March 31, 1910, in respect o bequests to national and municipal institution was £169,213, as compared with £12,558 i 1908-9, and only £7,557 in 1907-8. Last year' bequests included pictures to the Nationa Gallery and the Corporations of Birmingham Huddersfield, and Manchester, portraits to th First Lord of the Treasury for the time being Oriental manuscripts to the British Museum, ol china to the Victoria and Albert Museum, an books to the University of Melbourne, th Victoria University, Manchester, the Corporatio of Manchester, and the Corporation of Stock port. The most valuable bequest to th National Gallery last year was probably that o Mr. George Salting, the son of a Danish settle in Australia, but long resident in England, wh died in December, 1909, aged 72 years, leavin £1,300,000, and many of whose pictures an works of art had been on loan to the Victori and Albert Museum and the National Gallery A large part of Mr. Salting's collection of ar treasures has now become the property of th nation, but the "estimate" which was pu lished at the time of his death that the worth o the collection was "between £2,000,000 an £4,000,000" has not been confirmed by th official valuations. Under the will of Dr. Ludw Mond, aged 70, of Brunner Mond & Co whose estate was valued, "so far as can a present be ascertained," at £1,000,000, a colle tion of 56 Italian paintings is to be offered t the National Gallery upon certain condition after the death of his widow, but the collectio or such part of it as may be selected is remain for ever substantially united in th room or rooms to which it may be transferre The British Museum will be enriched by th bequest of a fine collection of Wedgwood wa from Mr. Isaac Falcke, of Gower Street, deal in works of art, who had the copy of the Por land Vase which was in the Gold Room of th Museum. Mr. Richard Glynn Vivian (75), Swansea and London, whose estate was valu at £284,000, left £10,000 for the erection Swansea of a Glynn Vivian Art Gallery, which are to be transferred the contents, inclu ing works of art, of his town house in Eat Square; and art bequests have been left b among others, the late Sir Theodore Martin, th Rev. Charles John Steward, Mrs. Helen Crowthe Mr. George Cox, of Manchester, and Mr. Pier Malone, of Dublin.

Among the sales by auction of collections

orks of art in this country during last year were ose of

Alexander Young	£154,000
Baron J. Henry Schroder	138,000
Octavius Edward Coope	72,300
T. W. Walker	60,600
Isaac Falcke	37,250

here were ten other collections which were ported to have been sold for prices ranging om £11,000 to £30,000 respectively, and lthough there do not appear to have been any ndividual prices quite so sensational as some of hose quoted in former years, it seems likely that early £1,000,000 was the sum realised by sales f works of art by auction last year in this ountry. Much higher prices were quoted from ew York, where at the Yerkes sale a portrait f a lady by Franz Hals was reported as sold for 27 400—by far the highest price ever obtained or a single-figure work of this artist. The mily group attributed to him, which was ought by the Trustees of the National Gallery 1 1908, and was the subject of some criticism, as said to have cost £25,000. The report came lso from New York that a collector there had btained last year, by private purchase for 100,000, a group picture by Franz Hals, and iat another collector had paid nearly as much or a portrait by Rembrandt, but reports of rivate sales at great prices are not always quite rustworthy.

At last season's art sales in London the Birds' Nesters," by Corot, brought 13,000 uineas, his "L'Abreuvoir," 6,200 guineas, and ie "Evening Glow," 5,450 guineas; Constable's Stoke by Nayland," 8,800 guineas; a portrait y Hoppner, 8,800 guineas, and another portrait y Hoppner, 5,100 guineas; Gainsborough's Raphael Franco," 6,200 guineas; a portrait of lady by Sir Joshua Reynolds, 5,500 guineas, nd Millais' "Chill October," 4,800 guineas. L'Enfant Couchee," 20½ × 13½ inches, by the ving artist Matthew Maris, sold for 4,900 uineas, and "Feeding Ducks," 13 × 9 inches, y the same artist, 2,700 guineas. The "Ship-recked Fishermen," by Josef Israels, was ought from the Alexander Young collection for 600 guineas for presentation to the National allery, and two other pictures by Josef Israels rought 2,500 guineas and 2,000 guineas respec-vely.

HE VELASQUEZ "VENUS" AND THE "FLORA" WAX BUST.

Complaint of the drain of works of art from ngland to America, Germany, and other coun-ies was not so frequent last year as in former ears, when funds were being sought for the urchase of the Rokeby Velasquez and the orfolk Holbein. Suggestions were made last ear of some few works which might then be btained and ought not to be allowed to leave ie country, but no public subscription for the urpose was promoted. Discussion was revived bout the authenticity of the Rokeby Venus by elasquez owing to the reported discovery of ertain partly obliterated markings on the rface of the picture which indicated, or, rhaps it should be said, suggested that it was ie work of Velasquez's pupil and son-in-law, el Mazo, to whom this picture and others by ie master have sometimes been attributed. he discussion excited much public interest, and reful examination of the discovered markings as made by two unofficial committees succes-sively appointed for the purpose, and the pre-ponderance of opinion among them seemed to be that the claim for del Mazo had not been established.

Controversy, which in this country was chiefly amusing but in Germany became heated, was carried on for a considerable time about a wax bust of Flora which had been bought in London at a large price—sometimes stated as high as £8,000—for the Kaiser Friedrich Museum in Berlin, where it was regarded as "undoubtedly dating from about the year 1500," and probably the work of Leonardo da Vinci. "The recent history of the bust," it was said here, "is humiliating to our national connoisseurship." It had brought at a sale near Southampton a year or two before not more than £2 or £3, and had passed to a dealer in London who sold it for about £150, and "afterwards our own museum authorities might have bought it, but it was finally secured for Berlin at the price of a good many thousands." Our own museum authorities proved, however, to have been justified in their conduct. Convincing evidence was forthcoming from Southampton, where the bust had been for many years, that it was of the nineteenth century, and was made about 1846 by Richard Cockle Lucas, a clever sculptor and modeller, whose son, Albert Durer Lucas, still living at Southamp-ton, helped him in the work. The core with which the bust is stuffed was found on examina-tion to consist partly of a piece of a nineteenth century bed-quilt.

CHARITABLE BEQUESTS.

On page 435 will be found a schedule of eighty-four charitable bequests in 1910 for the approxi-mate amount of £3,652,405, under wills disposing of estate valued at £15,705,254.

Bequests for religious, charitable and educa-tional purposes to the amount of more than twenty-two millions of pounds have been noticed in WHITAKER'S ALMANACK in the past five years. Such bequests in 1906 and 1907 exceeded five millions in each year, and the three subsequent years accounted for about four millions each. The charitable bequests of the five years of which particulars have been scheduled in the ALMANACK have been as follows:—

	Approximate amount of Bequests.	Value of Estates.
In 1906 under 60 Wills	£4,486,440	£15,246,778
In 1907 under 80 Wills	4,868,252	14,565,779
In 1908 under 80 Wills	3,548,705	12,534,850
In 1909 under 75 Wills	3,411,170	19,182,665
In 1910 under 84 Wills	3,652,405	15,705,254
379	£19,966,967	£77,235,326

The bequests not scheduled were probably £2,500,000 more in the five years. Those scheduled are, it will be seen, in the proportion of nearly 25 per cent. of the estates from which they were derived.

The largest bequest of last year was that of about £500,000 under the will of Sir Alfred Lewis Jones, of Liverpool, shipowner, for charitable purposes in England or the British possessions on the West Coast of Africa, especially suggesting the technical education of negroes and tropical disease research. The bulk of Mr. John Cory's bequest of £250,000 is for Nonconformist missions, orphanages and homes, and for hospitals and the completion of a garden village scheme. Dr. Ludwig Mond left £50,000 each to the Royal Society in London and to the University of Heidelberg, £20,000 to Munich for promoting sculpture and painting, £20,000 to Cassel, and the reversion of part of his collection of works of art to the National Gallery. Under the will of Mr. Arthur Lloyd, of the Daily Chronicle and Lloyd's Weekly News, there are legacies of £1,000 each to the Printers' Pension Corporation, the Newspaper Press Fund, and Newsvendors' Benevolent Institution, and the residue—about £125,000—for grants in aid of hospitals and other institutions, and especially for a fund for the benefit of employees of Edward Lloyd, Ltd.

Bequests for Education, Hospitals, and Homes for Lonely Ladies.

Mr. Edward Stocks Massey, of Burnley, brewer, left about £100,000 for educational purposes as the Corporation of Burnley may direct; and Mr. Richard Glynn Vivian, of Swansea, left £5,000 for Glynn Vivian Miners' Missions in France, Germany, Spain, Russia, Chili, and South Africa, £10,000 for a picture gallery for art collection at Swansea, and £1,000 for lectures on picture copying and miniature painting. Mr. F. T. Cobbold, late M.P. for Ipswich, left £20,000 to apply the income in the purchase of works of art for Ipswich, and £10,000 for the maintenance of the chapel of King's College, Cambridge. Mr. George Salting, in addition to his bequests of works of art to the nation, left £12,000 for hospitals; Mr. Edward Matyear, of Fulham, market gardener, left about £55,000 to King Edward's Hospital Fund; Mrs. Julia Scaramanga's will gave about £20,000 in trust for hospitals and schools in the island of Scio, in Greece; Mr. Charles Smith, of St. John's Wood, left £1,000 each to thirteen London hospitals and £11,500 among twenty-eight hospitals, orphanages and missions; Mrs. Kate Minnie Russel, of Halstead, Kent, whose estate was valued at £50,873, left about £44,000 upon trust for such charitable purposes as the executor of her will shall determine, but desiring, without creating any trust, that he shall devote the whole or such portions thereof as he shall determine for the maintenance of a Home for Lonely Ladies who have been deserted by their husbands with no home to go to. The residue of the estate of Mr. Arthur Gaved Phillips—about £45,000—is left in trust in equal shares for the Benevolent Fund of the Institute of Civil Engineers and the Barristers' Benevolent Fund; and Mr. Patrick Murphy, of Newry, co. Down, Ireland, whose estate was valued at £103,000, left £5,000 to the Bodleian Library at Oxford, £5,000 and his collection of curios to the Dublin Science and Art Museum, £5,000 to the Belfast Royal Hospital, £5,000 to the Mater Misericordiæ Hospital at Dublin, and the ultimate residue of his estate—apparently about £20,000 more—in trust for the relief of the rates of Newry, stating that he had no confidence either in the ability or good sense of the present Town Councillors of Newry.

The Weir Charity.

Judgment of the Court of Appeal.

The charitable bequests reported from year to year in WHITAKER'S ALMANACK are for almost every variety of purpose, and representing many varieties of opinion on the part of the testators. There are probably few bequests to which some people might not from their point of view take exception and suggest other objects of benevolence. It is easy thus to propose to remake a testator's will, but testators themselves indicate usually their strong desire that their intention as expressed in their will shall be carried out. The judgment of the Court of Appeal in the matter of Mr. Benjamin Weir's Trust is thus of great importance as affecting the jurisdiction of the Charity Commissioners and their administration of the large funds committed to their charge. Mr. Weir, who died in 1902, leaving an estate of about £120,000, as recorded in the ALMANACK, left his freehold house in Balham and his freehold "The Hawthorns," Clapham Park in the parish of Streatham, upon trust to be used as a dispensary, cottage hospital, convalescent home, or other medical charity, to be called the "Weir Hospital," and he left the ultimate residue of his personal estate upon trust for the support and maintenance of the hospital. The majority of the trustees applied to the Charity Commissioners to make a scheme, and their order in effect provided that the charity and its endowments should be administered together with the Bolingbroke Hospital in Battersea, and be called "The Weir and Bolingbroke Hospital," but that a dispensary should be provided in Streatham and the house, "The Hawthorns," should be used as a nurses' home. Under this arrangement some £50,000 or more would have been available for the Bolingbroke Hospital, and a sum of £5,000 had been in the meantime paid to the Bolingbroke Hospital out of the trust funds. This payment, Lord Justice Farwell in giving the judgment of the Court of Appeal said, "was clearly unjustifiable, and if it had been made by trustees they would be personally liable to replace it." The Court held that "the trustees have simply to obey the explicit directions of the testator. It was no part of the Commissioners' duty to consider whether cottage hospitals are or are not desirable. They are bound to apply the funds to the named charities unless it be impracticable. It is contrary to principle that a testator's wishes should be set aside and his bounty administered not according to his wishes but according to the view of the Commissioners, as if it is wished that testators should continue to become 'pious founders' it is eminently desirable that no doubt should be cast on the security and permanency of their bequests. One of the strongest inducements to gifts of this nature is that desire for posthumous remembrance which has inspired similar gifts for centuries." The judgment of the Court of Appeal has been much discussed, and seems to have been generally approved, but it must be admitted that it does sometimes appear as if the directions of the "pious founder" might be varied with advantage to the objects of his benevolence.

ATHLETICS.

UNFORTUNATELY, the world of athletics in 1910 was marred by one of those disputes between governing bodies which have been all too frequent of late. Friendly negotiations between the Amateur Athletic Association and the National Cyclists' Union ended in an open rupture. For many years the two bodies had worked in harmony, clubs affiliated to either body applying for permits to hold race meetings under the rules of the particular body to which they were affiliated. In November, 1909, however, the N.C.U. Council passed a resolution affirming that no agreement would be satisfactory to them unless it gave them the full control of all cycle-racing; and early in April, 1910, the Council unanimously agreed to a further resolution: "That sports-promoting bodies shall be required to obtain a permit for athletic events from the A.A.A., and a permit for cycling events from the N.C.U." The A.A.A. declined "to accede to the demand that clubs affiliated to the A.A.A. shall ask the N.C.U. for permits to hold cycle races." War was declared, and the A.A.A. went so far as to institute cycling championships. Truth to tell, however, the most prominent runners and riders remained loyal to their own governing bodies, and the principal meetings of the season proceeded on very much the same lines as before, whilst the cycling events held by the A.A.A. were not a pronounced success.

Cross-country athletes were busy as early as February 5, when, at Eastcote, the North of the Thames Championship attracted 320 runners, representing 29 clubs. The distance was about 7½ miles, and A. G. Hill, of the Gainsford A.C., was first man home in 45 mins. 51 secs. The Elstree A.C. (whose first man, R. Shrimpton—time, 46 mins. 58 secs.—was the actual second) won with a total of 95 points. The South of the Thames Championship was decided over a rather longer distance at Grove Park on February 12, when 27 clubs sent 267 starters. F. C. Neaves, Surrey A.C., was first man home in 50 mins. 59 secs., and his club won the Championship with the remarkable score of 41 points. At Coventry, on February 19, the Midland Counties Championship was secured by Derby County (whose points were 82), F. N. Hibbins, Thrapston A.C., finishing the 10 miles 300 yards in 64 mins. 27 secs. On the same afternoon, at Haydock Park, the Hallamshire Harriers won the Northern Counties Championship for the fourth year in succession, and beat record by having the first four men home. J. Murphy, the National Champion of 1909, finished first in 66 mins. 3 secs. The Southern Counties Championship was decided at Epsom on March 5, an attempt to bring off the event a week previously being spoilt through practically all of the competitors going the wrong course. Twenty-four clubs were represented by 261 runners. The distance was ten miles, and A. E. Wood, Essex Beagles, completed it in 58 mins. 17⅘ secs., Highgate Harriers securing the Championship with a total of 50 points; their first man home was G. Pearce, whose time was 59 mins. 16⅘ secs., and whose position at the finish was t...d. On March 12 came the National Championship, the venue being at Derby. The field was made up of 247 runners, and 24 clubs were represented, including the Metropolitan Harriers of Paris. The actual distance was doubtful; it was probably just short of 10 miles. F. C. Neaves, Surrey Harriers, was first home in 58 mins. 38 secs.; J. Keyse Paris Metropolitan, was second in 59 min 6⅘ secs.; and G. C. Wallach, Bolton, third 59 mins. 9 secs. Hallamshire Harriers won wit 83 points, their first man being J. Murphy, fift to finish in 59 mins. 12 secs.

For the International Cross Country Champio ship, at Belvoir Park, Belfast (the eighth of t series), on March 26, teams representing Englan Ireland, Scotland, Wales, and France turned ou Although without the services of F. C. Neave England won with a score of 35 points, Irela being second, Scotland third, and Wales fourt A. E. Wood (England) finished first in 54 min 2 secs.

Turning to track events, the first importa meeting of the year, the annual Oxford v. Ca bridge gathering, was held at Queen's Club March 19. Unfortunately, Oxford were witho the services of their crack sprinter, L. C. Hu and Cambridge won by seven events to thre H. R. Ragg (Hertford and St. John's Coll., Ca bridge) took the 100 Yards in the good time 10⅖ secs. The High Jumpers were a poor lot round, and A. C. B. Bellerby (St. Lawrence Col Ramsgate, and Emmanuel Coll., Cambridge) a Count L. V. Ludinszky (Buda Pesth and Downi Coll., Cambridge) tied at 5 ft. 8 ins., 6½ i below the University record. M. J. Susski (University College School and Pembroke, Ca bridge) put the Weight (16 lb.) 37 ft., whilst t Mile race produced nothing wonderful, as t time of the winner (W. Gavin, Uppingham s Trinity) was 4 mins. 28⅘ secs. In the 120 Ya Hurdles (10 flights), however, M. V. Macdon (U.S.A. and Lincoln Coll., Oxford), assisted b fairish wind, accomplished the fine time 16 secs., or only ⅖ sec. outside the record these sports. P. J. Baker (Bootham's Scho York, and King's Coll., Cambridge) won Half-Mile in very easy style, his time be 1 min. 57⅖ secs. M. G. D. Murray (St. Pet Coll., Adelaide, and Trinity Coll., Cambrid who won the Long Jump in 1909 with a leap 22 ft. 0½ in., proved successful on this occas with one of 21 ft. 5½ ins. By throwing the 16 Hammer 146 ft. 8 ins., G. E. Futnam (Kan U.S.A., and Christ Church, Oxford) accomplis the third best performance ever recorded at t meeting. W. T. Wetenhall (City of Lon School and Caius Coll., Cambridge) secured Quarter-Mile in 51⅕ secs.; whilst the Three M race went to A. E. Cator (Bruton and K Coll., Oxford), whose time, 14 mins. 45⅖ se was only 1⅘ secs. behind the best performa ever done in this event. On the whole, it w good, but not a great, meeting. Cambridge h now won on 23 occasions to Oxford's 22. 1864 and 1899 a tie resulted, whilst since commencement of the sports Oxford have sco 219⅘ firsts and 217½ seconds, and Cambridge firsts and 206½ seconds.

The Stamford Bridge Grounds, Fulham, w the scene, on April 16, of the Seven Miles Wall and Ten Miles Running Championships moted by the Amateur Athletic Associat The weather was terribly stormy, but the s was splendid. Twenty-eight competitors tur out for the walk, which for the third yea successive was won by E. J. Webb (Herne Harriers, now located in Canada), whose ti 51 mins. 37 secs., although outside record, st as the best yet made in the Seven Miles Ch pionship. A. H. Pateman, 54 mins. 17 secs., W. H. Ovens, 54 mins. 21 secs., the second ird to finish, were also members of the Herne ill Harriers. There were 36 starters for the n miles running event, but they did not include A. E. Wood, who had broken down. The nish of the race was remarkable, Serg. F. O'Neill onnaught Rangers) beating W. Scott (Broughton arriers) by three yards after a glorious set-to; . H. Reay (Switzerland) was third. The winner's me was 52 mins. 41⅘ secs.—the best yet recorded n connexion with this particular event.

The remaining championships were decided at tamford Bridge Grounds on July 2, when the eather was very bad. Heavy rains half an our before the start and thunderstorms several mes afterwards spoiled the tracks, and made ie conditions all against great performances. evertheless, the meeting was one of the ost interesting ever held. Four of the hampions of 1909 failed to defend their titles, id only two holders retained their honours, iz., E. J. Webb (Herne Hill Harriers) in the wo Miles Walk, and Dennis Horgan (Irish .A.A.) in the Weight-Putting. Webb made a re example of his opponents, and, after leading ll the way, won by twenty yards in 13 mins. 4⅖ secs.—very fine time considering the conitions. Dennis Horgan's distance in the weightutting was 44 ft. 1 in., six inches short of his revious year's put. Horgan won this event in 904, '05, '08, and '09. Several French athletes, fter entering, failed to appear, but a Hungarian, . de Szathmary, carried off the Pole Jump with fine leap of 11 ft. 7½ ins. Two championships ell to an American, F. J. Ramsdell, of Pennsylania University. This young athlete is a very ig and powerful man, and was well served by ie conditions that prevailed. In the 100 Yards e defeated R. E. Walker (South Africa), ie holder, by a foot in 10⅕ secs., and in the 20 Yards squeezed home inches in advance of . W. Haley (Herne Hill Harriers) in 22⅗ secs. rather poor throw of 117 ft. 5½ ins. by A. E. laxman (London A.C.) was sufficiently good to in the Hammer, but P. Kirwan's (Irish A.C.) ft. 0¾ in. was a meritorious Long Jump, condering the state of the take-off. L. J. de B. eed (South London Harriers) carried off the uarter-Mile after a pretty race, with E. H. Ryle 'ambridge University and L.A.C.) beaten half yard, in 51 secs. E. R. Voight (Manchester A.C.) lected to compete for the Mile, rather than the our Miles, which he had won in 1909. He roved successful by three yards from E. Owen Broughton Rangers), winner in 1909. The holder ight have retained his title, but he made his nal effort too soon, and just failed to stay home. he time was 4 mins. 26⅗ secs., or 1⅗ secs. slower an Owen accomplished the previous year. In ie 120 Yards Hurdles G. R. L. Anderson .U.A.C. and L.A.C.) defeated A. H. Healey Blackheath Harriers), the holder, by inches nly, in 16 secs. The Two Miles Steeplechase as notable for the defeat of R. Noakes (Sparkhill arriers), the winner for two years previously, y J. C. English (Manchester A.C.), who thus reeated the victory which he gained in 1907. The me was 11 mins. 11⅗ secs. J. M. Hill (Queen's ark Harriers), an Irishman, and in no way elated to A. G. Hill, the four miles champion, ut up an excellent performance in the Half-Mile, in which Owen was again second, beaten a ard and a half, in 2 mins. 1⅗ secs. B. H. Baker iverpool H. and A.C.) won the High Jump at ft. 8½ ins.; whilst A. G. Hill (Gainsford A.C.) ecured the Four Miles Championship after a terrific race with W. Scott (Broughton H. and A.C.), in 20 mins. 0⅘ secs.

Owing to the death of King Edward VII., the Public Schools Championships were postponed from early in the season to July 27, when J. G. Will (Merchant Taylors) won the 100 Yards in 10⅘ secs. and the Quarter-Mile in 54⅕ secs. The Half-Mile went to A. A. Campbell (Framlingham) in 2 mins. 5⅗ secs. D. H. Quinn (Wimbledon) was unopposed in the High Jump. P. R. Phillips, holder (Highgate), won the 120 Yards Hurdles in 16⅗ secs.—a record for this meeting—and the Long Jump with a leap of 19 ft. 6 ins. The Mile was won by R. T. Thompson (Brentwood Grammar School) in 4 mins. 49 secs., and the Three Miles Steeplechase by A. E. Neales (Whitgift) in 4 mins. 35¼ secs.

The Hon. Sec. of the Amateur Athletic Association is Mr. P. L. Fisher, 10, John Street, Adelphi, London, W.C.

BILLIARDS.

PROFESSIONAL billiards in the season ending 1910 were dominated by the dual control of the Billiard Association and the newly formed body the Billiards Control Club, although it must be confessed that, despite the high-sounding names on the board of the latter, it was not much in evidence. H. W. Stevenson having thrown over the authority of the older body, M. Inman held the Association Championship in default of an opponent, and he caused some interest by challenging Stevenson for the championship of the B.C.C., the contest being fixed for April. Meanwhile Inman was carrying all before him, whereas Stevenson was showing a marked falling-off in his play. Inman won the Professional Handicap Tournament at the Soho Square Saloon. He had a start of 4,500 in 18,000 up from Stevenson; the other competitors, with their starts, being E. Diggle (4,000), T. Reece, and C. Harverson (5,000 each). The full table of results was:—

	P.	W.	L.		P.	W.	L.
Inman	4	4	0	Stevenson ...	4	1	3
Diggle	4	3	1	Harverson ...	4	0	4
Reece	4	2	2

On April 18 the match for the B.C.C. Championship (18,000 up) between Stevenson and Inman began. It was a closely contested game, both men being obviously affected by the importance of the occasion. On the ninth day the sudden death of Mrs. Stevenson brought the game to a premature conclusion, Stevenson then leading by 150 points, the score being: Stevenson, 13,370; Inman (in play), 13,212. Inman, though entitled to do so, made no claim to be declared the winner, and the council ordered the game to be replayed in October. Prior to this, the committee appointed to allot the Tournament starts for 1910–11 had raised Inman in the handicap to be within 1,000 of Stevenson in 9,000 up. Diggle was on the same mark, and the pair met in a 16,000 up match for £100 early in September. Inman was always travelling too fast for the Mancunian, and won with the greatest ease by 2,100. This undeniably took Inman to second place at least, and whetted the public appetite for the big match later. This took place from Oct. 10 to Oct. 22, and, after a keen struggle till the last day but one, was won somewhat easily at the finish by Stevenson, the final scores being: Stevenson, 18,000, Inman 16,907. Inman, however, later beat Diggle in the first match of the Tournament now in progress.

With the Billiard Association now taking little or no notice of the doings of their professional members, the amateurs were given more support. Several important handicaps were decided under their rules, including that promoted by the members of the sporting Press, which had an entry of 290, and resulted in £50 being donated to the Newspaper Press Fund. The Amateur Championship was played at Glasgow in March, and the result was a great surprise. Major Fleming, the holder, who had won in magnificent style the previous season, was beaten by the veteran Mr. H. A. O. Lonsdale, who had carried off the first Cup as far back as 1888. The Tournament was a great success, and the policy of the Billiard Association in making the competition proper a movable event has been deservedly rewarded.

At the commencement of the present season (Sept. 29, 1910, at Leeds), George Gray, the young Australian player, created a fresh record in a match with F. W. Hughes, scoring a break of 985, the first 600 being off the red. The previous best was Gray's 836, made in Australia in August, 1909. Gray's record was made with composition and not with ivory balls. A week later, in a break of 881, he put up a fresh red-ball record of 879. Neither of these records has been recognised by the Billiard Association. During November Gray raised the record to 1,143, and the red ball record to over 1,000.

BOXING, FENCING, AND GYMNASTICS.

AMATEUR boxing did not improve in quality during 1910, though it was abundant in quantity. At the Cambridge University trials, on Feb. 29, neither N. D. Williams nor R. W. Jennings, winners of the Bantam and Light Weights the previous year, could compete, and Donald Portway was the only old Blue to take part. He won the Middle Weight competition very easily, whilst E. E. Frost (Trinity) secured the Heavies, G. A. Taylor (Corpus) the Feather, and W. G. Gabain (Pembroke) the Light Weight. In the Bantam Weight event M. C. Skon (Magdalene) was unopposed. The Foils competition was secured by V. C. M. Reeves (Magdalene), and the Sabres by the same competitor. The Oxford University competitions, on March 25, yielded splendid sport. J. W. Rutherford (Merton) again took the Feather Weight event, but E. R. Lacey (Worcester) ran him so close in the final that the judges disagreed and the referee's casting vote was called for. R. F. Ould (Oriel), an old Radley boy, was the best of the Light Weights, and a Manitoba man, C. A. Adamson (Merton) secured the Middle Weight. The Hon. G. W. Grenfell (Balliol), a son of Lord Desborough, looked to be winning the Heavy Weight competition when, in the third round, he led carelessly and got in the way of a right-handed blow from J. H. Driberg (Hertford), which gave the latter victory. A. Hossack (Christ Church) won the Sabres competition, and M. F. Manek (Queen's), the Foils.

The Scottish Championships were decided at Glasgow on March 5. Jas. Lee and John Connolly, both members of the Edinburgh Gymnastic Society, were successful in the Bantam and Feather Weights respectively. P. Fell, a member of the same club, regained the Light Weight event, and Alex. Tait (Scottish National A.C.), another ex-champion, won the Heavies. The Middles went to Dan Dunlop (Scottish National A.C.).

The 17th annual Inter-University contests were decided at Oxford on March 9, when representatives of Cambridge won five events to three. The Oxford wins were in the Bantam (E. G. S. Gordon, Exeter), Heavy (Hon. G. W. Grenfell, Eton and Balliol), and the Foils, second string (L. F. Nalder, Rugby and Corpus). For Cambridge, G. A. Taylor (St. Paul's and Corpus Christi) won the Feather Weight, W. G. Gabain (Charterhouse and Pembroke) the Light Weight, D. Portway (Felsted and Downing) the Middle Weight—his fourth successive victory—and C. V. M. Reeve (Cheltenham and Magdalene) the Sabres and the "first-string" Foils.

The annual Championships Meeting of the Amateur Boxing Association was held at the Alexandra Palace, Wood Green, on March 16. It was the thirtieth of the series, and lasted over ten hours, so that the time would appear to be nearly ripe for extending the competitions over more than one day. There were 109 entries—a record number—including men from South Africa, France, and Denmark, but the representatives of the latter country failed to take the ring. On the whole the boxing was of slightly better class than that seen twelve months previously, there being less clinching and wild hitting. That the younger school have much to learn, however, was proved by the fact that R. C. Warne (Surrey Commercial Docks B.C.), a veteran of 3, carried off the Middle Weight event for the fifth time, his earliest win having occurred as far back as 1899. J. Lee (Edinburgh A.G.S.) won the Bantam Weight, G. Houghton (Northampton Institute) the Feather Weight, T. Tees (Lyn B.C.) the Light Weight—he beat F. Grace (holder in the final—and F. Storbeck (Transvaal A.C.) the Heavy Weight. Soon after the decision of the championships the amateur status of J. Lee was challenged, and inquiries, spread over seven months, resulted, late in September, in the A.B.A. disqualifying him and requesting the return of the cup.

The Navy and Army Championship Meeting held at Aldershot in October, left something to be desired as regards the judging. In the men's competitions, Corp. Evans (2nd Batt. Royal Scots) won the Feather Weight; Lance-Corp. Miller (1st L.N. Lancashire Regt.) the Light; Pte. Hutton (1st Batt. Royal Engineers) the Welter; Pte. Palmer (1st Leicestershire) the Middle; Pte. Smith (1st Royal West Kent) the Light-Heavy; and Pte. Voyler (1st Irish Gd.) the Heavy Weights. In the officers' events Capt. R. E. Williams (R.F.A.), was winning the Feather Weight easily, when he was held to have fouled Lieut. G. Wildman-Lushington (R.M.A.) who gained the award. Assist.-Paymaster R. Leyshon (R.N.) won the Light Weight; Midshipman L. H. Bayley (R.N.) the Welter; Lieut. W. M. Nash the Middle; Capt. G. W. Bent (4th Middlesex Regiment) the Light-Heavy Weight; and 2nd Lieut. F. E. Buller (Royal Engineers) the Heavy Weight.

For the third year in succession Mr. R. Montgomerie won the Amateur Fencing Championship (after a tie with Mr. P. M. Davson), the final being decided at Caxton Hall, Westminster, on April 11.

Turning to the chief gymnastic events of the year, the International Club's Competition (Adams Shield) took place at Leith on March 25, England, represented by the Birmingham Athletic Institute, won with a score of 42 pts.; Scotland (Leith Gymnastic Club) came next with 415 pts.; Wales (Cardiff St. Saviour's being third with 353 pts. The Irish team was withdrawn owing to indisposition amongst the members. Leith was also the venue of the International Teams' Championship on April 9. In this Scotland won, 308½ pts.; England was second, 282 pts.; and Wales third, 244½ pts. Ireland did not enter. The Amateur Gymnastic Association of England Individual Championship, at Birmingham, on April 5, was won by E. Pepper, 70½ pts.; C. J. Oldacre, 66 pts., was second; and J. Whittaker, 61 pts., third. All three are members of the Birmingham Athletic Institute.

The Secretary of the Amateur Boxing Association is Mr. E. T. Calver, 49½, Finsbury Pavement, London. The Hon. Sec. of the Amateur Gymnastic Association is Mr. E. L. Levy, Liverpool Chambers, Cherry Street, Birmingham.

CRICKET.

THERE was no visiting team from the oversea Dominions to detract from the interest in the County Championship in 1910, and the new system of reckoning the percentages, introduced at the instance of Lancashire, received a trial, which had the effect of livening up the cricket by the attempt to win matches—for wins only counted, draws and losses being ignored. Though obviously not perfect—no system can be in which each county does not play home and away matches with every other county—the new method worked out very well in practice, except where bad weather prevented, as it did in several cases, the completion of matches.

The following table shows at a glance the result of every match in the Championship series; the top line gives the outcome of the home fixtures, the bottom line the result of those played away :—

Won. L Lost. D Drawn. A Abandoned through the death of King Edward. C Curtailed through the funeral of King Edward.

Kent retained the Championship which they won in 1909. It was their third success, the first having been in 1906. Of their 26 fixtures they won 19, lost 3, drew 3, and one was curtailed owing to King Edward's funeral. Surrey were second, Middlesex third, and Lancashire fourth. The following table shows the final record :—

Under the new rule draws and losses have an equal value, and in the above table the percentage is taken of matches won to matches played.

Kent were a fine all-round team, especially rich in amateurs, of whom C. V. L. Hooman (Oxford University) was a new acquisition; as also was F. H. Knott, the Tonbridge schoolboy, who at once made his mark, scoring a century at Dover against Warwickshire. Mr. D. W. Carr, the "googly" bowler, headed the averages with 60 wickets for 12·16 runs apiece. Woolley and Blythe bore the brunt of the attack, and each took over 100 wickets, Fielder also taking 68. The only counties to beat Kent were Leicestershire, Essex, and Surrey. The feature of the Surrey campaign was the fine bowling of W. C. Smith, whose record in county matches was 265 wickets for 12·56 runs apiece. Surrey's full programme of 30 matches was made up of 16 wins, 5 draws, 7 losses, and 2 abandonments. Briefly, the chief points of the Championship contests were the mediocrity of Yorkshire (excepting Hirst, who scored over 1,000 runs and took over 100 wickets), the consistency of Middlesex and Notts, the sporting spirit of Hampshire, the improvement of Northamptonshire, the erratic form of Essex, and the utter demoralisation of Somerset, who failed to win a single match Spite of many wet days, the season on the whole was successful, the public interest in the competition being greater, and the cricket more keen and full of life. Quite a number of matches were won by the narrowest margins. For instance, Worcestershire beat Essex and Surrey by 1 wicket; Yorkshire defeated Hants by 6 runs; Sussex beat Surrey by 1 wicket, Leicestershire by 2 wickets, and Lancashire by 11 runs; Surrey beat Middlesex by 2 wickets; and Middlesex beat Essex by 2 wickets. Norfolk won the Minor Counties Championship.

Despite wet wickets there was a slight increase in the number of centuries scored in county matches last year, viz., 123, as against 119 in 1909. These figures compare with 153 in 1908 and 91 in 1907, the latter a very wet season.

The centuries were thus distributed: 24 in May, 37 in June, 27 in July, 34 in August, and 1 (C. B. Fry) in September. The highest individual score was Mr. A. Hartley's 234 for Lancashire v. Somerset, but there were four other innings of over 200—by Charlesworth (Warwickshire), S. G. Smith (Northants), Humphreys (Kent), and R. H. Spooner (Lancashire). The only batsman to obtain centuries in each innings of a match was J. T. Tyldesley for Lancashire against Hampshire. This feat he had twice previously performed. Moreover, Tyldesley scored in all six centuries. K. L. Hutchings, G. L. Jessop, and P. F. Warner each secured four centuries, Mr. Warner scoring in three consecutive innings at Lord's in August. A dozen others scored three centuries, their names being Charlesworth (Lancashire), Coe (Leicestershire), A. Hartley (Lancashire), Hayward (Surrey), Humphreys (Kent), A. O. Jones (Notts), R. Relf (Surrey), James Seymour (Kent), Sharp (Lancashire), Tarrant (Middlesex), Wilson (Yorkshire), and Woolley (Kent). The above statistics do not include centuries in matches outside the County Championship.

The University match at Lord's only lasted two days, Oxford winning by an innings and 126. Oxford batted first, and, thanks to an innings of 160 by P. R. Le Couteur, made 315. Cambridge replied with only 76, and following on were all out for 113, Le Couteur taking 11 wickets in the two innings for 66 runs. He is a fine leg-break bowler, and the wicket just suited him. Previous high individual scores in the University match were R. E. Foster's 171 in 1900, and J. F. Marsh's 172 in 1904. The Eton and Harrow match on July 8 and 9 provided an exciting finish, Eton winning by 9 runs only. Eton batted first and collapsed for a total of 67, Harrow replying with 232. Eton's second innings reached 219, and Harrow were left to get 55 to win, but only scored 45. The Players won both their matches with the Gentlemen—that at the Oval by 79 runs, and the one at Lord's by 10 wickets. Of other representative matches, the Army beat the Navy by an innings and 33 runs, the Universities were defeated by the Navy and Army by 6 wickets, the Gentlemen and Players' match at the Scarborough Festival was drawn, Lord Londesborough's Eleven beat the M.C.C. South African Eleven by 97 runs, and the champion county (Kent) were defeated by the Rest of England.

As to individual records, in the general averages J. T. Tyldesley was at the top of the batsmen with an average of 46·22 and a total of 2,265 runs, he being the only batsman to score over 2,000; K. L. Hutchings was next with a total of 1,654 and an average of 41·35 per innings; P. F. Warner was third with 1,646 runs and an average of 41·15. D. C. Collins was the only other to exceed the average of 40. The veteran J. T. Hearne (Middlesex) headed the bowling averages with 119 wickets for 12·79 runs apiece, but the premier honours belong to W. C. Smith (Surrey) with 247 wickets for 13·05 runs each—the only bowler to take 200 wickets. The bowlers who took over 100 wickets were Blythe (Kent), Woolley (Kent), Hirst (Yorkshire), Dean (Lancashire), Tarrant (Middlesex), Buckenham (Essex), Thompson (Northants), Wass (Nottinghamshire), Dennett (Gloucestershire), Llewellyn (Hants), G. H. Simpson-Hayward (Hants), A. E. Relf (Sussex), Hitch (Surrey), F. R. Foster (Warwickshire), Morton and Burrows (Worcestershire). The averages were about as high as in the season of 1909, which was also a wet one.

During the season South Africa and Australia adjusted their differences as to the former's tour, which is now in progress; and the triple contest between England, Australia, and South Africa in England next year seems now certain to take place.

CROQUET.

THE Open Championship was held in June at the headquarters of the Croquet Association at the Roehampton Club, and attracted a large and representative entry. It was won by Mr. C. L. O'Callaghan, as, indeed, were all three of the chief croquet events of the year. Such a triumph for one player had never in the history of croquet happened before. Mr. O'Callaghan had been the runner-up in the previous year, but though he won the Champion Cup in 1909, had never before won the Championship. He again won the Champion Cup in 1910, which is an event played as an American tournament by the ten best players of the year, who are selected by the Croquet Association. Each player plays against the others twice, so as a test of croquet this can be said to be about the greatest event of the year. This event was also decided at Roehampton in August. For second place there was a tie, Mr. H. Corbally and Mr. Edgar Whitaker scoring an equal number of games. In the Championship in June Mr. H. F. W. Prince was the runner-up, and, in fact, but for a fatal slip in the final game might have won. The Gold Medal, which is confined to members of the Croquet Association, was also taken by Mr. O'Callaghan. It was played for during the week following the Champion Cup on the beautiful lawns of the Sussex County Croquet Club, near Brighton. In addition to these three great triumphs Mr. O'Callaghan, in conjunction with Miss Johnson Houghton, won the Mixed Doubles Championship, which event is played in the same week as the Open Championship at Roehampton. The triple winner played marvellous croquet all the season. His wonderful "shooting" powers on many occasions got him out of extreme difficulties, and no matter how hopeless the game looked against him he always had a chance as long as there was one shot left. About the very best performance ever achieved in the croquet world was accomplished by him and his partner, Mr. Duff Matthews, at Eastbourne, in the last big tournament of the year. They entered together for the Handicap Doubles, and their combined handicaps placed them on the $-2\frac{1}{2}$ mark, Mr. O'Callaghan being -2, the lowest handicap in the association, and his partner $-\frac{1}{2}$. With an entry of 32 couples they won the event, giving away during the course of six rounds 39 bisques, and beating some pairs whom one would never have imagined they could give the start to. The Ladies' Championship and Gold Medal, played for at the same meeting as the open events, were won by Miss B. Willis, who showed consistency throughout. The runner-up in the Ladies' Championship was Miss Johnson Houghton, who was beaten after a most prolonged struggle. Mr. B. H. Burton had a very fine record for the season. Starting on the $3\frac{1}{2}$ bisque mark, he won event after event, and succeeded in reaching the $1\frac{1}{2}$ mark, a fine performance for one year. Miss McMicking did even better than this in the number of bisques she lost. Starting at 11 she finally ended up by being reduced to 4, winning the big handicap at Folkestone in early October. However, this relatively was hardly so good as Mr. Burton's record, as Miss McMicking had so much more room for improving. (12 is the limit of the handicap given by the Croquet Association.) In a record of the season it would not be fair not to mention the enormous amount of work, study, and care given to this question of handicaps by the official handicapper, Mr. C. D. Cocock. Kent won the County Championship for the second successive year. A great improvement to the game, as far as first-class players are concerned, is that all the championship events are now played with 3¾-in. hoops, and at a great many of the big meetings the principal event is also played with these hoops. One or two large tournaments still keep to the 4-in. hoop, notably Eastbourne and Ranelagh.

CYCLING.

THE rupture between the National Cyclists' Union and the Amateur Athletic Association has been referred to in the article on Athletics. Further reference is unnecessary, except to emphasise the fact that the half-hearted attempt of the latter body to found cycling championships was not taken seriously by riders, Press, or public, and that the N.C.U. events received the loyal support of the best riders. The principal championship meeting of the year was at Grangetown, North Yorks, on June 25, when very adverse weather was experienced. The events decided were the Quarter Mile, Mile, and 5 Miles. All the trophies changed hands. W. J. Bailey, Polytechnic C.C., won the Quarter after a magnificent race with V. L. Johnson, Dover C.C., and Ben Jones, Wigan, the time being 31⅕ secs. "Vic" Johnson proved successful in the Mile from E. Payne, Worcester, and Ben Jones, the time being 2 mins. 40 secs. For the 25 Miles there were 19 starters. C. B. Kingsbury, Portsmouth N.E.C.C., won by two lengths from Leon Meredith, Paddington C.C., second, with A. J. Denny, Dover B.C., third; time, 1hour 10 mins. 48⅕ secs.

The British Empire Championship Meeting was held at Exeter on July 2. The events were Quarter Mile (holder, Ben Jones), One Mile (holder, W. J. Bailey), and Ten Miles (holder, W. J. Bailey). Bailey won the Quarter for England in 31⅕ secs.; the Mile went to an Irishman, W. McNeely (time, 2 mins. 31⅘ secs.), who caught Payne and D. Flynn "napping" in the final. D. Flynn credited Scotland with the Ten Miles, Vic Johnson being second and A. Lindsay third, whilst Ben Jones, L. Meredith, A. J. Denny, and other fine riders were amongst the beaten lot. Flynn's time was 26 mins. 19 secs. The 24 hours race at the Stadium, Shepherd's Bush, on July 15 and 16, was won by J. H. Bishop, Beaumont C.C. (501 miles 860 yards); A. Denny, Polytechnic C.C. (484 miles 910 yards), as second; and A. G. Keen, Unity C.C. (458 miles 80 yards), third. Bishop had won this event in 1909.

The World's Championships were decided at Brussels on July 17. L. Meredith and S. F. Bailey were the British representatives in the 100 Kilometres, but victory rested with Henz, a Belgian. W. J. Bailey, however, credited England with the sprint championship, in which representatives of Germany and France also competed.

With the 50 Miles Amateur and One Mile Tandem Amateur Championships at Coventry on August 20, the list of such events for 1910 was completed. In the long-distance race there was a keen struggle between C. A. Denny, of London, and A. J. Denny, of Birmingham. "C. A.," despite three punctures and a fall, won by a foot in 2 hours 19 mins. 35 secs. F. G. Hamlin and H. T. Johnson, Putney, won the tandem event for the third time. Previously (on August 6) the Five Miles Amateur Championship had been won, at Gosforth Park, by Ben Jones, Wigan, in 12 mins. 34⅖ secs. The holder, W. J. Bailey, did not defend his title.

The Secretary of the N.C.U. is Mr. S. R. Noble, Lonsdale Chambers, 27, Chancery Lane, London, W.C.

FOOTBALL.

THE ASSOCIATION GAME.

THE chief feature of the International Championship of 1910 was the great showing made by Ireland, who, but for the misfortune of losing the services of William Scott (Everton), their goal-keeper, and Sam Burniston (Distillery), one of their backs, would probably have beaten Wales, and would thereby have carried off premier honours for the first time. A drawn game would have bracketted them equal to the champions, Scotland. The following table summarises the results of 1910:—

		Goals.	Goals.
Feb. 12	Belfast ... Ireland	1	dr England 1
Mar. 5	Kilmarnock ... Scotland	1	bt Wales 0
,, 14	Cardiff ... England	1	bt Wales 0
,, 19	Belfast ... Ireland	1	bt Scotland 0
April 2	Glasgow ... Scotland	2	bt England 0
,, 11	Wrexham ... Wales	4	bt Ireland 1

The positions, therefore, were Scotland 4 points, England 3 points, Ireland 3 points, and Wales 2 points. An England team toured in South Africa with unqualified success, winning all their matches.

The England teams of the Amateur Football Association had a successful season, beating Bohemia (10–1), Paris (10–1), Wales (4–3), France (record score of 20 goals to 0), and Switzerland (6–1). The A.F.A. Cup Final was won by Civil Service, who beat Old Malvernians (1–0), and the Old Carthusians defeated Old Rossallians (2–1) in the "Arthur Dunn" Cup, thus winning the trophy for the fifth time in eight years, in addition to being joint-holders with Old Salopians in 1902–3. The inter-Varsity match was won by Cambridge by 2–1, the record now standing: Cambridge, 18 wins; Oxford, 17 wins; drawn games, 2.

The League Internationals resulted as follows:—

		Goals.
Oct. 11	England beat Ireland at Oldham ...	8–1
Oct. 25	Scotland beat Ireland at Glasgow ...	2–0
Feb. 26	Scotland beat England at Blackburn	3–2

The Football Association Challenge Cup was won for the first time by Newcastle United, who had played in the Final Tie on three previous occasions. On the occasion under notice they had to play twice to gain the Cup, for at the Crystal Palace on April 23, Barnsley, a Second Division League Club, who had for the first time reached so far in the competition, were able to make a draw, 1 goal each. The tie was replayed at Goodison Park, Liverpool, on the following Thursday, April 28, when Newcastle won by 2–0. Newcastle beat in the first round, Stoke (after a replay), second round, Fulham, third round, Blackburn Rovers, fourth round, Leicester Fosse, semi-final round, Swindon. Barnsley's progress was made by beating, in the first round, Blackpool (after a replay), second round, Bristol Rovers, third round, West Bromwich Albion, fourth round, Queen's Park Rangers, and semi-final round, Everton (after a replay). At the final at the Crystal Palace there were 80,000 spectators, and at the replay at Liverpool, 69,000 spectators. The gate receipts were £4,900 and £4,166. The Football Association Amateur Cup was won by Royal Marine Light Infantry, who, at Bishop Auckland, beat South Bank, 2–1. The Welsh Cup was won by Wrexham, the Irish Cup by Belfast Distillery, the Scottish Cup by Dundee, and the London Cup by Fulham. Celtic were the champions of the Scottish League, and Cliftonville of the Irish League.

The League Championship (First Division) was won by Aston Villa for the sixth time since 1888, with a total of 53 points out of a possible 76. Liverpool came next with 48 points, and Blackburn Rovers third with 45. Chelsea and Bolton Wanderers lost their positions in this division, which were taken by Manchester City and Oldham Athletic. The aggregate attendance of spectators at the 380 matches was 6,000,300—nearly a quarter of a million less than in the previous season—and the average attendance was 15,790 as against 16,368. The average attendance at Second Division matches was 9,266, and at those of the Southern League 5,952. The total attendance at the matches of the three Leagues was 12,271,400. Brighton and Hove Albion headed the 22 clubs of the Southern League with 59 points, Swindon being second, and Queen's Park Rangers third. During the year the F.A. agreed to the abolition of the wage limit for professionals. The Secretary of the Football Association is Mr. F. J. Wall, 104, High Holborn, W.C. The Hon. Secretary of the Amateur Football Association is Mr. H. Hughes-Onslow, 79½, Gracechurch Street, London, E.C.

Rugby Union.

Although it was marked by no visit from the Colonies the Rugby season of 1909–10 was decidedly interesting. The unfortunate schism between the Unions of England and Scotland had been patched up, and the International fixtures were carried out in an amicable spirit. England, after a lapse of 18 years, won the International Championship, a fact that would go to prove the wisdom of the new series of International trial games adopted by the Rugby Union. The scheme provided for the selection of a "Probable" English team which played, in turn, The North, The South, and The Rest of England. Old stagers, however, regretted the dropping of the old-established fixture of North v. South. To a great extent the match Oxford and Cambridge (including Past as well as Present Blues) v. Navy and Army (which the Universities won by 29 points to none, on Nov. 24, 1909), also served as an International trial.

England opened the campaign by defeating Wales, at Twickenham, on Jan. 15 by 2 goals (one penalty) and a try to 2 tries (11 points to 6). The Welshmen were not seen at their best on that occasion, for the ground was very heavy and all against their rapid passing methods. On Feb. 5, at Cardiff, Wales beat Scotland by a goal and 3 tries (14 points) to nil, and on the 12th of the same month England and Ireland played a pointless draw at Twickenham. The Prince of Wales (now King George V.) witnessed the latter match, which might have had a different ending had the Irish three-quarters been as good as the forwards. At Belfast, on Feb. 28, the Irishmen made a sorry show against Scotland, who won by a goal and 3 tries (14 points) to nil; and at Dublin, on March 12, defeat was again the portion of the Irish XV., Wales beating them by a goal (dropped) and 5 tries to a try (19 points to 3). The Calcutta Cup match at Edinburgh on March 19, was voted beforehand by the critics a good thing for Scotland, but England won by a goal and 3 tries (14 points) to a goal (5 points). It must be admitted that the International form was very "mixed." In the series of Internationals (reckoning some games with France alluded to later) England was represented by 24 players, Scotland and Ireland by 22, and Wales by 23. The relative positions in the championship were :—

The University match played at Queen's Club on Dec. 11, 1909, attracted a great concourse of spectators, but proved somewhat disappointing inasmuch as the Oxonians dominated the play at all points and won by 4 goals and 5 tries to try (35 points to 3). This constitutes a record score for the series, in which Oxford have now won 16 matches, Cambridge 12, and 9 have been drawn. During the whole of last season Oxford won 9, drew 2, and lost 5 matches; Cambridge won 13, drew 2, and lost 4. The Rugby County Championship was won for the first time in the history of the competition by Gloucestershire who defeated Yorkshire in the final; whilst the Northern Union Championship was not played right out, Yorkshire and Cumberland being the counties at the head of the list.

The Rugby Union Offices are on the Union ground at Twickenham (Hon. Sec.: C. J. B. Marriott).

Golf.

The game of golf has become so popular as to be widespread that it may now be said to be confined to no particular season, and the competitions are so numerous that only the chief can be referred to. The first important competition of 1910 was on April 7, when, at Hoylake, Cambridge secured an unexpected but well deserved victory over Oxford by five games to three. One of the most popular stroke competitions of the year was that for the St. George Cup, decided at Sandwich during the third week in May. This was won by Capt. C. K. Hutchison, of the Coldstream Guards, with a total of 157 for the two rounds. The Amateur International Match between England and Scotland was fought out at Hoylake on April 28, when England, after suffering defeat for six years secured a dramatic victory by five matches to four.

Over the Hoylake course on June 3 Mr. John Ball, of the Royal Liverpool Club, beat Mr. C. Aylmer, Sidmouth, by 10 up and 9 to play in the final for the Amateur Championship. Mr. Ball thus set up a remarkable record, this being his seventh success in the competition. Mr. Ball's victory was also the most decisive ever gained in the Amateur Championship. It was the jubilee year of the Open Championship, which took place at St. Andrews from June 21 to June 24, and there was a record entry of 210 players. The winner proved to be James Braid, of Walton Heath—his fifth victory in this event. On August 31 Mr. G. Renwick, jun., won the Welsh Amateur Championship at Swansea Bay; and two days later Mr. L. O. Munn, Dublin University, secured the Irish Open Championship at Portrush. Great interest was taken in the News of the World Professional £240 Tournament. Qualifying competitions in connexion therewith were decided in various parts of the kingdom, and the final was played at Sunningdale on October 6, when James Sherlock beat George Duncan by 8 up and 6 to play.

HOCKEY.

IN 1910 the game of hockey was more popular than ever. Apart from club games, which multiplied until they became almost as numerous as football encounters, a regular system of inter-county contests, international trials, &c., was firmly established. The first of the Internationals, on Feb. 12, at Dunfermline, resulted in Scotland routing Wales to the tune of 7 goals to none. Four of the Scottish forwards were drawn from Edinburgh University, and, as illustrating the value of a thorough understanding between the players, it may be noted that most experts were of opinion that such a good team had not previously represented Scotland. Wales also suffered a very heavy defeat at the hands of Ireland; so that when the Principality came to meet England, at Cambridge, on March 5, the team had undergone drastic alteration, B. Turnbull, the goalkeeper, being the only man who represented Wales against England the previous season. All to no purpose, for England outplayed the Welshmen at every point of the game, and won by 9 goals to love, after leading at half-time by 6 goals. In 1909 Scotland had defeated Ireland for the first time, and after their fine form against Wales were expected, by many, to repeat the performance in 1910. The game took place on the same afternoon as the England and Wales match, Dublin being the venue. The Irish team was composed chiefly of young players, and in the end proved successful by 4 goals to love. Such a margin was scarcely warranted by the run of the play, however, for during the first half the Scots were as often within the Irish circle as the Irish were within theirs, but lack of enterprise on the part of the Scotch forwards prevented their scoring. Naturally these results invested the England v. Ireland match, which was decided at Queen's Club, West Kensington, on March 12, with a vast amount of interest. The Irish team was the same as against Scotland. England won by 4–1—a score that does not fairly indicate the run of the play, for the Irish showed considerable cleverness, and obtained seven corners during the first half and were pressing for two-thirds of the second period. Where the Irish forwards failed was in the matter of a proper understanding when within the circle. After this it was not surprising to find England defeating Scotland, at Aberdeen, on March 19, by 3 goals to one, so that the Scots have yet to gain a victory over the Saxons.

The inter-University match "came of age" in 1910. It was played at Beckenham on Feb. 23. There were five old choices in the Cambridge and three in the Oxford team, the latter winning by 5 goals to 4. Without diving into the England matches v. France and Germany, which were really "holiday" events, the International season may be summed up as follows:—England beat Ireland, Scotland, and Wales, and totalled 16 goals to 1. Ireland beat Wales and Scotland, securing 12 goals to 4. Scotland beat Wales, and hit 6 goals to 7; whilst Wales lost all three engagements, did not hit a goal, and had 22 registered against. The Hon. Sec. of the Hockey Association is Mr. P. Collins, 6, Bedford Row, W.C.

LAWN TENNIS.

THERE appears to be still a dearth of young lawn tennis players, and the chief events of 1910 went to competitors whose names have been prominently before the public for years past. The Championship Meeting at Wimbledon, although protracted because of unfavourable weather, proved decidedly successful, and the quality of the play left no room for cavil. The international character of the tournament was splendidly sustained, for the entrants included, amongst others, Beales Wright (America), A. F. Wilding (New Zealand), the brothers F. G. and A. H. Lowe (Ireland), S. N. Doust and L. O. S. Poidevin (Australia), Otto Froitzheim (champion of Germany), and A. H. Gobert (France). All the championships changed hands. A. F. Wilding secured the Singles Championship, and with J. G. Ritchie as partner was successful in the Doubles. Mr. A. W. Gore (who is forty-two years old) was vanquished in the first event only after a great struggle in which forty games were played. Mrs. Lambert Chambers, who the previous season was out of the game owing to ill-health, this season carried everything before her. She took the Ladies' Singles at Wimbledon, the Mixed Doubles (with S. N. Doust), and frequently at other meetings was a winner in three events. As Miss Douglass, Mrs. Lambert Chambers had three times previously won the Ladies' Singles Championship, the last time being in 1905. In 1910 she went through the competition without losing a single set.

The season really opened with the Covered Courts Championship at Queen's Club in May, when M. J. G. Ritchie did not defend his title to the Singles, and the honour was eventually carried off by F. G. Lowe, whilst Miss Boothby proved the best of the ladies. At Beckenham, however, Miss Boothby had to yield to Mrs. Lambert Chambers; but on the whole the former lady had a very successful season, as she took honours at, amongst other places, the Northumberland Tournament late in July (where M. J. G. Ritchie won amongst the gentlemen). H. L. Doherty did not appear until half-way through August, when he succeeded in retaining the North of England Championship. Kenneth Powell did fairly well during the season, but of those not absolutely in the championship class G. A. Thomas did best, tournament after tournament enabling him to add to his trophies. Amongst C. P. Dixon's successes must be chronicled the Singles, Doubles (with A. Hendriks), and Mixed Doubles (with Miss Tulloch) at the Dieppe Meeting in July. The Inter-County Cup finals were decided on July 16 at the Gipsy L.T.C. Ground, Stamford Hill, when the Ladies of Surrey beat Ladies of Yorkshire, and Middlesex won the Gentlemen's Cup at the expense of Durham. Early in the same month C. P. Dixon and Miss H. Aitcheson had won the Welsh Championship, whilst the Irish Championships on Aug. 2 went to J. C. Parke (holder) and Miss Garfit. R. B. Powell won the Scottish Championship, and Mrs. Larcombe the Ladies' Scottish Championship. In the Internationals, Ireland vanquished Germany, very easily, at Dublin in the middle of July. In the Inter-University match, the Oxonians won the Singles by 7½ to 2½ matches, and the Doubles by eight matches to one, thus repeating their victory of the previous year.

There was no contest for the Davis International Cup, the British Isles and America allowing Australasia (the holders) a walk-over.

The Hon. Sec. of the English Lawn Tennis Association is Mr. G. R. Mewburn, 5 and 6, Clement's Inn, Strand, London, W.C.

RACKETS AND TENNIS.

THE Military Rackets Championships at Prince's Club, Knightsbridge, opened the season. In the final of the Doubles, Army Service Corps (Major J. Puckle, D.S.O., and Capt. A. Berger) beat 1st Batt. Bedfordshire Regt. (Capt. J. Leader and Lieut. C. H. Ker) by four games to two and became the holders of the Cup, which the 50th Brigade R.F.A. did not defend. The Singles Championship, concluded on March 19, also at Prince's, went to Capt. W. E. Wilson-Johnston (36th Sikhs), who defeated Capt. A. O. G. Leither (1st Batt. King's Own Yorkshire L.I.) by three games to love. The Oxford v. Cambridge matches were decided at Queen's Club, West Kensington. On April 15, Oxford (A. Tylor, Marlborough and University, and A. J. Evans, Winchester and Oriel) for the fourth year in succession defeated Cambridge (F. A. Sampson, Rugby and Trinity, and W. E. Wallis, Rugby and Trinity), by four games to love. A. Tylor secured the Singles for Oxford at the expense of F. A. Sampson by three games to love. Charterhouse won the final of the Public Schools Championship, beating Eton by four games to love. The winning pair, H. A. Leatham and H. A. Denison, were about the best sent out by any public school for years. They had won in 1909, and in 1910 went through the whole competition without losing a game. In the Challenge round of the Amateur Championship Singles, Percy Ashworth (Harrow and Cambridge) beat Basil S. Foster (Malvern College) at Queen's Club, on April 25, by three games to love, but three days later at the same venue succumbed to the holder, E. M. Baerlein (Eton and Cambridge), who won three games to love. It was Baerlein's third successive victory, and he had won as far back as 1903, and also in 1905. In the Amateur Doubles Championship, on April 29, at Queen's, the Public Schools winners were defeated in the final of the Challenge round by Basil S. Foster and the Hon. C. N. Druce, four games to one; and on May 4 Foster and Druce deprived the holders, Ashworth and Baerlein, of the title by winning four games to two. The Open Championship contest between E. M. Baerlein and the professional, C. Williams, was postponed till the spring of 1911.

Mr. E. H. Miles (holder) defeated the Hon. N. S. Lytton for the Amateur Tennis Championship on May 22 by three sets to one, this being Mr. Miles's ninth success in twelve years. A contest for the World's Tennis Championship terminated at Prince's, Brighton, on May 28, in a victory for C. ("Punch") Fairs (holder) over G. F. Covey by seven sets to six (59 games to 53).

ROWING.

ALTHOUGH the rowing season of 1910 was eventful, it failed to introduce anything in the shape of greatness either amongst individuals or crews. The Cambridge Lent races concluded on Feb. 19th, Jesus College, Lady Margaret Boat Club, and First Trinity being the three leading boats. Early in June, Jesus also won the Cambridge "Mays," a result largely due to the fine stroking of G. E. Fairbairn, for First Trinity who were second, were a heavier and more powerful crew. At Oxford, on Feb. 23rd, Christ Church won the "Torpids" with very great ease.

The University Boat Race, the sixty-seventh of the series, was decided over the customary course, Putney to Mortlake, on Wednesday, March 23rd. It was an interesting and a pretty race; as Harrod's Wharf, Cambridge at one time ding; but then Oxford went right away and n, with something in hand, by three lengths, the fair time of 20 mins. 14 secs. The result, ich was in accordance with anticipation, was signal triumph for R. C. Bourne, the Oxford oke, who was also in the winning boat the evious year. His style had been strongly iticised, but it is certain that no stroke of cent years has done better blade work, whilst r coolness and judgment he would be hard to at. The Oxford crew (as had been the case elve months earlier) were the heaviest that er rowed, the aggregate weight being 100 st. lbs., and the average 12 st. 8½ lbs. Mr. Harurt Gold (Eton and Magdalen), who had four nes stroked the Oxford boat, again coached e crew, which was probably quite up to e average. The names of crews were:— xford: M. B. Higgins (Melbourne Grammar hool and Balliol) (bow), R. H. Owen (Dulwich d Wadham), N. Field (Wellington and Brasse), E. Majolier (Eton and Christchurch), D. ackinnon (Rugby and Magdalen), A. S. Garton Eton and Magdalen), P. Fleming (Eton and agdalen), R. C. Bourne (Eton and New College) troke), A. W. Donkin (Eton and Magdalen) ox.). Cambridge: R. W. M. Arbuthnot (Eton id Third Trinity) (bow), R. Davies (Hymer's ollege, Hull, and St. Catherine's), F. E. Hellyer inchester and First Trinity), C. P. Cooke) Australia and Trinity Hall), E. G. Williams Eton and Third Trinity), J. B. Rosher (Charterouse and First Trinity), R. Le Blanc-Smith Eton and Third Trinity), H. J. S. Shields oretto and Jesus) (stroke), C. A. Skinner urban High School, Natal, and Jesus) (cox.).

Henley Regatta started on July 4th, and, as the case in 1909, the racing extended over our full days. The weather was wet and cold during the greater part of the festival, and the ttendance showed a great falling off. The elgians did not defend their right to the Grand hallenge Cup. The reason, it was rumoured, as that after their repeated appearances at enley they were of opinion that some of the nglish clubs should accord a certain measure of pport to the Continental regattas. As that ad not been done the Belgians did not feel stified in again appearing at Henley. To a reat extent the contest for the Diamond Sculls as spoilt through the absence of A. McCulloch, eander R.C., who won in 1908. He entered, rained and went to Henley, but at the last oment could not row owing to an illness in his mily. Nor did Stahnke, a German sculler, put n appearance. From first to last the racing as exceedingly good, albeit the average quality as probably below that of recent years. On e last day a Dutch pair (De Amstel R.C.) were the final for the Goblets, German and Toronto urs in the Stewards, and a German sculler udolph Lucas, second the previous year) in e Diamond Sculls. The Continental oarsmen ad to forego the pleasure of securing any of the rizes, but the Canadians won the Stewards. hree of the men in the boat, however, were rn in the British Isles. W. D. Kinnear, ensington R.C., easily won the Diamond Sculls 8 mins. 57 secs. The other events were won follows:—Thames Cup (Eights), Anglian B.C. at Merton College, Oxford (time, 7 mins. 5 secs.). Silver Goblets (Pairs), Leander Club . S. Burn and G. L. Thomson) beat De Amstel .C., Amsterdam (time, 8 mins. 45 secs.). Grand Challenge Cup (Eights), Magdalen College, Oxford (M. M. Cudmore, L. G. Wormald, E. Millington Drake, W. D. Nicholson, D. Mackinnon, A. S. Garton, R. E. Burgess, P. Fleming, stroke, A. W. F. Donkin, cox.), beat Jesus College, Cambridge (time, 7 mins. 19 secs.). Stewards' Cup (Fours), Winnipeg R.C., Toronto, Canada (F. F. Carruthers, C. E. Allen, G. B. Aldous, and C. S. Riley, stroke) beat Mainzer Ruder Club, Mayence, Germany (time, 7 mins. 52 secs.). Ladies' Plate (Eights), Eton College beat Balliol College, Oxford (time, 7 mins. 16 secs.). Visitors' Cup (Fours), Trinity Hall, Cambridge, beat Balliol College Oxford (time, 7 mins. 56 secs.). Wyfold Cup, Trinity Hall, Cambridge, beat Leander R.C. (time, 8 mins. 9 secs.).

W. D. Kinnear added to his Henley success by winning the London Cup at the Metropolitan Regatta on July 25th, and the Wingfield Sculls (emblematic of the Amateur Championship of the Thames) two days later. He thus followed in the footsteps of A. A. Stuart (who was not seen out during this year) the previous season. In the Wingfields, Kinnear had only R. C. Bourne to beat, and he did it very easily in the excellent time of 23 mins. 12 secs. Kinnear is a Scotsman, 29 years of age.

For the first time since 1896, when J. Stanbury, an Australian, beat C. R. Harding on the Thames, an English sculler competed for the World's Championship. The contest took place on the Zambesi River, Northern Rhodesia, on Aug. 18th, and Richard Arnst, New Zealand, defeated Ernest Barry, England, after a very punishing race, Barry giving up, when only half a length behind, 150 yards from the winning post. It was Arust's fourth success in races for the title of World's Champion. The result was terribly disappointing to English rowing men, and efforts were at once made to bring about a return match to be decided on the Thames.

The Hon. Sec. of the Amateur Rowing Association is Mr. G. T. Maclagan, 18, Berkeley Street, London, W.

SWIMMING.

So many records have been made by swimmers during recent years that one is apt to decry the performances of the last generation. But the increased facilities for practice afforded by the erection of numerous public baths in every important town, and the gradual improvement in styles, have had not a little to do with the wonderful acceleration of speed rates. The latest style, which is known as "The Crawl," was introduced into England by Australian swimmers, and has been used during the past season by Mr. F. E. Beaurepaire, of Victoria, to no small advantage. That swimmer has won every championship and level race in which he has competed, and has established several records. As a swimmer over all distances up to a mile he has demonstrated that he has no equal, for, although he does not hold some of the individual records, he has shown that he can swim any distance just as well and at relatively the same speed. His great opponent was Mr. T. S. Battersby, of Stockport, but he defeated him on every occasion they met.

Of Mr. Battersby it may be said that, like Mr. Jarvis, of Leicester, and Mr. Taylor, of Chadderton, he has trained on into a distance swimmer, which seems to be the regular order for those who have shown ability over the varying championship distances. Mr. Battersby's first meritorious win was in the Long-Distance Championship over the course between Kew and Putney Bridge, when he easily beat a large number of opponents; but his great feat of the year was his win in the race from Richmond Lock to opposite H.M.S. Buzzard, moored off Blackfriars. In this race Miss Olive Carson, of Leicester, distinguished herself by gaining first place in the Ladies' section. All our National Championships other than the long-distance were won by swimmers not resident in England, two of them going to the Continent and the rest to Australia. We have, therefore, not much to congratulate ourselves upon so far as British swimming is concerned. The Back Stroke Championship, decided at the Jubilee Gala of the Brighton Swimming Club early in October, was won by M. Weckesser, a German swimmer resident in Belgium, who defeated F. A. Unwin, of Sheffield, the holder for the previous four years, in very fast time. The 200 Yards Breast Stroke Championship went to H. Julin, of Stockholm, the holder, P. Courtman, not competing. In the County Match Polo Championship Lancashire beat Somerset by 6 goals to 3; while in the Club Championship Wigan beat the London Polytechnic by 3 goals to 2. The same club also won the Team Championship, defeating Leicester in the final. In the Plunging Championship H. W. Allason, who won in 1907, defeated his brother, Captain W. Allason, the previous holder. Abbot Street School, Manchester, again won the Schoolboy Team Championship; and Miss J. Fletcher, of Leicester, was defeated by Miss I. Steer in the 100 Yards Ladies' Championship in 1 min. $13\frac{2}{5}$ secs.—time equal to Ladies' record.

Owing to the death of King Edward, the Royal Life-Saving Society cancelled its annual contest for the King's Cup, which was to have taken place at the Crystal Palace during the proposed Festival of Empire. It, however, sent Mr. William Henry, its chief secretary, to Australia and New Zealand at the end of the year, and in these colonies he delivered a series of lectures on Swimming and Life-Saving, as well as conducting numerous examinations. It is expected that the work of the Society will be considerably enhanced by this visit.

So far as Water Polo is concerned England has done well, and may still lay claim to be the champion country in this particular form of sport. The following tables will act as a guide to the season's play :—

INTERNATIONAL WATER POLO RESULTS, 1910.

England beat Scotland in Scotland (3—1).
England beat Ireland in England (7—1).
Wales drew with Scotland in Wales (2—2).

In August last a meeting of the International Swimming Federation was held at Brussels, and it was then decided to make one general set of rules for amateur swimming in Europe, each country to recognise the suspensions of the other, and all to work in harmony. The outcome of this agreement may possibly be the holding of numerous International meetings on the Continent prior to the Olympic Games fixed to take place at Stockholm next year.

The Hon. Secretary of the Amateur Swimming Association is Mr. Hurd, 24, Cautley Avenue, Clapham, S.W.; and the Secretary of the Royal Life-Saving Society is Mr. William Henry, 8 Bayley Street, Bedford Square, London.

THE TURF.

ADVERSELY felt, as it was, by all classes of the community, the death of King Edward VII early in the year was possibly of more serious consequence to the turf than to any other social institution. The late King's active participation in racing and horse-breeding had an effect upon the morale of all appertaining to the turf that it would be impossible to overestimate; and although there are indications that George V will, in the fulness of time, endeavour to fill the gap, many seasons must elapse ere his influence will have its full fruition. For the rest, the season of 1910 was not a particularly brilliant one. The leading three-year-olds—Lemberg, Neil Gow, and Greenback amongst the colts, and Winkipop, Rosedrop, and Yellow Slave amongst the fillies—did not exhibit that consistency that is inseparable from real greatness; whilst the position of Frank Wootton in the list of winning jockeys, despite his suspension for several weeks and his having to miss the Epsom Summer Meeting in consequence, proved that there is still a dearth of first-class riders.

As usual, the season opened at Lincoln, on March 14, and the Lincolnshire Handicap was won on the following afternoon by Mr. E. E. Schiff's Cinderello, 5 yrs., 7 st. 2 lb., ridden by J. Plant. The starting price of the winner was 9 to 1 in a field of 27. In the present article it will not be necessary to dwell upon handicap performances, for the reason that results of the principal ones will be found amongst the lists of tabulated records elsewhere. Let reference to the classic races, therefore, be proceeded with at once. The end of the 1909 campaign had left most judges with the conviction that Lemberg and Neil Gow were likely to rule the roost amongst the three-year-olds, and that Greenback and Charles O'Malley would prove their most formidable opponents. As to the relative merits of the two first-named opinions were greatly divided, and that there was just cause for the diversity subsequent events proved. Neil Gow's first appearance was at Newmarket in April when, ridden by D. Maher, he easily won the Craven Stakes from Whisk Broom and four others. Odds of 6 to 4 were laid on him, and the son of Marco and Chelandry justified them by cantering in first by three lengths. This performance caused Lord Rosebery's colt to start favourite for the Two Thousand Guineas (£6,200) at Newmarket on April 27, the betting against him being only 2 to 1, whilst Lemberg's price was $3\frac{1}{2}$ to 1. Maher had the mount of Neil Gow, whilst B. Dillon was on Lemberg. The pair finished first and second, Neil Gow winning a fine race by a short head, whilst Whisk Broom, ridden by J. H. Martin, was two lengths further hind. In view of what happened subsequently, is well to note that Bronzino was amongst the eaten brigade, not in the first nine. Excuses e usually forthcoming for any prominent horse feated in the Two Thousand, and admirers of mberg lost no time in asserting that the colt as not properly wound up, and that the mile as not far enough to bring out his best qualities. hen the two crack colts next met—in the Derby 6,450), at Epsom, on Wednesday, June 1—mberg was favourite at 7 to 4, odds of 11 to 4 ing procurable about the Two Thousand winner, ho was suffering from a fired hock. So far as mberg was concerned the market proved a liable guide, as, in the hands of Dillon, he won, it only by a neck from Greenback, whilst harles O'Malley was third and Neil Gow fourth. he positions of the second and third caused me surprise, as Charles O'Malley had previously en allowed to run for a £100 plate at Windsor, d Greenback's previous best performance was inning the March Stakes (£440), over a mile d a quarter, at Newmarket in April. So stoutly d the last named perform at Epsom, however, hat it was evident that stamina was his forte, d many now regarded him as having a great ance for the St. Leger. Before that race came ound, however, this son of St. Frusquin and vergreen had succumbed to the exigencies of aining. Lemberg was, after the Derby, looked pon as merely "walking over" for the Grand rize of Paris a fortnight later, but he was unaced in that race (won by Nuage), as was harles O'Malley, and this result gave students f form the first pretty good hint that English ree-year-olds were not a formidable lot.

Neil Gow missed Ascot, at which meeting, on une 16, Lemberg cantered away with the St. ames's Palace Stakes (£2,450), amongst the eaten horses being Swynford (third), who was in eceipt of 7 lb. Lemberg and Neil Gow next met n the Eclipse Stakes (£8,770) at Sandown, on uly 15, and the former was a good favourite. Vaher on Neil Gow, however, rode one of his best aces, and at the finish the judge was unable to ecide between the two colts, who were followed ome at an interval of five lengths by Placidus, receipt of 10 lb. Subsequently Neil Gow fell a ictim to training troubles, and when the St. eger (£6,450) came round, on Sept. 7, Lemberg as made a hot favourite, 5 to 4 being laid on is chance in a field of 11. The colt could get o nearer than third, however, Frank Wootton inning on Swynford, by a head, from Bronzino. wynford had previously won the Liverpool Cup £905), over a mile and a quarter, in July, carrying st. 4 lb. (with the veteran Dean Swift, 9 st., urth), and the Hardwicke Stakes (£2,659), over mile and a half, at Ascot. In the latter race he ad 12 lb. from Whisk Broom, who was not in ie first five. It has already been stated that emberg beat him into third place in the St. ames's Palace Stakes at Ascot—but that was a ile race—whilst in the Derby (where he was nowhere") Swynford was probably not fit. ere should have been nothing surprising about s winning over a distance of ground, considering at he is a son of John O'Gaunt and Canterbury lgrim.

Bronzino was in the first of the Autumn Handips, the Cesarewitch (£1,035), with 7 st. 12 lb., d on the strength of the St. Leger running was stalled favourite. September was an exptionally dry month, however, and galloping hard ground did not suit the colt. He suffered from a bruised heel, and in the race finished nowhere, the winner being Mr. L. Neumann's Verney, 4 yrs., 7 st. 11 lb., ridden by F. Wootton. A feature of the season was the running first and second, respectively, of Christmas Daisy and Mustapha for the Cambridgeshire, they having occupied similar positions in the same race the previous year.

Of the three-year-old fillies, Winkipop, a bay daughter of William the Third and Conjure, was easily the best. Her owner, Mr. W. Astor, was not afraid to give her plenty of racing, for by the middle of October she had run thirteen times, proving successful on eight occasions. By winning the One Thousand Guineas (£4,650) by a length and a half from Maid of Corinth and eleven others, of whom Yellow Slave was not in the first nine, she proved her merit so far as speed was concerned. The mile and a half Oaks course (£4,950) proved too far for her, however, for Maid of Corinth finished in front of her. The winner of the Oaks was Rosedrop, by St. Frusquin—Rosaline, who finished four lengths ahead of Evolution, with Pernelle third and Thalia fourth. That the fillies were much inferior to the colts was proved when Greenback beat Winkipop in the mile and a quarter Royal Stakes (£1,150) at Newbury on June 21; and another somewhat surprising race was that for the Newmarket Oaks (£450), over a mile and three-quarters, on Oct. 11, in which Yellow Slave got the better of Winkipop by a neck. Prior to that, however, Winkipop had secured the Coronation Stakes (£3,450) of a mile at Ascot from nine opponents; the Sussex Stakes (£707), a mile race, at Goodwood; the Nassau Stakes (£640) of a mile and a quarter at Goodwood (when Yellow Slave, allowing 5 lb., was beaten five lengths); the Durham County Produce Stakes (£833) at Stockton August Meeting; the Yorkshire Oaks (£377) at York on August 23; and the Triennial Produce Stakes (£492) at Newmarket on Sept. 28. Subsequently she defeated one opponent, Sun Angel, by 40 lengths for the Royal Stakes (£490) at Newmarket on Oct. 13. To one looking carefully into the record of the filly it seems likely that a mile is her best distance, and that beyond a mile and a quarter she does not care to go; and her total failure in the St. Leger, as well as that of Rosedrop in the same race, really caused no surprise. When, as the Rosaline filly, the last named was beaten in a small race at Newmarket in the spring, little was thought of her, but her Oaks success, already mentioned, raised great hope, which was scarcely maintained when she ran seventh to Charles O'Malley for the Gold Vase (£1,100) at Ascot—but that was over two miles. When winning the Atlantic Stakes at Sandown Park on June 25, Rosedrop beat nothing. In the Park Hill Stakes (£1,157) at Doncaster, on Sept. 9, she finished four lengths behind Yellow Slave, who appeared to relish the course of a little over a mile 6 furlongs. Of the three-year-old fillies Yellow Slave undoubtedly displayed the best stamina.

The two-year-olds of the season, like their elders, seemed to be much on a par. Borrow, a bay gelding by Hamburg—Forget, Cellini, a chestnut son of Cyllene and Sirenia, St. Nat, a bay or brown colt by St. Denis—Nathalie, Pietri, a bay by St. Frusquin—Pie Powder, and Seaforth, a bay colt by Symington, secured the principal prizes of the year. Very little indication of the excellence Borrow was to show in the future was given when the gelding on his first appearance finished fifth to Feramorz for a plate at Newmarket in April, and followed the performance next month by not finishing in the first eight for the Woodcote Stakes (£930) at Epsom, won by Seaforth. That performance must have disappointed his connections, for he started favourite in a big field. He gained his first success in the Crabbet Plate (£253) at Gatwick on June 11, when he beat twelve others, but the opposition was of moderate quality. In the next five attempts, however, the gelding won three times, his victories being in the Windsor Castle Stakes (£926) at Ascot, the Great Kingston Two Year Old Plate (£441) at Sandown on July 15, and the Harrington Plate (£367) at Derby on Sept. 1. In between Borrow finished fourth to Sunstar for the Exeter Stakes at Newmarket in June, and second to Beaurepaire for the Molecombe Stakes (£805) at Goodwood on July 29. Borrow continued his successes by dead-heating with Sunstar for the Hopeful Stakes (£607) at Newmarket on Sept. 28, and on Oct. 11 at Newmarket won the Clearwell Stakes (£767). In these events he met animals of only moderate reputation, consequently it came as a surprise when the gelding, on Oct. 14, secured the Middle Park Plate (£2,955) from Seaforth and Pietri (who dead-heated for second place) and two others. Cellini's one success was in the National Breeders' Produce Stakes (£4,537) at Sandown in July. St. Nat's first introduction to a racecourse was at Sandown Park in April, when he ran second, in a field of 16, to Nicola. This led the way to a long string of successes, which included the Caterham Plate at the Epsom Summer Meeting, the 53rd Biennial at Ascot (£1,448), the Foal Plate (£1,135) at Hurst Park on July 22, the Lavant Stakes (£880) at Goodwood (when Sunstar finished second), and the Nottingham Breeders' Foal Stakes (£440) on Aug. 8. Pietri's career opened in the Coventry Stakes (£1,775) at Ascot, when he was unplaced to Radiancy, Joie de Vivre, and Cellini. Then the colt had four wins in succession, viz., in the Princess's Plate at Newmarket in July, the Richmond Stakes (£747) at Goodwood, the Gimcrack Stakes (£940) at York in August (where Radiancy was unplaced), and the Champagne Stakes at Doncaster (£1,580) on Sept. 6. In the last-named event Sunstar and Cellini were amongst the defeated. Seaforth's Woodcote Stakes victory has been mentioned. It was followed by a convincing success in the New Stakes (£1,868) at Ascot, Sandal, Nerestan, Sunstar, and twelve others being easily beaten; and a win in the Michaelmas Plate (£473) at Manchester on Sept. 17, when the colt was conceding weight all round, but beat nothing of much note. Then followed the defeat in the Middle Park Plate, which has been dealt with. The two-year-old form was further mixed when King William and Phryxus dead-heated for the Dewhurst Plate, for Prince Palatine, who had won the Imperial Produce Plate at Kempton, was nowhere, though he had previously well beaten the Manton colt.

Of the older horses, Bayardo, 4 years, won a Biennial (£573) over a mile and a half at Newmarket in April, the Chester Vase (£1,505) at Chester on May 3 (when William the Fourth, in receipt of 2 lb., was second), the Gold Cup (£3,700) at Ascot, and the Dullingham Plate (£830) at Newmarket in July. For the Goodwood Cup (£740), on July 28, however, he was beaten a neck by the three-year-old Magic, but was conceding 36 lb.—a fact of which Rickaby on the winner, took full advantage by forcing the pace throughout.

Turf statistics up to November 12 showed Frank Wootton at the head of the list of winning jockeys with 116 wins out of 587 mounts, an a percentage of 21·46; D. Maher was second, 11 wins out of 431 mounts, average 28·07; C. Trig third, 91 wins out of 654, average 13·91; and W Higgs fourth, 69 wins out of 432, average 15·9 The principal winning owners were Mr. Fairie, horses, 17 races, value £35,352; Lord Derby, horses, 37 races, £22,920 10s.; Mr. H. P. Whitne 21 horses, 35 races, £13,959; Lord Rosebery 8 horses, 12 races, £13,182 10s.; Mr. L. Rothschild, 17 horses, 28 races; £12,180, and M P. Nelke, 13 horses, 27 races, £12,045 5s. The mo successful horses were Lemberg, 7 races, valu £23,839; Winkipop, 8 races, £11,439 15s.; Ne Gow, 3 races, £11,080; Swynford, 4 race £10,694; Bayardo, 4 races, £6,698 10s.; Ros drop, 3 races, £6,353; and Borrow, 7 race £5,584. The leading winning sires we Cyllene with 27 winners of 28 races, valu £37,864 10s.; St. Frusquin, 18 winners 36½ races, value £23,779 8s.; William th Third, 16 winners, 34½ races, £20,145 5s Marco, 16 winners, 25½ races, £16,446; Pe simmon, 19 winners, 31 races, £14,224 10s.; an John O'Gaunt, 5 winners, 10 races, £13,29 Desmond, Sundridge, Santoi, and Hamburgh di best of the remainder.

YACHTING.

But for the death of King Edward, the seaso of 1910 would have been an exceptional brilliant one; as it was, the racing was decided above the average in interest as compared wit any recent years. An International Regat had been arranged to take place off Ryde i August, but was postponed in consequence of th King's death.

There were many features which contribute to the success of the season's racing. Among these was the visit of Mr. A. S. Cochran American schooner Westward, although thi were no British schooners sufficiently modern to be a match for her. Westward proved herself smart vessel. In the Baltic she won every ra in which she started with the exception of o handicap. In the Solent she won the Emperor Cup at the Squadron Regatta and the Inte national Gold Cup at Ryde.

The 23-metre class numbered three vessels the opening of the season—Shamrock, Wh Heather, and Brynhild. The last-named carri away her mast and foundered off Felixstowe o May 23, in the second race of the season. Sham rock, owing to some improvements which h been effected during the preceding winte proved much superior to White Heather in th earlier regattas. White Heather was dismaste in the Clyde, and when she came out again the Solent she showed much improved form winning several prizes, including the Inte national Challenge Cup presented by Lo Wandsworth for the 23-metre class.

The 15-metre class provided some excelle racing. Tritonia was a new vessel in the clas but did not race with the same regularity as h opponents and her record suffered. The Prin of Wales Challenge Cup, sailed for by this cla at Dover, was won by Vanity. Ostara repeate her success of the preceding year in winnin the International Challenge Cup presented e Commodore of the Royal London Yacht ub.

The 12-metre class—six vessels—which had ever hitherto appeared in southern waters, did early the whole round of the coast regattas, and eir performances were watched with keen terest. Their racing came to an abrupt conusion at Dartmouth, owing to Cintra losing wo of her crew.

The handicap racing did not bring out a great umber of vessels. The old timers, Bloodhound nd Creole, were fairly regular competitors. The st-named boat sailed her five hundredth race at artmouth. It was her twenty-first season, and ie has always sailed for the same owner, Colonel . Bago. Her record is altogether unique, she aving won nearly three hundred first prizes, ncluding many royal trophies.

The King's Cup, at Cowes, the only one competed for during the season, was won by Lord unraven's ketch Cariad, and the Kaiser's hooner Meteor won the Cowes Town Prize.

The records of the principal yachts are: 23-metre class—Shamrock, 28 starts, 18 firsts, 1 econd; White Heather, 27 starts, 9 firsts, 1 econd. 15-metre class—Ostava, 50 starts, 20 rsts, 17 seconds, and 1 third, total 38 prizes; anity, 50 starts, 19 firsts, 12 seconds, 1 third, otal 32; Mariska, 51 starts, 12 firsts, 11 seconds, third, total 24; Tritonia, 30 starts, 3 firsts, 8 econds, 2 thirds, total 18; Ma'oona, 34 starts, 3 rsts, 6 seconds, total 9. 12-metre class—Cintra, 3 starts, 14 firsts, 12 seconds, 2 thirds, total 28; avotte, 47 starts, 12 firsts, 13 seconds, 4 thirds, otal 29; Alachie, 37 starts, 12 firsts, 11 seconds, thirds, total 26; Hera, 36 starts, 5 firsts, 5 econds, 3 thirds, total 13; Cyra, 24 starts, 1 hird. Handicap class.—Sonya, 31 starts, 13 rsts, 6 seconds, 2 thirds, total 21; Creole, 25 tarts, 13 firsts, 4 seconds, 1 third, total 18; Bloodhound, 36 starts, 9 firsts, 5 seconds, 1 third, otal 15; Gauntlet, 39 starts, 7 firsts, 17 seconds, thirds, total 26. Creole's prizes included the rst cup presented through the King of the elgians.

A new class of 19-metre yachts has been ormed for next year, and three vessels were rdered during the autumn. Two new 23-metre achts have also been ordered, and a schooner is uilding which it is hoped will meet Westward uring the coming season. The postponed International Regatta will take place at Ryde in ugust.

Quail	As "Wild Birds."	As "Wild Birds."	11th Jan. to 19th Sept.

It is also unlawful to kill pheasants, partridges, grouse, moor game, or hares on a Sunday or Christmas Day.

In England hares, rabbits, woodcock, snipe, quail, landrail, and heath or moor game (and the eggs of swan, wild duck, teal, and widgeon) are protected under the Game Laws, though no close-time is fixed for them by those laws. In Scotland the same remarks apply to deer and hares, to the first four birds, and to wild duck; in Ireland to all these five birds, with the further addition of widgeon, teal, and plover. The close-time for all these birds (except quail and landrail in Ireland, for whose close-time see above) is, under the Wild Birds Protection Acts, 1880 to 1908, from 2nd March to 31st July, both inclusive. Otherwise this close-time applies to all wild birds throughout the United Kingdom. The penalty for killing any wild bird in such close-time, or for selling or having in possession between the 16th March and the 31st of July, both inclusive (unless the killing can be proved to have occurred at a time and place to which the Act does not apply), is a reprimand and costs for the first offence, and 5s. and costs for each bird for every subsequent offence, or, in the case of the undermentioned birds, £1 for each bird for each offence. In any case the Court may also order the forfeiture of any bird (or egg, where protected—see next column) in respect of which the offence was committed. In the Island of St. Kilda the fork-tailed petrel and St. Kilda wren are deemed to be included in the following list, and the birds marked * to be omitted therefrom.

Kingfisher.	Sandpiper.	Woodpecker.

Offenders refusing their names and address are liable to a further penalty of 10s., but th Acts do not apply to any person shooting on h own land, or authorizing anyone so to shoot, an wild bird not included in the above list.

On the application of the local authorities, th Secretary of State in England and Wales, th Secretary for Scotland in Scotland, or the Lor Lieutenant in Ireland, has power to vary o abolish the close-time for any bird or birds in an county by order to be published in the Gazett. They may also direct that the above enactment shall apply to any wild bird not specified in th list, and may further prohibit the taking of th eggs of any wild bird in any county or part thereo The Secretary of State in England and Wale or the Secretary for Scotland, may also on th application of the local authorities make an ord providing that in any specified area the taking o killing of any particular kinds of wild birds sha be illegal during any period specified in the orde These various powers have been exercised in mar cases—too numerous to recapitulate here.

By the Wild Birds Protection Act, 1904, penaltie are imposed on persons setting springs, gins, &c on poles, trees, mounds, &c., so as to injure wil birds. Persons permitting such acts are equall liable. By an Act of 1908 the use of a hook or lik instrument for taking wild birds is forbidden.

HUNTING AND GROUND GAME.

There is no statutory close-time for fox-hunting or rabbit-shooting, nor is there, except i Ireland, for deer or hares; but there is an "ur written law" which the sportsman respects a much as he does the enactments of Parliament November 1st is the recognised date for the open ing of the fox-hunting season, which continue till the following April. Otter-hunting lasts fro mid-April to mid-September. The period fo deer-hunting or stalking varies from about Aug 12 to October 12 for stags, and from Nov. 10 to th end of March for hinds. By an Act passed i 1892 the sale of hares or leverets in Great Britai is prohibited from March to July inclusive unde a penalty of a pound. This does not apply t foreign hares. The statutory close season fo res in Ireland has been varied for some coun-es by order of the Lord Lieutenant, and it is w mostly from April 1st to August 12th.

CLOSE-TIME FOR SALMON.

I. England and Wales.

Under the Salmon Fishery Acts, salmon (inding all migratory fish of the genus salmon)
e protected, and a close-time is fixed for England
d Wales, including the Esk in Dumfries, ring which fishing for any of such fish is probited. The close-time for nets begins on 1st ptember, and for rods on 2nd November; for th nets and rods it ends on 1st February.
r an Act of 1907 the Board of Agriculture and sheries may make provisional orders varying e law on these and other points. The close-ne may also be varied by a bye-law by cal boards of conservators, provided it begins r nets not later than 1st November, with a inimum of 154 days, and for rods not later than December, with a minimum of 92 days. For tts and putchers the annual close season is m 1st September to 1st May, which cannot be tered by bye-law. The following are the cases from parts beyond the seas, or as have been taken, if in the United Kingdom, in legal netting season and in legal manner. During that period all packages containing salmon consigned by any common or other carrier must be clearly marked with the word "Salmon." Salmon, dried, pickled, or cured abroad, or, if within the United Kingdom, between 1st February and 3rd November, may be sold after that date. The onus of proof that the fish were caught out of the United Kingdom, or, if within the kingdom, that they were caught during the legal netting season by legal means, or that, if pickled, they were pickled between 1st Feb. and 3rd Nov., lies with the person selling or exposing for sale. The exportation of salmon from any part of the United Kingdom is prohibited between 3rd September and 30th April, unless caught at a time at which its sale in the place where it was caught would be legal, if in the United Kingdom: the onus probandi lies on the person exporting. The capture and sale of "unclean" salmon, i.e., salmon recently spawned or full of spawn, are prohibited under heavy penalties. Roe may not be used as a bait in salmon angling.

A weekly close season, during which net-fishing for salmon is prohibited, is fixed in England from noon on Saturday to 6 a.m. on Monday. This close-time has been varied by the local conservancy boards in most districts, and extended to 48 hours, with certain changes in the hour of commencement.

II. Scotland.

In Scotland the annual close-time must not be less than 168 days. It is, for nets, from 27th August to 10th February, and, for rods, from 1st November to 10th February, except as follows :—

Close-time for	Nets.	Rods.

Thurso	—	15 Sept. to 10 Jan.
Hope, Polla	—	11 Sept. to 10 Jan.
Tweed	15 Sept. to 14 Feb.	1 Dec. to 31 Jan.

The weekly close-time for nets is between 6 p.m. Saturday and 6 a.m. Monday; and, for rods, on Sundays. The Esk, in Dumfries, is included under the English Salmon Acts.

In Scotland the law as to the sale of salmon differs somewhat from that in force in England.

III. IRELAND.

In Ireland the close-time for salmon applies also to trout. The netting close-time must never be less than 168 days. Many variations of the close season have been made, of which it is impossible to specify all the details here; the following list, however, shows the general close-time in force in the different districts, in parts of some of which, however, it is different (all dates inclusive). The second column gives the point of delimitation on the coast between the various districts, which include all rivers, &c., within their respective coast-limits.

In Ireland the weekly close-time is fixed at 48 hours, from 6 a.m. Saturday till 6 a.m. Monday.

Salmon and trout must not be sold in Ireland in the close season.

CLOSE-TIME FOR TROUT AND CHAR.

The capture of trout and char in England and Wales is prohibited between 2nd October and 1st February, except (1) in parts of Norfolk and Suffolk where, under the Norfolk and Suffolk Fisheries Act, 1877, the close-time for trout, for nets only, is from 10 Sep. to 25 Jan.; (2) in the Thames and Lee, where the close season is from 1 Sep. to 31 March; and (3) in the cases noted below where, under an Act of 1876, the trout and char close-time (for rods and nets, except where specified) has been varied by bye-law by local boards of conservators. In the districts marked * the close time, as altered, applies only to trout. The sale of trout and char is absolutely prohibited throughout England and Wales from 2nd Oct. to 1st Feb.

In Scotland there is a close-time for trout from 15 Oct. to 28 Feb. In Ireland the close-time for trout is the same as for salmon. For poll the close-time is from 14 Nov. to 31 Jan.

Between Sept. 3 and Feb. 1 all packages in England and Wales consigned by any common other carrier and containing trout or char must be distinctly marked with the word "Trout" "Char," as the case may be.

CLOSE-TIME FOR FRESHWATER FISH.

By the Freshwater Fisheries Act, 1878, a close time for "freshwater fish" (which are defined for this purpose to include all kinds of fish, other than pollen, trout, and char, which live in fresh water, except those kinds which migrate to from the open sea) is fixed from 15 March to ine, both inclusive, for all parts of England and Wales except parts of Norfolk and Suffolk. The enalty for taking or selling freshwater fish in that eriod is £2 for a first and £5 for a subsequent onviction. The close-season, however, does not pply to eels taken otherwise than by angling or o fish taken in private waters by leave of the wner, in public waters by leave of a Board of onservators, or taken (with the leave of the wner if in private waters) for bait or for scientific urposes. Fishery districts may be wholly or artially exempted from this close-time with the anction of the Board of Agriculture and Fisheries. he Axe, Avon and Stour, Avon (Devon), Wye, den, and Towy fishery districts have been so xempted; also the Kent and Leven and Severn istricts, as regards pike; the Usk as regards els; and certain parts of the Severn as regards ther fish than grayling. In the navigable ivers of Norfolk and Suffolk and the broads onnected therewith, close-times have been fixed or various fish under the Norfolk and Suffolk isheries Act, 1877, from March 1 to June 30. For els a separate close-time exists (so far as fixed ngines in salmon rivers are concerned) in ngland from 1 Jan. to 24 June; in Ireland, ith one or two exceptions, from 11 Jan. to o June. In the Severn, elvers, or the fry of els, are protected between 1 Jan. and the last ay of Feb., and between 26 April and 24 June.

PROTECTION OF CRABS AND LOBSTERS.

Under the Fisheries (Oyster, Crab, and Lobster) ct, 1877, it is prohibited to buy or sell crabs nder 4¼ inches, measured across the largest iameter of the back, or lobsters under 8 inches, easured from tip of beak to end of tail when pread out flat. The capture of "soft" crabs nd crabs with spawn is also prohibited. By ocal bye-laws of Sea Fisheries Committees (vide infra), the minimum size of lobsters and crabs hat may be lawfully taken in different parts of the territorial seas has been increased, and in some cases the taking of lobsters with spawn is prohibited, or a close season fixed.

CLOSE-TIME FOR OYSTERS.

There are also local regulations for the protection of oysters; and by the Fisheries (Oyster, Crab, and Lobster) Act, 1877, a general close-time for the capture and sale of "Deep-Sea Oysters" is fixed from the 15th June to 4th August; and for all other kinds of oysters—except oysters taken in the waters of a foreign state—from 14th May to 4th August. This Act applies to England and Scotland, but not to Ireland. By the Sea Fisheries Act, 1868, fishing for oysters is prohibited from the 16th June to 31st August inclusive, in that part of the English Channel comprised between a line drawn from the North Foreland Light to Dunkirk, and a line drawn from the Land's End to Ushant—the territorial seas of England and France alone being excepted. This close-time, however, cannot be enforced till the Convention between England and France, included in the Act, is ratified; and, until that is done, the Convention concluded in 1839, which prohibits oyster-fishing in those limits from 1st May to 31st August, is to remain in force so far as French fishermen are concerned. It is customary, however, for both Powers to agree to suspend the operation of this close season till June 16 in each year. In Ireland, the Act 5 & 6 Vict. cap. 106, prescribes that no oysters may be taken between 1st May and 1st September, though this close season has been varied in the following cases:—

Tralee Bay	11th Mar. to 31st Oct.
Galway Bay	1st Jan. to 30th Nov.
Strangford Lough	1st Mar. to 31st Aug.
Achil Sound, Clew Bay	2nd April to 3 th Sept.
Sligo, Ballisodare and Drumcliffe Bays ...	30th April to 1st June.

Taking oysters from licensed beds is made larceny.

Licences for Shooting and Fishing.

GAME AND GUN LICENCES.—A licence is required by every person who hunts, shoots, or takes game, except persons (in Great Britain) taking woodcock and snipe with nets or springes; rabbit-warren proprietors, or others, on enclosed land, killing rabbits; persons hunting deer, or hares, with hounds; owners or occupiers, or their servants, killing deer on their own land; beaters and others, not holding guns, attending holders of game licences. Occupiers of enclosed land, or owners, having the right to kill game, may themselves kill hares, or authorize others to do so, without a licence, but such authority must be limited to one person at a time in any one parish, and must be registered with the clerk of the Justices of the Petty Sessional Division in which the land is situate. Even when the quarry is not what is legally known as "game," a "gun" licence is necessary. A game licence, however, covers a gun licence. Soldiers, sailors, volunteers, or constables, on duty, or at practice, need not take out a gun licence, nor need occupiers of land scaring birds or killing vermin on such land, or persons so acting under the orders of occupiers holding a licence. Unless, however, the occupier is himself licensed, he cannot authorize any unlicensed person to carry a gun. "Scaring" birds is not to be regarded as including killing of any birds, and "vermin" does not include rabbits. The rates of duty are given at p. 370.

SALMON, TROUT AND CHAR LICENCES.—In all salmon fishery districts in England and Wales, and in Ireland, a licence to fish for salmon is necessary, and in most English and Welsh rivers a similar licence is necessary for trout or char, except that a salmon licence includes the latter. In the Lune and Wye licences for "freshwater fish" are in force. In Scotland no licence is needed. A licence is available only in the district, and for the season, in which it is issued, except that in Ireland rod licences are available in all parts of that country. The rates on salmon nets and other like instruments range from £20 downwards in England and Wales, and from £30 downwards in Ireland. In the latter country the rate on draft nets, the kind most commonly used, is £3; in England and Wales it varies from £5 to £2. The licence duty on a salmon rod and line is £1 in Ireland. In England and Wales different rates are charged in different districts as follows (an asterisk signifies that lower rates of duty are chargeable for short periods, or for certain parts of the district):—

*Eden, *Derwent, *Exe, Hampshire, *Wye, *Usk, 30/-; Taw and Torridge, 24/-; *Lune, *Ribble, *Dee, Clwyd & Elwy, *Conway, *Dovey, *Teify, Avon (Devon), *Dart, *Teign, Frome, Stour (Kent), Yorkshire, Tees, *Tyne, 20/-; *Dwyfach, Towy, 21/-; *Seiont, Avon, Brue & Parret, *Camel, *Fowey, 15/-; Cleddy, Taff & Ely, Ogmore, W. Cumberland, 10/6; *Kent & Leven, Rhymney, *Ayron, Severn, Axe, Trent, Tamar & Plym, 10/-; *Esk (Yorkshire), 7/6; Ouse (Sussex), Wear, Coquet, Cuckmere, Rother, Adur, 5/-.

ENGLAND AND WALES.—The administration of the laws of close season, &c., for salmon and trout is placed by the Salmon and Freshwater Fisheries Acts, 1861 to 1907, and the Board of Agriculture and Fisheries Act, 1903, in the hands of local boards, with the Board of Agriculture and Fisheries as the central authority. Districts may be formed and Boards of Conservators appointed for waters containing salmon or freshwater fish. Such Boards have been appointed for 53 Districts. [The districts generally include all rivers running into the sea between the points named, and in the cases marked † also include the sea for a distance of three miles from the shore, or to the mid-channel in estuaries.]

These Boards of Conservators consist of three classes of members—those appointed annually by the County Councils of the various counties through which the rivers flow; ex-officio members or those qualified by ownership of lands or fisheries of a certain value; and representative members, elected annually by the persons who have paid licence duty on instruments other than rod and line for salmon fishing in public waters.

There are also certain bodies created by local statutes, having authority over the fisheries, e.g. the Thames Conservancy Board, Lee Conservancy Board, and Conservators of the Medway.

These Boards have power to make bye-laws not only for the regulation of the fisheries for salmon and freshwater fish, but also, in certain SCOTLAND.—In Scotland there are 105 Fishery stricts, nearly each separate river forming a strict of itself, but only 37 Boards of Conserva-rs. The powers of these Boards are limited to e Salmon Fisheries.

IRELAND.—In Ireland there are 23 districts, mbracing between them the whole country, each th a separate Board of Conservators.

SEA FISHERIES DISTRICTS.—Under the Sea sheries Regulation Acts, 1888 to 1894, the ard of Agriculture and Fisheries has power form sea fisheries districts within the terri-rial waters of England and Wales, and to nstitute local Fisheries Committees, either for ingle county or borough, or for several jointly. ey have power to make bye-laws, to be nfirmed by the Board of Agriculture and sheries, regulating or prohibiting the use of struments for the capture of sea fish (including shell fish and crustaceans, but excluding salmon), the deposit of rubbish on fishing grounds, &c. The following districts have been created, including in each case the coast and territorial seas adjoining between the points respectively mentioned:—

1. Northumberland (coterminous with that county). 2. North Eastern, from Northumberland to Donna Nook in Lincolnshire. 3. Eastern, from Donna Nook to Great Yarmouth. 4. Kent and Essex, from Dovercourt to Dungeness, and including the Thames estuary to London Stone near Yantlet Creek. 5. Sussex (coterminous with that county). 6. Southern, from the western boundary of Dorset to Hayling Island. 7. Devon. 8. Cornwall (each coterminous with the respective counties). 9. Glamorgan, from Nash Point to Worms Head. 10. Milford Haven, from Worms Head to Cemmaes Head. 11. Lancashire and Western, from Cemmaes Head to Haverigg Point. 12. Cumberland, from Haverigg Point to Sark Foot.

Similar districts may be formed in Scotland under the Sea Fisheries Regulation (Scotland) Act, 1895.

THE following table shows the periods when the ferent kinds of edible fish mostly in use are n season" and "out of season."
The letter p signifies that the fish are then in their prime or most plentiful; the letter x signifies that the fish may be obtained, but are not at their best; the letter c signifies that it is "close-time" as fixed by statute.

(a) This is for sea crayfish. River crayfish can be obtained in the summer and autumn. It is legal to take fresh-water crayfish from March 1 June.

(b) Foreign oysters can be sold in the close son, and are to be had almost all through the ar, even though they have been laid down in glish beds for temporary storage.

(d) In the close season salmon from Holland, and also from certain British rivers where net fishing is permitted later in the year than usual, are largely sold.

(e) For the first six months the bulk of our London supply of shrimps comes from Holland, but Dutch shrimps are far inferior to the English, which are plentiful from July to December.

THE YEAR'S WEATHER.

(1909) November was unusually fine and bright, though cool, affording a very pleasant contrast to that of October. Gales were neither numerous nor exceptionally violent. Temperature was below the average in all districts. The warmest period was from the 3rd to the 6th, when maxima of 60° were reported in several places, the highest being 62°. The coldest period was 16th to 24th, when readings down to 3° were reported from Scotland. On the 17th the minimum was 4° at Balmoral and at Crathes (−5° on the grass), and the maximum for the day only 25°. Fog was prevalent till the 9th, but less than the average later. Rainfall was below the average at nearly all stations, in many places much below. At Spurn Head only one-tenth of the usual quantity fell. Bright sunshine was everywhere in excess. The largest total was at Bognor, 138 hrs. (52 per cent.), the lowest at Manchester, 17 hrs. (7 per cent.). Aurora was observed at Baltasound, Shetlands, on 4 days. December was unsettled, with much strong wind and heavy rain or snow. The gales were heavy, the gust velocity on the 3rd rose to 75 miles per hour at Scilly and Falmouth. Temperature varied much during the month, the daily maximum being as high as 59° at Kingstown on the 10th, and as low as 23° at West Linton on the 7th. The minimum fell to 0° at Balmoral on the 7th and to 1° at Garforth on the 22nd, while it was as high as 52° in Dublin on the 10th. There was not much land fog, but on the eastern and western coasts it was frequently seen. Rainfall was in excess in most places, but was in defect in the North of Scotland. In Ireland S. the rainfall was irregular, being 2·16 in. in excess at Dublin and 2·04 in. in defect at Killarney. Sunshine was in excess, as a rule, but in the Channel Islands it was deficient. The largest aggregates were 75 hrs. at Bournemouth, Totland Bay, Rousdon, and Oban, while at Manchester the total was only 5 hrs. (2 per cent.). Bright Aurora was observed on the 14th. (1910) January was at first breezy, mild, and wet, but the last 10 days of the month were stormy and bitterly cold. On the 24th there was a severe gale, when the wind at Scilly rose in gusts to a rate of 80 miles per hour. Thunderstorms were frequent, there being records of thunder or lightning or both on 23 days. There was not much land fog, but on the coast it was frequent, especially dur the first week. The highest shade maxim reported was 59° at Colwyn Bay on the 1st, a the lowest was −10° at Balmoral on the 28 At West Linton, on the 26th, the temperat fell to −5°, at Buxton on the 27th to 1°. Dur the mild period at the beginning of the mo the night minima were very high, above 50 many stations, 49° in London. Rainfall was excess, except in Ireland S. and Scotland but not as a rule to any great extent. At St hurst, however, the excess was 4·3 in., and Fort William 3·9 in. At Roches Point, altho the total fall was little more than half average, the rainy days numbered 31. At Tea in Lincolnshire, the number of rainy days but 10. Heavy snow fell during the last wee the month, as much as 15 in. at Oban on 26th. Sunshine was generally in excess. largest amount recorded was 89 hrs. (36 per c at Lowestoft, the smallest 16 hrs. (7 per c at Manchester. February was unsettled, wi and wet, but rather warmer than us Gales were reported on 19 days, strong on 13 days. On the 18th the velocity of wind at Falmouth rose in a gust to 87 mile hour. On the 26th, at Scilly, a velocity o miles was reached. Thunderstorms were very frequent. Temperature was above average generally, but not to any great ex The highest maxima reported were 59° at Fo on the 5th, with 58° at Colwyn Bay, Hawa Bridge, and St. Asaph. The night minim this time were unusually high, up to 52 Colwyn Bay. The coldest period was about 9th, when in Scotland readings as low as 9° registered. Rain was exceptionally freq but not very heavy. In many places rain every day throughout the month, and in o few places were the rain days fewer than 20. many parts of the Kingdom much land under water at the end of the month. In of the frequent rain, bright sunshine was a the average in nearly all districts. The la aggregate reported was 118 hrs. (44 per c at Kingstown, the lowest 38 hrs. (15 per cen Baltasound, Shetland. March weather quiet and dry, and was thus in m contrast with that of February. There but few gales, thunder was heard on 3 days no lightning was reported. Fog was r evalent in the west, and on the east coasts fog as reported from the 23rd to the 26th. Aurora as seen on the 27th–29th. On the 28th it was en as far south as Epsom. Temperature was ove the average in all districts. The highest ading was 62° at Nairn and at Killarney. In ernsey the maximum did not exceed 59°. The west reading was 20° at Garforth on the 29th. ainfall was below the average, the deficiency aching 2·6 in. at Buxton. There was, however, avy rain in the north-western districts during arch 1st–3rd. At Lickeen, Caragh Lake, 5·2 in. il in the 3 days. At Cuckfield, Sussex, the last days were rainless, and at many stations the st fortnight was quite dry. Sunshine was ficient in Ireland and in Scotland W., but was excess elsewhere by as much as 58 hrs. at astings. The largest totals were 200 hrs. (54 r cent.) at Bournemouth and Torquay, while e lowest was 81 hrs. at Baltasound and at ewcastle-on-Tyne. April was more than ually changeable. The spell of dry weather nich began about the middle of March broke about April 3rd, and thereafter there was nshine and showers, the latter frequently ade up of snow or hail. On the 16th a violent nderstorm was experienced, the accompany- g rain or hail being very heavy, especially near ndon. At Potters Bar the fall was 1·14 in. 75 minutes. Hailstones ½ in. in diameter vered the ground in places to a depth of 2 in., ing much damage to fruit trees. Fog was evalent in the south and west from 17th–22nd, volving the wreck of the ss. Mincehaha on the cks at Scilly. Temperature was low, as a rule, ere being a marked absence of warm days. e highest maximum was 67° at Whitby on the h. In the Channel Islands the maximum was ly 59°. The lowest readings were on the 1st, at Garforth and 20° at Llangammarch Wells. ainfall generally was in excess, but in the annel Islands it was in defect, and was but tle more than half the usual amount. At uthend the total was only 0·87 in. as compared th an average of 1·45 in. Sunshine was defi- nt in all districts. The total amounts varied m 77 hrs. (19 per cent.) at Manchester to hrs. (48 per cent.) at Torquay. May was, the most part, cold and inclement, with n, hail, and in some cases sleet or snow. The t part of the month was finer, with little n and some warm days. Thunderstorms were usually prevalent, being reported every day ept the 1st, and, and 25th. In many cases y were reported as violent, but the accom- ying rains were not very heavy. The highest mperature reported was 83° at Hillington, rfolk, on the 20th. On the same day Norwich Lincoln each reported 80°, but at no other tions was 80° reached during the month. The west readings were on the 9th, 22° at West nton, 24° at Eskdalemuir. In each district ept English Channel frost was observed on or more days. On the 6th the maximum at kdalemuir was only 40°. The minimum on the ss fell to 18° at Cambridge. Fog was preva- t, and at times dense. Rainfall was in excess most parts, but in Scotland E. and W. and in Midland Counties it was in defect, though to a great extent. Bright sunshine did not er greatly from the normal. Castlebay re- ted the largest aggregate, 258 hrs. (51 per t.), and Newcastle-on-Tyne the least, 131 hrs. per cent.). Jersey had 50 hrs. less, while rnoway had 55 hrs. more, than the average.

June opened with rainy, unsettled, and rather cool weather, accompanied with thunderstorms. The week ended June 11 was, however, unusually warm, with terrific thunderstorms and very heavy rains. At Salisbury, on the 6th, 3·5 in. of rain fell in about 3 hrs. At Wheatley, Oxford, 2·7 in. fell in 48 minutes, and another 1·7 in. in 20 minutes. At Kidmore End, Reading, 3·2 in. fell in 1 hr. Temperature was a little above the average generally. The highest reading reported was 84° at Camden Square, London, on the 20th, the lowest 30° at Balmoral on the 28th. Fog was frequently reported from the 2nd to the 25th, and was often dense. Rainfall was deficient in Scotland, England N.E., and in Western Ireland, but was in excess elsewhere. At Armagh the fall was less than three-quarters of the average, at Dublin it was three times as much. Sunshine was in excess in the northern parts of the Kingdom. Castlebay again reported the highest aggregate, 251 hrs. (48 per cent.), while the lowest was 131 hrs. (26 per cent.) at Birr and at Clongowes Wood College, Ireland. In the more southern parts of the United Kingdom July was cold, dull, and wet throughout, while in the north and west there was fine weather for a fortnight about the middle of the month. In Westminster the highest temperature for the month was only 74°, the lowest maximum in July since 1888. Individual days were much colder, and at Glencarron, on the 1st, the maximum did not exceed 51°. The highest reported for the United Kingdom was 81° at Bettws-y-coed on the 13th, and at Lancaster and other places on the 14th. The lowest was 31° at Balmoral on the 11th and again on the 24th. In Jersey the range was from 50° to 73°. Thunderstorms were frequently reported, and fog was unusually prevalent. A slight earthquake was felt at Oban on the 27th. Rainfall, as a rule, was in excess, but in Scotland N. and in Ireland S. it was deficient. Generally speaking, the departures from the average were not large. The totals for the month varied from 0·8 in. at Sumburgh Head to 12·3 in. at Plynlimmon. At Colwyn Bay there were 7 rainy days, while at Cromer there were 22. Sunshine was most abundant in the north and west. At Markree Castle the aggregate was 86 hrs. in excess of the average, at Greenwich it was 123 hrs. in defect. The largest total was at Douglas, 254 hrs. (55 per cent.), the smallest at Cromer, 80 hrs. (16 per cent.). August was cool and very changeable, with thunderstorms on several days, a good deal of fog (on twelve separate days at Scarborough), but without much strong wind. Temperature exceeded 80° at one station only—Sumburgh Head—where 82° was recorded on the 6th. The previous highest for this station from 1871 was 70°. Baltasound, 60 miles to the northward, reported 77°, but to the southward, Deerness and Wick had only 58°. At many stations in the south and west the maximum for the month did not reach 75°, at Douglas it was only 69°. The minimum fell to 40° or below at several places, and at West Linton on the 23rd it was as low as 32°. Rainfall was below the average in the south and east of England, but in excess elsewhere. The highest totals were 11·3 in. at Crieff (3 times the average), and 9·0 in. at Graythwaite; the lowest 1·45 in. at Lowestoft. The rainy days were in excess very generally except in England E. At Killarney rain was measured on each day. There were serious floods in Scotland during the last week of the month. Sunshine was everywhere deficient, and ranged from 208 hrs. (47 per cent.) at Guernsey to 71 hrs. (15 per cent.) at Glasgow. Broadstairs reported 202 hrs., Bettws-y-coed only 92 hrs. September was cloudy and cool but very dry, and with a marked absence of strong wind. The highest temperature reported was 78° at Maidenhead on the 28th, the lowest 27° at Eskdalemuir on the 16th, and at Llangammarch Wells on the 21st. At many stations the maximum did not reach 70°, and there were several days when the highest reading was less than 55°. On the 19th snow was observed at Epsom. Fog was very prevalent on the East Coast, but on the South Coast it occurred only during the last three days of the month. Rainfall was deficient in all parts, and the month was one of the driest Septembers on record. At a number of stations the total amount was less than 0·2 in. Sunshine varied a good deal, being in excess in some parts, in defect in others. The aggregates ranged from 196 hrs. (53 per cent.) at Newquay to 67 hrs. (18 per cent.) at Newcastle-on-Tyne. October weather was mild generally. The highest maximum was 75° at Colwyn Bay on the 1st, but temperatures of 70° and upwards were recorded. The minima were not extreme, the lowest actually reported being 28° at Markree Castle on the 31st. Rainfall was below the average except in the southern districts, although heavy individual amounts were fairly common. In many parts the dry weather of the last half of September continued till October 10th. At Holyhead the total rainfall was 2·6 in. less than the average, while at Falmouth it was 3·1 in. more. The number of rainy days varied from seven at Dumfries to 27 at Roche's Point. Bright sunshine was slightly in excess in Scotland, N., and just normal in England, NW. In all the other districts there was a deficiency, by as much as 47 hrs., or 1½ hrs. per day, at Ventnor. The largest totals were 125 hrs. (38 per cent.) at Guernsey and 121 hrs. (37 per cent.) at Jersey; the smallest, 48 hrs. (15 per cent.) at Bunhill Row, London, and 40 hrs. (12 per cent.) at Birmingham. Aurora was reported on six of the first nine days. Fog was experienced very frequently on the East Coast, but in the west it was noted principally from the 6th to the 8th, and on the South Coast on the 1st and 8th-10th.

THE YEAR'S WEATHER AND THE CROPS.

November, 1909, opened with the land too wet to work, and although some improvement was experienced as the weeks passed by, the land remained wet throughout the month. The Autumn was cool, with about the average amount of rainfall, but with rather more sunshine than usual. December.—Speaking generally, the weather during December was unfavourable for farming operations. The land was still too wet to work profitably, and agriculturists had to content themselves with carting manure, &c., instead of preparing the ground for seed. January, 1910, opened with gloomy prospects, but the weather improved and the ground became drier and less difficult. The severe frosts during the last week of the month were very beneficial. It was noted that the crop of wild berries in 1909–10 was very heavy. February was a disappointing month for agriculturists. The land was wet to begin with, much rain fell, and there was but little drying wind, so that the fields were never in a really suitable condition for the plough. The Winter temperature was, on the whole, about the average, though decidedly cool in Ireland. Rainfall was in excess in all districts, but at the same time bright sunshine was more than usual. The weather of March afforded a most welcome contrast to th of the preceding months. Temperature w above the average in all districts, and sunshi above the average in most, while rainfall w much less than usual, and at many stations t last fortnight of March was quite rainless. consequence, farming operations of all kin were pushed forward, and such excellent progre was made that by the end of the month ve much of the arrears of work had been clear off. April opened favourably. In the ear part of the month there were good rains, whi were now very welcome. Throughout t month, however, the amount of sunshine w disappointingly small, hindering growth, a thus it came about that by the end of the mont while work was well forward, the crops were fortnight behind. The fruit prospects we very promising as the month ran out. M weather was at first unfavourable, and grow was everywhere backward. Damage by nig frosts was, however, much less than in some pr vious years. In the third week of the month great improvement was manifest, and high temperature and genial showers combined work wonders both in the meadows and on t fields. During the last days of the month har winds were prevalent, but the reports indica that these caused no great harm to the cro The Spring temperature, though inclined excess, was not far from the average. The rainf also was on the whole about the normal amou while sunshine was considerably more than us in Scotland, N., less than the average in t English Channel, and about the normal elsewhe June, on the whole, was a favourable mon Growth was rapid, and though thunderstor caused much inconvenience in the south counties, the outlook at the middle of the mor was very promising. Haymaking started w though sunshine was deficient, but after ab the 20th heavy rains set in, which, while be ficial to the root crops, interfered with the h July was unsettled, dull and wet, and in c sequence haymaking was tedious and slow. rains did much damage to the strawberry cr but roots throve, and the early potatoes a did well. About the middle of the month wh was reported as likely to prove the best cr but later both wheat and oats proved to irregular, and barley seemed to be best. Kentish Hop Gardens suffered a good deal fr bad weather in the third week. The mo closed with a crop of hay which was good bulk, but of somewhat inferior quality beca of rain; with no grain carted and but little yet with good prospects for harvest, and fav able reports as to stock. The interval betw hay and corn harvest was, as in 1909, very sh In the northern counties and in Ireland, h ever, the weather was more favourable, and hay was got in well. August opened with weather, and on the 5th wheat was cut at t The harvest was late, but roots were repor to be making satisfactory progress. prospect was for the year to be normally p ductive, but crops were uneven in bulk as w as in quality. On the 18th new corn was mark in East Anglia. At Evesham the fruit, ma plums, exceeded expectations, but apples w only moderate. As the month passed on, uality of the corn in Scotland and Ireland roved to be better than estimate. In the last eek farm work was hindered by heavy rains. he Summer was warm in the north, cool in the outh, and about the average in the other dis- ricts. Rainfall was more abundant than usual, hile sunshine was considerably below the aver- ge generally. September opened with rainy eather, but bright, hot days came soon, which roved very favourable for farmers. By the 12th he harvest was nearly over in the south, and as in full swing in the Midlands and northern istricts. The heavy showers which followed ere very acceptable where harvest was over. he weather towards the end of the month roved favourable for farm work, more so in the orth. As a rule the rains were vexatious in eir frequency rather than in their quantity, ut by the end of the month rain was wanted many places. Hops generally were reported a good crop, though in some cases they were damaged by blight. Potatoes showed signs of widespread disease. Roots are the best crop. Ireland had 70,000 acres more under tillage in 1910—the first increase for many years. In South Wales the crops were reported up to average all round, both for quantity and condition. October opened with welcome rains. Scotch harvest reported one of the shortest and best of recent years. Much disease, however, amongst potatoes. A spell of dry weather followed, but by about the 13th rains came on again, greatly benefiting the pastures and the roots. The official estimate of the yield of hops was 9·20 cwt. per acre, as compared with 6·59 cwt. in 1909, or 5 per cent. above the average of ten years. During the last half of the month drilling of wheat made good progress. The month closed with disappointing prices for farm produce.

Storms and Floods in 1909–1910.

(1909) November.—1st, severe floods in Kent th, floods and gales in Jamaica, railway service spended, much damage to crops. At Kingston in. rain fell in six days, the average year's ll being 36 in. 9th–12th, hurricane in New- undland. 17th, floods in Adana, Asia Minor, o houses destroyed. 20th, snowstorm in erlin, telegraph services stopped. 22nd, phoon in South China. December.—2nd, severe orms in Western Europe, completely stopping legraphic communication between France and ermany. 3rd, Isle of Man steamer, Ellen annin, wrecked off the Mersey, 33 lives lost. th, storms and floods in Portugal, £1,000,000 mage at Oporto, 660 out of 700 lighters lost. th, heavy snowstorms in America, damage timated at £1,000,000. 27th, flood in Belgium; oods in Lincolnshire. (1910) January.—4th, rricane in Nova Scotia. 15th, heavy floods in ew South Wales, much loss of stock. 22nd, ry severe floods in France, the Seine rising in ris higher than for 100 years previously. eavy snow in Switzerland, causing avalanches d loss of life. Snow 180 feet deep in Lonza alley. 26th–27th, gales in England and Scotland. ebruary.—2nd, storms on the Norwegian coasts. d, floods in Yorkshire. 13th, floods in Malaya, miles of railway destroyed. 17th–20th, severe le with much damage in Ireland and else- here. At the end of the month there were floods Belgium and a recurrence of the floods in Paris. arch.—1st, floods in Paris and in Belgium con- nuing, damage to one coal-pit in Belgium esti- ated at £120,000. 5th, splendid rains in Aus- alia. 6th, snow slide in Canada, 62 lives lost. th, flood in South Wales from bursting of old lliery, 6 lives lost. 24th, floods in Calabria, rrupting railway traffic. 24th, hurricane in ji, 18 lives lost, great destruction of small ssels. At the end of the month heavy snow- rms on the Continent, snow 3 feet deep in enna. 30th, gale at Trieste, passenger train wn over embankment. Cyclone in the Loyalty lands. April.—2nd, heavy snow in France, ains stopped. 1st–5th, heavy rains in Southern rope. 3rd, exceedingly violent "Bora" at ieste. 8th, earthquake in Douglas, Isle of an. 20th, floods in Servia, Orient express opped. 24th, frosts in Southern States of nerica cause great damage to cotton and fruit. ay.—8th, severe thunderstorm at Herne Bay, th snow and hail. 12th, storms in Germany. 16th (Whit Monday), heavy fog on S.E. coasts, Margate boat kept out all night. Splendid rains in South Australia. Heavy cloud-bursts and floods on Yorkshire Wolds during the third week of the month. June.—2nd, storm in Bombay. 8th, heavy thunderstorms in Germany, 2 soldiers killed near Cologne, 9 persons struck in a field. 12th, 60 persons struck by lightning in Berlin, 6 deaths. Eighteen deaths by lightning on the Dutch frontier. Disastrous floods on the Continent about the middle of June, much loss of life in the Ahr valley and elsewhere. 15th, cloud- burst in Hungary, 300 deaths. 19th, storm in New York, 14 persons killed. Remarkable mirage in London. 22nd, very heavy rain in Bombay. 19th–23rd, heat-wave in New York. 27th, severe floods in Switzerland. July.—8th, serious rising of the Seine in Paris. 9th, floods in Germany. 10th, heat-wave in New York, temperature over 100° F. 12th, floods in India, much damage. 18th, floods in Switzerland, rail- way traffic stopped. 22nd, extensive forest fires in America, one fire in Alaska covering 100 sq. miles. 24th, storms of wind and rain in Ger- many, doing much damage to crops. 25th, great heat in New York. August.—4th, violent storms in Russia, goods train overturned; rain in a few hours exceeded average for the month. 8th, flood in the Caucasus, village overwhelmed, 500 houses swept away. 9th, disastrous floods in Japan, 880 persons killed, 660 more injured or missing, 6,000 houses swept away or partially destroyed, 393,000 houses damaged, 200,000 persons in need of relief; loss estimated at £6,000,000. 21st, forest fires in America, great damage and loss. 29th, flood at Neath, doing much damage. September.—1st, mirage observed at Epsom. 7th, recurrence of floods in Japan; floods in Australia, railways under water. 8th, floods in Germany. 10th, magnificent solar halo seen at Eastbourne. 17th, drought and heat in Baltimore, shortage of water. 20th, severe storms in Spain, hail said to be 3 feet deep, great damage to crops. October.—9th, forest fires in Minnesota, 5,000 persons homeless, many deaths. 13th, 14th, gale in St. George's Channel, many wrecks. 16th, cyclone in Cuba, doing much damage, loss at Havana alone said to be £200,000; cyclone passed on to Florida, causing much loss there. 17th, heavy snow storms in Russia. 23rd, cloud-burst and heavy gale in Bay of Naples, 160 lives lost in one town.

On August 14, 1909, a very severe earthquake did considerable damage in central Japan. In the districts of Lake Biwa, Kyoto, and Osaka many buildings fell, several people were killed, and the train service was completely at a standstill. Nagoya, one of Japan's chief cities, was badly damaged, and it was reported that part of Mount Isuki collapsed with a thunderous roar, its formation being changed.

There was a violent eruption of Smeroe, the highest volcano in Java, during September, which caused great damage. In Loemadjang and the surrounding districts 500 deaths were caused, and bridges, railways, crops, and cattle were destroyed by floods which observers attributed to the previous activity of the volcano.

The island of Shetland experienced a shock of earthquake on October 9 at 2 a.m. Fortunately no damage was done.

On October 21 earthquake shocks occurred at Acireale, Sicily, and much damage was done in the villages of Sorbo, Carico, Lineva, and Mangano. Vesuvius also gave signs of activity. About the same time there was a terrible earthquake reported from India. Bellput station and buildings on the Quetta line were destroyed completely, 39 persons being killed and injured.

A great seismic disturbance was recorded by Professor Milne on the instruments at Shide, Isle of Wight, on November 21. It began at about 8.20 a.m., lasted for an hour, and appeared to come from a distance of 2,240 miles—probably in the Caspian Sea.

From November 18 to about the 26th four small volcanoes in the N.W. of the island of Teneriffe were in eruption.

On December 10 there was an earthquake at Ottowa; and a distant shock was registered at the Melbourne Observatory. On the previous night three distinct shocks were felt at Cape Town.

From about March 20 to April 1, 1910, repeated eruptions of Mount Etna, in Sicily, caused much damage. The lava stream from the volcano, by fresh vigorous eruptions, was set in motion and flowed through the Fra Diavolo district, one branch advancing towards Mount Fusara and another threatening San Leo.

There was a distinct shock at Douglas, Isle of Man, at about 6.7 p.m. on April 7. An almost perfect calm prevailed at the time.

On May 4 the city of Cartage, Costa Rica, was nearly destroyed by an earthquake. Hundreds were killed and the damage done amounted to many millions of dollars.

Earthquake shocks were registered on May 11 at Vienna and in Lower Austria generally; the centre of the disturbance probably lay at Gloggnitz; the shocks caused a panic in several places.

On May 20, between 2.45 p.m. and 3.8 p.m., there were three shocks felt at several places in the valley of the Ochill Hills, and at Bridge of Allan and Alva.

A single strong shock was felt at 12.30 a.m. on June 6 at Montreux, on the Lake of Geneva, and at various places in the Upper Rhône Valley, which caused avalanches on the Dent du Midi. A serious earthquake occurred on June 7 in the province of Avellino, east of Naples. At Calitri, a town containing 7,000 inhabitants, twenty people were reported killed and houses fell.

Another severe earthquake was felt soon after midnight on June 13 at Reggio di Calabria, Mileto, and Gallina, in Italy; and another was experienced at about 10.30 a.m. the day following. The inhabitants were panic-stricken, but no damage was reported. Shocks of earthquake occurred on June 16 in Southern Spain, and buildings were damaged at Almeria. The origin of the disturbance was unknown. On July 13 shocks were felt throughout Upper Bavaria. In Munich they lasted three seconds, and were violent enough to cause a crack in a building near the Diet, and the needle of the seismograph at the earthquake station was thrown off its bearings. A similar shock was experienced at the Meteorological Observatory on the summit of the Zugspitze.

It is thought that continual slight shocks are destroying the celebrated Leaning Tower of Pisa, which has been one of the wonders of the world for nearly six hundred years. It appears that the tower at present is 16½ feet out of the perpendicular, whereas in 1829 it was 15½ feet out; this is a great difference when we consider that the tower is only 179 feet high. The earthquake of 1834 seems to have caused this.

Earthquakes are sometimes felt over very large areas; thus the great Lisbon catastrophe in 1755 disturbed nearly 9,000,000 square miles. The Syrian earthquake of 1759 extended over 90,000 square miles; the Calabrian over 16,000; the Chilian earthquakes of 1822 over 100,000; and that of 1835 over 288,000 miles.

Some of the world's most celebrated volcanoes are as follows:—Erebus, 12,000 feet, and Terror, in the Antarctic regions. Hecla and Skaptar-Jökul in Iceland. Mauna Loa, 13,759 feet; Mauna Kea, 13,951 feet; and Mauna Hualalai 10,000 feet, all in the island of Hawaii.

The chief volcanoes of Europe are Vesuvius, near Naples, 4,000 feet high; Etna, in Sicily, 10,874 feet; and Stromboli, one of the Lipari Isles, 3,000 feet. The first recorded eruption of Vesuvius was on August 24, A.D. 79, when Herculaneum, Pompeii, and Stabiæ were destroyed, and the elder Pliny killed. Amongst other eruptions may be mentioned those of A.D. 203, 472, 1036, and 1500, after which the volcano became quiescent until 1631, when an eruption of terribie violence took place. Four more happened during the same century, and there were others in 1737, 1779, 1794, 1805, 1820, 1822, 1848, and 1855. From 1855 to 1858 eruptions were almost continuous. Others occurred in 1867, 1868, and subsequent years.

The most celebrated American volcanoes are:—

Sangay, S.E. of Quito	...	17,124 ft. high.
Popocatepetl, in Mexico		17,726 ft. ,,
Cotopaxi, S. America	...	18,877 ft. ,,
Sahama, Bolivia	...	22,349 ft. ,,
Pichinchа, near Quito	...	15,923 ft. ,,
Orizaba, Mexico.
Jorullo, Mexico	... ...	1,600 ft. ,,
Mt. Elias, North America		17,851 ft. ,,
Le Souffrier, St. Vincent, West Indies.
Pelée, Martinique.
Tunguragua, S. America.
Antisana, S. America.

The chief Asiatic volcanoes are:—

Tomboro, in the island of Sumbáwa, east of Java. Klutscheu, 15,000 ft., in Kamtschatka. Tengger, Guntur, Galon-goon, and Merapia, all in the island of Java, which contains very many active volcanoes.

Foreign Measures and Weights.

THE following are the values, according to the British standard, of the commoner measures of length, surface, capacity (dry and liquid), and weight in use in foreign countries. Those measures which appear in italics may be regarded as obsolete. The chief authorities which have been consulted are Siegfried's "Münz-, Maass-, und Gewichts-Tabelle" (Leipzig), and Dr. W. A. Browne's "Merchants' Handbook" (Stanford, London). To the latter, inquirers may be referred for fuller information.

The Metric System is fully given on p. 430.

The Metric System was legalized throughout the Empire, Jan. 1, 1872, but French nomenclature is as far as possible avoided. The millimètre is also called Strich; the centimètre, Neu Zoll; the mètre, Stab; the décamètre, Kette; the litre, Kanne; the half-litre, Schoppen; the hectolitre, Fass; the décagramme, Neu Loth; the half-kilogramme, Pfund. The Centner is 50, and the Tonne is 1,000 kilogrammes. The chief obsolete measures are:—

Metric System, introduced 1864; also as in Argentine Republic. Venezuela, the Metrical System, since 1857; and old Spanish.

In the first half of the seventeenth century (1633 has been cited as the best approach to a definite date) we meet with the earliest mention of the introduction of rails for the lessening of friction upon roads. Beams of wood, some six or seven inches in breadth, were about this time laid down to facilitate the draught of the waggons in the vicinity of some of the coal-mines at Newcastle; and as a matter of necessity the addition of "sleepers" had speedily to follow. In 1738, at Whitehaven, it is stated that iron was first substituted as the material of the rails; and in 1767 it appears established that this revolution was adopted at Coalbrookdale, being followed nine years later at the Sheffield Colliery. As yet, however, only thick plates of iron were fastened to the surface of the wooden rails, and it was not till 1789 that "edge rails" were introduced, the credit of their adoption being assigned to William Jessop, on the Loughborough and Nanpantan line. James Watt had conceived the idea of utilizing steam for locomotion, and there is a record of a model locomotive having been used in Cornwall in 1784. George Stephenson, however, in the year 1825, was the first to bring the project fairly into practical shape.

The first Act obtained for the construction of a railway was that of the Surrey Iron Railway Company in 1801, for a line 9½ miles long from Wandsworth to Croydon. In 1804 an Act was passed "for making and maintaining a railway or tramroad from the town of Swansea into the parish of Oystermouth, in the County of Glamorgan, and for the hauling or drawing of waggons or other carriages passing upon the said railway or tramroad with men, horses, or otherwise." On the 21st of February, 1804, Trevithick's patent locomotive steam engine was tried at Penydarran, near Merthyr, and conveyed along a tramroad 10 tons of bar iron, and about 70 persons, a distance of 9 miles. The application passed the third reading as a railway or tramroad. The word "otherwise" was evidently intended to cover the use of Trevithick's engine, and this Act may therefore be considered the first in which steam was contemplated as the motive power. The line is now known as the Swansea and Mumbles Railway. Then followed the Kilmarnock and Troon, the Severn and Wye, the Gloucester and Cheltenham, Plymouth and Dartmoor, Stratford-on-Avon and Moreton, and other small undertakings, about twenty-five in number altogether, with an aggregate of 325 miles, and an authorized capital somewhat over a million. It is almost unnecessary to add that animal power only was contemplated in their working. The Stockton and Darlington Act was obtained in 1821, with a capital of £102,000; and it is remarkable that, while animal power was to be relied upon for working the line, the clause in the Act states "with men and horses or otherwise." George Stephenson came upon the scene immediately after this Act was obtained, and was appointed engineer of the line; and at his urgent request, Edward Pease, the promoter, applied for a new Act empowering the company to work the railway with locomotive engines. Great opposition was encountered, but the Bill finally passed in 1823, and the line, which was 25 miles in length, was opened on the 27th of September, 1825. The Monkland and Kirkintilloch Railway, a colliery line near Glasgow, opened in 1826, was really the first to follow the example of the Stockton and Darlington, and several other small lines—many of them worked partly by fixed and partly by locomotive engines—quickly adopted the new traction power. The inauguration of the Liverpool and Manchester line in 1830, attended as it was with a tragic result, was the first to impress upon the people that a revolution in travelling had really taken place. Leicester to Swannington came next, but that from London to Birmingham was the largest that had yet been projected. A great struggle took place with landowners and other influential personages, opposed not only to this Bill in particular, but to the introduction of railways generally. Undaunted courage and perseverance on the part of the promoters prevailed, and the Bill, which was rejected in 1832, passed in 1833, but not until landowners and others had been conciliated by having the price originally estimated for their land, &c., doubled and even trebled. The expenses of carrying this Bill, which was probably the most momentous Parliamentary campaign in the history of railways, were over £70,000. The line was opened throughout in 1838, and the first train accomplished the distance at an average speed of over twenty miles an hour. The tide of public opinion was now fairly turned, and ran as strongly in favour of railways as it had before been against them. The Grand Junction, the London and Greenwich, London and Southampton, the Great Western, Birmingham and Derby, Bristol and Exeter, Eastern Counties, Manchester and Leeds, Midland Counties, North Midland, South Eastern, London and Croydon, Birmingham and Gloucester, together with a large number of small Bills, were all passed in four years from the passing of the London and Birmingham Bill, and before that line was opened. Thus in four or five years was witnessed the laying of the foundations of nearly all the existing great trunk lines of railway in this country.

Up to 1840, inclusive, notwithstanding the delays and difficulties which surrounded railway projectors, even in the earliest stages of legislation, 299 Acts, authorizing the construction of 3,000 miles of line, had been passed. The inevitable reaction set in, and in 1841–2–3 only a few small Bills were passed by the Legislature; but as the Liverpool and Manchester, the London and Birmingham, and other leading concerns were paying 10 per cent. dividends, and some of the smaller lines were yielding even larger returns, attention was naturally drawn to the remunerative character of this class of property, and the supply of railway shares became far below the demand. A flood of new projects appeared before the public, and the Legislature even, labouring apparently under the general excitement, encouraged promoters by relaxing or withdrawing the general opposition which had previously been offered. In 1844, 797 miles were authorized; in 1845, 2,883 miles; and in 1846, the prodigious total of 4,790 miles, under no less than 272 Acts, obtained Parliamentary sanction. The succeeding years saw some abatement, but still there were 1,663 miles passed in 1847, and 300 in 1848. These figures illustrate the rise and fall of the great fever known as the "railway mania."

The Railways Regulation Act of 1840, the first of the General Acts, provided for a month's notice being given to the Board of Trade before opening; for returns of traffic to be made by the companies, as also of accidents involving personal injury; for Government inspection of works, for the approval of bye-laws, &c. Afterwards were passed Acts for their better regulation, and for the conveyance of troops, 1842, the Railways Further Regulation Act of 1844, the Railways Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, and the Canal and Railway Carriers Act of the same session. Then followed legislation on the leasing and sale of railways, on the gauge, on cheap trains, passenger duty, &c.

RAILWAYS IN 1909.

The number of persons employed in working the railways of the United Kingdom in 1909 was 621,341, and there were in use 23,840 locomotive engines, 51,857 carriages for the conveyance of passengers, 20,024 other vehicles attached to passenger trains, 745,348 waggons for the conveyance of live stock, minerals, and general merchandise, and 21,281 miscellaneous vehicles.

Capital embarked in Railways.—The total amount of capital authorized by Parliament to be raised for the construction of railways in the United Kingdom amounted on the 31st December, 1909, to £1,403,187,813. Of this sum, £1,314,406,642 (which includes £196,681,000 nominal capital caused by the consolidation or conversion of stocks) exists and forms the capital account of the various railway companies, and shows an increase over the year 1908 of £3,873,430, or 0·2 per cent. The £1,314,406,642 is composed of £125,062,022 guaranteed, £339,641,395 debenture, £344,590,693 preferential, and £493,120,763 ordinary stocks and shares, besides a sum of £11,991,769 raised by loans. The net receipts for the year amount to £45,136,464, equal to 3·43 per cent. on the total capital sunk, as compared with £43,486,526 in 1908, with a corresponding capital of £1,310,533,212, which gave a net receipt of 3·32 per cent. It may be seen, therefore, from the foregoing figures that the total amount of capital raised at the close of the year was over £1,314,000,000, of which about £197,000,000, or approximately 15 per cent., was due to nominal additions. These nominal additions formed approximately 18½ per cent. of the ordinary stock, 13 per cent. of the guaranteed and preference, and 12½ per cent. of the loans and debenture stocks. The total amounts of capital at the end of 1909 compared with 1908 show an increase of about £1,000,000 in the ordinary, £1,250,000 in the guaranteed and preference, and £1,000,000 in the loans and debenture stocks, making a total increase of £3,250,000. The proportions which the various classes of stock bore to the total paid-up capital differed but slightly from the year 1908, the ordinary stock forming 37½ per cent., the guarantee and preference 35¾ per cent., and loans and debenture stock 26¾ per cent. of the total. The proportion of net earnings to capital shows a general tendency to decline. This, however, arises partly from nominal additions to capital on the conversion of stocks, such nominal additions now representing, as already stated, 15 per cent. of the total capital of the companies. Another cause of the decline is the increased wages and curtailment of the hours of labour of railway servants, and the rapid growth of local taxation, which is increasing in an alarmingly disproportionate ratio to the net profit and to the benefits which the companies derive from the expenditure of the rates. That this burden of taxation shows a constant tendency to grow heavier year by year is illustrated by the fact that while for the year 1900 an amount of £3,757,153 was paid by the Railway Companies for rates and taxes, in 1909 the amount had increased to £5,010,378, giving an addition of £1,253,225 in ten years, under this expenditure.

Gross Earnings of the Railways.—The earnings for the year 1909 amounted to £120,174,052, as compared with £119,894,327 for the year 1908, which gives an increase of £279,725, equal to 0·2 per cent. The decrease in the passenger receipts is £665,624, made up as follows:—

	1909. £	1908. £	Inc. or Dec. £

* For 1908 and 1909 the equivalent number of holders of annual tickets is given. Previous to 1902 the returns were not wholly but only partially on this basis; they are, as regards the years 1902 to 1909, on a uniform basis.

The falling-off in receipts from second class passengers travelling with ordinary, as distinct from season tickets, follows similar but rather smaller decreases in each of the years 1904–8. On the other hand, the falling-off in receipts from third class passengers follows a series of annual increases, unbroken since 1899, and almost continuous throughout the whole period covered by these returns.

The numbers of second class passengers given in table are not strictly comparable with those for years earlier than 1905. Since that year there has been a falling-off of nearly 22 millions in the number of second class passengers, and first class passengers have decreased by 7 millions.

The decrease in the number of third class ordinary passengers in 1909 is the first recorded in these returns. It appears to be largely attributable to the circumstance that the Exhibition held at Shepherd's Bush in 1908 attracted visitors in much greater numbers than did the Exhibition held on the same site in 1909. Unsettled weather and increased tramway competition also appear to have been contributory causes.

The number of passengers conveyed by the "tube" railways of the Metropolis exceeded 168 millions in 1909, as compared with 161 millions in 1908. The fact that these passengers travel by trains in which there is no distinction of classes must be borne in mind in comparing the decreases in the numbers shown in table, in which all passengers by such trains are included with the third class total.

The receipts from season ticket holders show a further considerable increase, following on those of previous years, the increase in the receipts from third class season tickets having been in 1904, £171,000; in 1905, £131,000; in 1906, £137,000; in 1907, £134,000; in 1908, £96,000; and in 1909, £89,000. The earnings for the conveyance of parcels, mails, and such other traffic as is generally carried by passenger trains, amounted in 1909 to £9,254,873, as compared with £9,048,674 in 1908, being an increase of £206,199, or 2·3. The total figures of traffic falling under the heading of "goods" are £59,477,205, as compared with £58,888,347 in 1908—an increase of £588,858, or 1·0. The aggregate is made up of £29,577,682 from merchandise; £28,405,390 from minerals; and £1,494,133 from live stock. The total quantity of goods carried in 1909 was 499,909,791 tons, as compared with 491,595,056 tons in 1908, showing an increase of 8,314,735 tons, or 1·7 per cent.; owing, however, to the revision of the list of articles included under the head of "minerals," the tonnages of minerals and general merchandise previous to the years 1903, 1904, 1905, 1906, 1907, 1908, and 1909 are not comparable with those for previous years.

Expenditure. The total working expenses of the whole of the railways for the year 1909 amounted to £75,037,588, equal to 62 per cent. of the gross earnings, as compared with a total of £76,407,801 for the year 1908, equal to 64 per cent. The decrease compared with 1908 amounts to £1,370,213, or 1·8 per cent. The total number of miles travelled by passenger and goods trains during the year 1909 was 419,246,301, or 3,953,844 less than in 1908. Analysing the expenditure, we find the item £20,428,435 for locomotive power; £6,282,945 for repairs and renewals of carriages, &c.; £11,140,594 for maintenance of permanent way, stations, &c.; and £21,490,966 for traffic expenses. The locomotive expenses in 1909 amounted to 11·72*d.* per train-mile.

Compensation.—The amount paid for compensation for personal injuries sustained during the year 1909 amounted to £118,988, as compared with £114,980 for the year 1908, resulting in an increase of £4,008. In the movement of goods the companies have paid for damages and losses £372,989, as compared with £437,603 in 1908—a decrease of £64,614. We subjoin a statement showing the amounts paid by the principal companies under both heads:—

The Midland Railway Company took the initiative in passenger traffic reforms, having run third-class carriages by all trains from 1st April, 1872; afterwards, from 1st January, 1875, greatly reducing the first-class and abolishing second-class fares. From 1st November, 1892, the Great Northern Railway Company also abolished second-class fares to all stations north of Hatfield; from 1st January, 1893, the Great Eastern abolished them in the provinces; the Cambrian followed on 1st May of the same year, but re-introduced them in 1899. They have also disappeared from all journeys between London and Scotland, and on the 1st of July, 1897, the Furness Company discontinued second-class accommodation. On July 1st, 1905, the Metropolitan District Company commenced to work their electric train service, the cars being first and third class only; and from 1st October, 1908, the Great Western issued first and third class tickets only on the South Wales branches, and on 1st October, 1910, second class was completely abolished on this system.

Net Result of Working the Railways.—As regards the actual net earnings of the companies in 1909, the total gross receipts (including about 9½ millions sterling received from steamboats, canals, hotels, and other miscellaneous sources) amounted in the year to £120,174,000, and the total working expenditure to £75,038,000. The net receipts, therefore, amounted to £45,136,000, as against £43,486,000 in the previous year. The proportion of net earnings to capital was 3·43 per cent., as compared with 3·32 per cent. in 1908. The amount of paid-up capital increased during the year by about £3¼ millions. The average rates of dividend paid on the ordinary and preferential capital respectively rose from 2·99 per cent. and 3·42 per cent. in 1908, to 3·15 per cent. and 3·46 per cent. in 1909, the rates on the other classes of capital remaining substantially unchanged.

The following statement compares the average proportion of net earnings to capital in each quinquennial period from 1871–75 to 1901–05, and in the quadrennial period 1906–09:—

Years.	Proportion of Total Net Earnings to Capital. Per cent.
Average of 1871–75	4·56
,, 1876–80	4·29
,, 1881–85	4·22
,, 1886–90	4·07
,, 1891–95	3·80
,, 1896–1900 ...	3·64
,, 1901–05	3·38
,, 1906–09 (four years)	3·42

The proportion, it will be observed, shows a general tendency to decline, though this tendency has been checked in recent years. The decline, however, arises in part from nominal additions to capital on the conversion of stocks, such nominal additions now representing, as already stated, 15 per cent. of the total capital of the companies.

RAILWAY ACCIDENTS.

To the public generally, one of the most interesting points in connection with the working of the railways is the immunity from accidents, as evidenced for a considerable number of years past in the amount paid by the companies by way of compensation for personal injury to passengers. In 1908 and 1909 the cost per passenger train-mile for personal injury was 1·04*d.* and 1·08*d.* respectively. In loss and damage of goods, the cost in 1908 was 0·66*d.*, and in 1909 0·58*d.* per goods train-mile. The number of personal accidents on railways to passengers, railway servants, and others, reported to the Board of Trade during the year, show a total of 1,036 killed and 28,384 injured (as compared with 1,128 killed and 28,485 injured in 1908).

We will now proceed to investigate under three distinct heads, viz., accidents to passengers, accidents to railway servants, and accidents to persons other than passengers or railway servants, and the various causes from which these accidents arose:—

3rd. Accidents to Persons other than Passengers or Servants. Under this head is classed casualties whilst passing over railways at level crossings; this caused 63 deaths and 36 injuries in 1909 (as compared with 51 deaths and 44 injuries in 1908). There were 249 deaths and 118 injuries resulting from persons trespassing on the railways, and 210 persons committed suicide upon the lines in 1909 (as compared with 188 in 1908).

The Cheap Trains Act, 1883, provides that fares not exceeding the rate of one penny per mile shall be exempt from duty, but fares for return or periodical tickets shall be exempt from duty only where the ordinary fare for the single journey does not exceed that rate. Duty shall be payable at a reduced rate of 2 per cent. on fares exceeding the rate of one penny a mile between stations within one urban district. Such district will contain not less than one hundred thousand inhabitants, and must be of a continuous urban as distinguished from a rural or suburban character.

Officers or men in the King's forces, regular, reserve, or auxiliary, or in any police force, when conveyed by railway on any occasion for the public service, are, when travelling in bodies under one hundred and fifty in number, to be charged three-fourths the rates for ordinary passengers; when over that number, at half rates. The Act does not extend to Ireland.

Hiring of Special Trains.—Although the majority of railway companies have no fixed charges for hire of special trains, the general charges are five shillings per mile, plus the ordinary fare for each passenger according to class of vehicle hired. The railway companies, however, reserve to themselves the right to make whatever charges they may think fit in accordance with circumstances of hiring special trains.

The Workmen's Compensation Act, 1897.—This Act, which received the Royal assent on August 6, 1897, came into operation on July 1, 1898. The amount paid for compensation under this Act to railway employees during the year 1909 was £249,961.

THE RAILWAY CLEARING HOUSE.

This Institution was opened in Jan. 1842, and in addition to the work of clearing through bookings of passenger and luggage traffic, is the medium through which agreements relating to rates and fares, &c., are arrived at. Chairman, Charles Mortimer; Secretary, Frank Mansfield; Offices, Seymour Street, N.W.

Indian Railways.

THE construction of Railways in India commenced in 1853, and the total length open on 31st December, 1909, was 31,490 miles. This mileage includes tramways working outside municipal limits, which are treated as light railways. They are controlled by a Board consisting of a Chairman and two members. The present Chairman is Lt.-Col. Sir F. R. Upcott, K.C.V.O., C.S.I.; and the two members are Mr. W. H. Wood and Sir T. R. Wynne, K.C.I.E. The capital outlay was £286,554,667. The gross receipts for 1909 amounted to £31,375,867; the working expenses to £17,589,867, or 56·06 per cent. of gross receipts. The net revenue amounted to £13,786,000, which gave a return of 4·81 per cent. per annum upon the capital invested. The number of passengers carried in the year was over 329 millions. The Indian Railways have in their service 515,703 employees, of whom 7,283 are Europeans, 9,698 Eurasians, and 498,722 Natives. The number of servants killed and injured during the year from all causes was 365 killed and 662 injured; passengers, 190 killed and 614 injured; other persons, 1,376 killed and 347 injured; total, 1,931 killed and 1,623 injured.

The Railways of India have up to the end of 1899 involved a yearly loss to the Indian revenues, but the working of the year 1900 resulted for the first time in their history in a net gain to the State, and for 7 consecutive years the working showed a gain, until the year 1908, which resulted in a loss of £1,557,596 to the Government, owing to the abnormal trade depression and the calamity of famine during that year. The net gain to the Government for the year 1909 is £114,387.

Indian Railways.

STATEMENT OF CAPITAL, REVENUE, DIVIDENDS, &c.

In the year 1894 an Act was passed making it legal for Indian Railway Companies to pay interest out of capital during construction, subject to the Secretary of State's specific sanction, and to certain other conditions.

* In addition, there were launched in the United Kingdom during 1909 42 Warships of 126,230 tons displacement, of which 35, of 98,790 tons, were for the British Government.

Of the merchant steamers (465 in all) launched in the United Kingdom during 1909 6 vessels were over 10,000 tons, the largest being the Balmoral Castle, of 13,361 tons: 13 were between 6,000 and 10,000; 74 were between 4,000 and 6,000 tons each; and 171 were between 1,000 and 4,000 tons. No sailing vessels of over 1,000 tons were launched in the United Kingdom during 1909.

* The figures for this date include vessels preparing, but not actually commenced.

These figures show that the average size of vessels building at the present time is nearly 4½ times that of vessels built thirty-five years ago. Then, steel was not used for shipbuilding purposes; now, it has entirely supplanted iron. Then, the tonnage in hand was equally divided between steamers and sailing vessels; now, the proportion of sailing to steam tonnage is insignificant.

° Lloyd's Register Book does not include vessels trading on the Caspian Sea nor wooden vessels trading on the Great Lakes of North America.

† In the absence of satisfactory information the records of numerous small sailing vessels (belonging chiefly to Greece, Turkey, Southern Russia, and the Dutch East Indies) have been omitted from the Register Book.

‡ Japanese sailing vessels of under 300 tons net are not recorded in Lloyd's Register Book.

Ocean Mercantile Fleets—British and Foreign.

FIRST STEAMBOATS—EARLIEST LINES—HISTORICAL SKETCHES—EVOLUTION FROM STEAM PACKET TO STEAM PALACE ON THE ATLANTIC—OWNERS OF THE LARGEST FLEETS, STEAM AND SAIL—BIGGEST AND FASTEST STEAMERS.

IN the early part of the 18th century numerous inventors propounded schemes for applying steam power to vessels to be run upon rivers and canals, but only their names can be given in the chronological list of the first steamboats (vide page 753).

1824 witnessed the birth in England of the railway system. With the introduction of the "iron horse" the General Steam Navigation Company arose to champion the adoption of steam. The national benefits calculated to result from steam power, enabling vessels to enter and quit harbour regardless of wind and tide, were emphasised by the directors in the prospectus. Ocean trade was then carried on with sailing ships, mostly under 500 tons each, and all the steamboats in the United Kingdom only numbered 109.

Since the beginning of the last reign, steam-propelled vessels have vanquished the time-honoured "clippers." Iron for building purposes, being stronger, supplanted wood, but had itself to yield to steel as soon as that lighter material could be produced cheaply.

The "auxiliary screw" only stayed long enough to enable the unobtrusive "propeller" to make sure of superseding, for ocean services, the unwieldy "paddle-wheels." "Compound engines," which largely reduced coal consumption, paved the way for "triple-expansion" ones. These were next duplicated to drive "twin screws," with which all steamers of the highest class are fitted, and now steam turbines, having been tried successfully, have been adapted to the largest and fastest liners, increased speed per indicated horse-power, diminished coal consumption, and reductions in weight of machinery, engine-room staff and vibration being obtained.

Space being so limited, the evolution "from steam packet to steam palace" in the North Atlantic trade is presented in tabular form (page 754).

To Canada belongs the credit of having built and engined the first steamer to cross the Atlantic. This was the Royal William, launched at Wolfe's Cove, Quebec, 1831. In 1833 she went from Pictou, N.S., to Gravesend, arriving Sept. 11th, after 22 days' passage.

The pioneer steamer from the Old World to the New was the Cork packet Sirius. Leaving Cork April 5th, 1838, she reached New York April 23rd, having been compelled to burn everything available. On the same day the Great Western, the first specially built for the Atlantic service, paddled in, having left Bristol April 8th—a wonderfully quick passage of 14½ days. A third company started with the Royal William; she was the earliest steamer with watertight compartments, and the first to cross from Liverpool, July, 1838, taking 19 days.

The Royal William had been chartered from the City of Dublin Steam Packet Company, now the oldest steamship company in the world.

The Irish company was practically the godfather of the Peninsular and Oriental Company, so called when the mail services upon this side of Egypt were combined in 1839 under the time-honoured flag of the "P. & O.," which received its charter in 1840.

The failure of the earliest Atlantic companies did not deter the establishment and development of the Cunard Company. Samuel Cunard, to the discomfiture and astonishment of the Great Western Company, secured the subsidy of £80,000 a year for a monthly Atlantic service of 4 steamers. The gun-brigs were thereupon superseded as mail carriers, and a brighter era was auspiciously commenced by the despatch of the Britannia, 1,139 tons, on July 4th, 1840.

In 1839, the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company undertook the conveyance of mails to the West Indies at a time when a steam passage of even a fortnight's duration was to many a subject of wonder, and in 1840 the Pacific Steam Navigation Company was formed to run a service between Panama and Valparaiso.

Owing to the revolution mechanical science caused in the carrying trade of the sea, antiquity by itself counted gradually less even in the conservative kingdom of the sailor, and as the old order changed, shipowners who neglected to advance with the growing wants of the times fell out or dropped behind. As the size of steamships increased, the heavy cost of construction necessitated the establishment of corporations with great strength of capital, which control the principal ocean routes. The origin of each leading company is briefly outlined in a series of "Historical Sketches," and the largest British and foreign owners are referred to.

The Great Britain was 322 × 40 × 31; tonnage 3,270; h.p. 1,500.

The Great Eastern was 680 feet long, paddle engines 1,710 h.p. and screw engines 1,000 h.p.; tonnage, 18,918; 14 knots speed; daily coal consumption, 300 tons; longest day's run, 333 knots.

Some homeward runs by clippers were of sufficient interest to be chronicled here. The Red Jacket in 1854 crossed from New York to the Mersey in 13 days; the Dreadnought, 1,413 tons, 220 × 45 × 26, eclipsed all previous runs in 1856, when she reeled off between Sandy Hook and Queenstown the enduring record of 9 days 17 hours. The Thermopylæ's maiden voyage in 1868, of 60 days between London and Melbourne, remains the fastest ever known. In 1869 the Patriarch, 1,339 tons, made for the same owners (the Aberdeen Line) the record passage of 68 days between London and Sydney.

In 1814 the steamboats of all kinds registered in the United Kingdom amounted to less than 1,000 tons, increased to nearly 8,000 tons by 1820. There were 766 British steamers afloat in 1838, in all just short of 150,000 tons. The invaluable Register Book which is published by the Committee of Lloyd's Register of British and Foreign Shipping shows that on June 30th, 1910, nearly every other steamer upon the high seas was under the British ensign, the steamship empire-builders of Greater Britain owning 9,837 vessels, 18,059,037 gross tons, exclusive of 1,658 ships (953,257 tons) belonging to the dwindling disciples of time-honoured canvas.

The British flag still flies over nearly one-half of the entire shipping tonnage of the world, but this preponderance is steadily decreasing, and a perusal of the statistical tables which are appended evidences the ever-increasing activity of foreign nations for the carrying trade of the sea.

FIRST STEAMBOATS, PIONEER SAILINGS AND EARLIEST LINES.

1707. Denis Papin experimented on River Fulda with paddle-wheel steamboat.

1736. Jonathan Hulls patented designs similar to modern paddle boat.

1769. James Watt invented a double-acting side-lever engine.

1783. Marquess of Jouffrey made experiments in France.

1785. James Ramsey, in America, propelled a boat with steam through a stern-pipe.

1785. Robert Fitch, in America, propelled a boat with canoe-paddles fixed to a moving beam.

1787. Robert Miller, of Edinburgh, tried primitive manual machinery.

1788. Miller, with Symington, produced a double-hull stern-wheel steamboat.

1802. Charlotte Dundas, the first practical steam tugboat, designed by Symington.

1804. Phœnix, screw-boat designed by Stephens in New York; first steamer to make a sea voyage.

1807. Clermont, first passenger steamer continuously employed; built by Fulton in U.S.A.

1812. Comet, first passenger steamer continuously employed in Europe; built by Miller in Scotland.

1818. Rob Roy, first sea-trading steamer in the world; built at Glasgow.

1819. Savannah, first auxiliary steamer, paddle wheels, to cross the Atlantic; built in New York.

1821. Aaron Manby, first steamer (English canal boat) built of iron.

1823. City of Dublin Steam Packet Co. was established.

1824. General Steam Navigation Co. was established at London.

1824. George Thompson & Co. (Aberdeen Line) were established.

1825. Enterprise made the first steam passage to India.

1825. William Fawcett, pioneer steamer of the P. & O. S. N. Co.

1830. T. & J. Harrison (Harrison Line) were established at Liverpool.

1832. Elburkah, iron steamer, took a private exploring party up the Niger.

1834. Lloyd's Register for British and Foreign Shipping established.

1836. F. Green & Co. established at London.

1836. Austrian Lloyd Steam Navigation Co. established at Trieste.

1837. Francis B. Ogden, first successful screw tugboat; fitted with Ericsson's propeller.

1838. Archimedes, made the Dover-Calais passage under two hours, fitted with Smith's propeller.

1838. R. F. Stockton, built for a tugboat, fitted with Ericsson's propeller, sailed to America; first iron vessel to cross the Atlantic; first screw steamer used in America.

1839. Thames, pioneer steamer of the Royal Mail Steam Packet Co.

1839. George Smith & Sons (City Line) were established at Glasgow.

1840. Britannia, pioneer steamer of the Cunard Line.

1840. Chile, pioneer steamer of the Pacific Steam Navigation Co.

1845. Great Britain, first iron screw steamer, precursor of modern Atlantic steamer.

1845. Thos. Wilson, Sons & Co., Ltd. (Wilson Line) established at Hull.

1847. Pacific Mail Steamship Co. established in America.

1849. Houlder Brothers & Co. established at London.

1850. Bullard, King & Co. (Natal Line) established at London.

1850. Messageries Maritimes de France established.

1850. Inman (now American) Line, established at Liverpool.

1851. Tiber, first steamer of the Bibby Line, established 1821 at Liverpool.

1852. Forerunner, pioneer steamer of the African Steamship Co.

1853. Union Steamship Co. was established (now Union-Castle Line).

ABERDEEN LINE, between London and Australia vid South Africa, is managed by the owners, Messrs. George Thompson & Co., Ltd. (founded at Aberdeen, 1824), who have long occupied a prominent position in the Australian cargo and passenger trades, due to the "runs" of their noted clippers to Melbourne and to Sydney, the general high standard of their fleet, and its exceptional immunity from loss over more than half a century. The present fleet consists purely of steamers. In 1904 two fast twin-screw passenger vessels of 6,800 tons—the Marathon and Miltiades—were built, and the company have now under construction two steamers of 12,000 tons—the Themistocles and Demosthenes. Both commence running early in 1911 and the Demosthenes will be the first turbine steamer trading between Australia and the United Kingdom. The Aberdeen Line carry first and third class passengers only, and a very large proportion of their cabins are single-berth.

Fleet, 6 vessels; 45,000 tons.

AFRICAN STEAMSHIP COMPANY, the earliest African line, originated from a private expedition of the Elburkah up the Niger in 1832, its success leading to others for opening up the West Coast of Africa or suppressing the slave trade. This company received its charter in 1852, with an annual subsidy of £30,000 for a monthly mail, passenger, and freight service performed continuously ever since, the pioneer boats Forerunner, Faith, Hope, and Charity rendering valuable aid in the Crimean War. In 1891 the company came (see p. 760) under the management of Messrs. Elder, Dempster & Company, of Liverpool, and now maintains seven distinct services from Liverpool, Hamburg, Rotterdam, and Antwerp to West and South-West Africa, the one from the last-mentioned port being under contract with the Congo Free State.

Fleet, 28 steamers; 87,273 tons.

ALLAN LINE.—The Allan Line of Steamers was originally called the Montreal Ocean Steamship Company, formed by the Allan Brothers, who, as sailing-ship owners, had been connected with Canada since June, 1819, when the founder of the line, Alexander Allan, sailed in command of his brig Jean, of 73 tons register, from Greenock to Quebec, since which the connexion with Canada has been continuous. The mail service began in April, 1856, with the sailing of the North American. The line has since continued to meet and promote the postal, commercial, and passenger requirements of the now vast Dominion, and has carried the mails nearly the whole of the time and is still doing so. Since 1859, sailings have been weekly. The steamers go to Halifax and St. John, N.B., when the St. Lawrence is closed. The itinerary includes Glasgow, Liverpool, Londonderry, and London, embracing on the other side, in addition to several Canadian ports, Boston, New York, Philadelphia, and the River Plate. In 1905 the Virginian and Victorian (540′×60′×40′ 6″: 17½ knots), the first turbine-propelled Atlantic steamers, successfully augmented the service; both have beaten all records, the passage of Virginian (10,754 tons) in August, 1908, between Rimouski and North of Ireland in 5 days 4 hours being the fastest. In August, 1909, the Victorian made the passage from Liverpool to Montreal, including all stoppages and delays, in 6 days 22 hours, running at an average speed of 18·4 knots per hour. Time from land to land 3 days 22 hours. The largest steamer is the Corsican, 11,436 tons. Hesperian and Grampian are the latest additions.

Fleet, 25 steamers; 154,958·87 tons.

AMERICAN LINE (see International Mercantile Marine Co.).—The International Navigation Co., the proprietary organisation, established in Philadelphia, 1871, started between Philadelphia and Liverpool (calling at Queenstown), 1873, with the four American-built, brig-rigged screw steamers Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, and Indiana, which, supplemented by the British steamers Abbotsford and Kenilworth, formed a regular weekly line. In 1886 the company acquired the Inman Line—which had been running in Liverpool-New York trade since 1856—then composed of the passenger steamers City of Montreal, City of Berlin, City of Richmond, City of Chicago, and City of Chester, and continued to employ these steamers under the name of the Inman & International Steamship Co., Ltd. In 1887 a contract was entered into with Messrs. J. & G. Thomson, Clydebank, to build the City of New York and City of Paris, the pioneers of twin-screw passenger ships in the Atlantic trade, and the largest steamers then afloat. In 1893 the Inman & International Steamship Co., Ltd., was merged into the American Line, the mail steamers exchanging Liverpool for Southampton, their names being shortened to the bare titles of cities. The New York and Paris (the latter since re-named Philadelphia) were, under special Act of Congress, naturalised into United States register. In 1895 the William Cramp & Sons Ship & Engine Building Co., Philadelphia, delivered the steel twin-screw steamships St. Louis and St. Paul, each 11,629 tons. These, with the New York, 10,798 tons, and Philadelphia, 10,786 tons, did good service as fast cruisers in Spanish-American War. The four steamers named perform weekly mail service between Southampton and New York, calling at Cherbourg West-bound, and Plymouth and Cherbourg East-bound.

The Liverpool-Philadelphia service of the American Line is now maintained by the twin-screw steamers Haverford and Merion, each 11,621 tons, Friesland, 6,409 tons, and Southwark, 8,607 tons, forming a regular weekly line from Liverpool Wednesdays, from Philadelphia Saturdays, calling at Queenstown on both the West-bound and East-bound voyages.

Fleet, 8 steamers; 80,303 tons.

ANCHOR LINE.—In 1852 a service was established from the Clyde to Portuguese and Spanish ports extending later to upper Mediterranean ports. Some years later additional services between Glasgow and New York viâ Moville; Mediterranean and New York; and Glasgow and Liverpool to Bombay, and to Calcutta were inaugurated, which trades have since been vigorously prosecuted with fine steamers, the sizes increasing with the development of the trades. Columbia, 8,202 tons, Caledonia, 9,222 tons, and California, 8,662 tons, are latest additions to New York service; a sister ship to the latter is building. Olympia, 5,124 tons, Mavilia, 5,091 tons, Circassia, 6,716 tons, and Castalia, 6,388 tons, and Elysia, 6,368 tons, have recently been added to Indian service, while two new vessels are at present in course of construction. About 90,000 passengers are carried annually.

Fleet, 21 steamers; 130,502 tons.

ANGLO-AMERICAN OIL COMPANY, Ltd., founded in 1888 to carry on the business of oil merchants and shipowners, now owns a fleet of 30 steamers (128,000 tons gross), 14 sailing vessels (38,388 tons net), and 35 lighters and 2 tugs (2,000 tons). The company was founded for the transportation of petroleum and its products in bulk and otherwise from the United States to port or ports in the United Kingdom. The largest vessel owned by the company is the s.s. Narragansett, of 9,196 tons gross and 5,776 tons net, the largest sailing vessel being the Navahoe, of 6,965 tons net. The company also owns the s.s. Iroquois, which vessel carries on the unique performance of towing the sailing barque Navahoe in ballast across to the United States, and back again to the United Kingdom with cargo.

Fleet, 44 vessels; 166,388 tons.

London Office, 36–38, Queen Anne's Gate, Westminster, S.W.

THE ANGLO-SAXON PETROLEUM COMPANY, Ltd., which was founded in 1907 to carry on the combined business relative to the tank steamers and oil installations of the "Shell" Transport and Trading Company, Ltd., the Royal Dutch Petroleum Co., and the Asiatic Petroleum Co., Ltd., has now a fleet owned or managed by them of 38 steamers, 6 ocean-going lighters and 4 tugs, with a gross tonnage of nearly 130,000 tons, and a carrying capacity of about 160,000 tons of kerosene. The trade in which these craft are engaged is the transport of petroleum and its products in bulk or in cases from the producing centres in Sumatra and Borneo to ports all over the world, and especially for the conveyance of benzine in bulk to Europe and to the United States. Most of the steamers belonging to the company are fitted for oil-fuel burning, and are so constructed as to be speedily converted from oil-fuel to coal burning or vice versâ as circumstances require.

London Office, 21 Bury Street, St. Mary Axe, E.C.

ATLANTIC TRANSPORT CO., Ltd. (see International Mercantile Marine Co.), originated in London in 1886. In 1889 the boats were all transferred to the Atlantic Transport Co., Ltd., registered in London for the purpose, the prime movers and principal stock-holders being Americans. The company in 1896 purchased the controlling interest in the National Steamship Co., a line which dated back to 1863 and, after flourishing into front rank, declined by degrees. When the Atlantic Transport Co. commenced, a line was run from London to Baltimore, viâ Swansea; soon Philadelphia was added to the itinerary, subsequent growth leading to a service to New York, necessitating large steamers built specially for the carriage of cargo, refrigerated meat and live stock, together with only first-class passengers. Saloon accommodation has increased from 50 to 250, which can be carried by the new twin-screw steamers Minnehaha, 13,443 tons, Minneapolis, 13,448 tons, Minnetonka, 13,440 tons, and Minnewaska, 14,317 tons.

Fleet, 16 steamers; 123,654 tons.

London Office, 38, Leadenhall Street, E.C.

AUSTRIAN LLOYD STEAM NAVIGATION COMPANY, established in 1836, belongs to Trieste, whence services are kept up to and from Adriatic, Mediterranean, and Levant ports, served by three branch lines. There is an accelerated fortnightly mail service between Trieste and Bombay; also an ordinary monthly service as between Trieste, Bombay, China, and Japan. The itinerary now includes a monthly line to Calcutta. The largest steamers are the Austria, 7,588 tons, and Erzerzog Franz Ferdinand, 6,046 tons, Nippon, 6,350 tons, and Vorwaerts, 5,990 tons.

Fleet, 66 steamers; 234,252 tons.

BIBBY LINE.—This line was founded in 1807 by Mr. John Bibby, the grandfather of the present representatives, the fleet at that time consisting of small sailing vessels. In 1851 the steam fleet was commenced with the Tiber and the Arno. In 1891 the Lancashire, whose passage of 23 days 20 hours, in July, from Liverpool to Rangoon stands the fastest, started the present service, which runs to Colombo and Rangoon, viâ Marseilles, from which port of call Ceylon is 18 days' passage, and Burmah 23. The fast and modern steamers of this line, which belong chiefly to the Bibby family, are all built by Harland & Wolff, and authorised by the Indian Government for officers returning on expiry of furlough, it being the recognised route to Burmah; easy connexions being made with Southern India generally by a daily steam service between Colombo and Tuticorin. Largest steamer, Gloucestershire, 8,100 tons.

Fleet, 8 steamers; 56,864 tons.

London Office, 10 & 11, Mincing Lane, E.C.

THE "BLUE FUNNEL" LINE (OCEAN STEAM SHIP COMPANY, Ltd., and CHINA MUTUAL STEAM NAVIGATION CO., Ltd.).—The Ocean Steam Ship Company was formed in 1865 by Mr. Alfred Holt. The Agamemnon began the line on April 19th, 1866, sailing from Liverpool for Singapore and China viâ Mauritius. The Cape route was given up on the opening of the Suez Canal. The company maintains (in conjunction with the China Mutual S.N.C., Ltd., which was formed in 1882, and of which Messrs. Alfred Holt & Co. acquired the control in 1902) a weekly service of cargo steamers from Glasgow, Bristol Channel ports, and Liverpool to the Straits Settlements, China, and Japan, with a four-weekly extension across the Pacific to British Columbia and Puget Sound; a three-weekly one from Amsterdam viâ Liverpool to Sumatra and Java, and another between Singapore and West Australian ports. In 1901 a monthly cargo service was begun from Glasgow to Australia. This has now been converted into a three-weekly service run in conjunction with three passenger steamers which were specially built for the Australian trade in 1910. These are the Aeneas, Ascanius, and Anchises, each of over 10,000 tons and fitted with saloon accommodation amidships for nearly 300 passengers. Among other large ships belonging to the line are the Antilochus, Bellerophon, Cyclops, Keemun, Ningchow, Oanfa, Protesilaus, Teucer, and Titan of 9,000 tons each.

Fleet, 66 steamers; 397,620 tons.

THE BOOTH LINE was founded in 1866 by Messrs. Alfred Booth & Co., of Liverpool. In 1869 Messrs. R. Singlehurst & Co.'s Red Cross Line was founded. These two lines have since been closely identified with the rapid progress of the Amazon ports of Pará and Manaos. A further service between North Brazil and New York was started in 1882. In 1901 the Booth and Red Cross Lines were amalgamated in The Booth Steamship Co., Ltd., under the management of the former owners. The steamers sail at frequent intervals from New York, Liverpool, Havre, Vigo, Leixões, and Lisbon to Pará, Manaos, Maranham, Ceará, and Parnahyba, a large passenger business is done between the Portuguese ports and the Amazon. The twin-screw steamers Hildebrand, 7,000 tons, Anthony, 6,435 tons, Lanfranc, 6,275 tons, and Hilary, 6,325 tons, have a speed of 14 knots and carry 200 saloon and 350 third-class passengers. The company is interested in and manages The Iquitos Steamship Co., Ltd., whose steamers trade from Liverpool and New York more than 2,000 miles up the river Amazon to Iquitos, in Peru. The Manco, of 2,979 tons, and carrying 60 saloon passengers, is the latest addition to this service. The Company carries the royal mails to Pará and Manaos; also the mails between New York and Brazil; and the combined fleets include 11 passenger steamers.

Combined fleet, 36 steamers; 125,391 tons.

BRITISH INDIA STEAM NAVIGATION COMPANY.—In 1855 the founder of this company, the late Sir William MacKinnon, arranged to establish the Calcutta and Burmah Steam Navigation Company for the performance of mail services for the East India Company, with which object it was incorporated in 1856, the Baltic and Cape of Good Hope being sent out in 1857 to start the business. In 1862 a fresh mail service was entered into which included additional routes, and the name of the company was officially altered to its present title—more in keeping with its business, which strikingly benefited from the opening of the Suez Canal, through which the company's steamship India conveyed the first cargo of Indian produce. The Aden-Zanzibar mail service was put on in 1872, and from then until now new routes have been constantly added to its itinerary, the extent of which will not admit of more than a bare outline. The company is under contract with the Home and Indian Governments for mail services to Arabia, Persia, India, Burmah, East India, Zanzibar, Queensland, and also runs other services to Java, Australia, Mauritius, &c. This important undertaking, with its far-reaching organisation and connexions, supplies about 150 ports with commercial facilities ; it is under the management in India of Messrs. MacKinnon, MacKenzie & Co., Calcutta. The s.s. Queda, 7,703 tons, is the largest. Latest additions, Anjora, 5,500 tons (turbine steamer), and Alhona, 4,500 tons (twin-screw).

CANADIAN-AUSTRALIAN LINE was established in 1893, and runs in connection with the Canadian Pacific Railway. The service is in the hands of the Union S.S. Co. of New Zealand, and is subsidised by the Canadian Commonwealth and Fijian Governments. The route is from Sydney to Vancouver vid Brisbane, Suva and Honolulu, and the steamers at present employed in the service are the Makura (8,075 tons), Marama (6,437 tons), and Zealandia (6,500 tons).
London Office, 34, Leadenhall Street, E.C.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.—The rail mileage, including branch lines and systems operated by the Company, about 15,225, extends from Atlantic Ocean to Pacific Ocean. THE EMPRESS LINE, a three-weekly service between Vancouver and Japan and China, was established 1891. A contract exists between the British Government and the Canadian Pacific Railway under which mails are carried from Liverpool in the following time : To Hong Kong, summer, 818 hours ; winter, 853 hours. Mails and passengers are carried in "Empress" Atlantic steamers from Liverpool to Quebec, where close connection is made with the "Imperial Limited," one of the fastest long-distance trains in the world, which runs daily and covers the distance between the two oceans in about 100 hours. During 1903 15 large Atlantic steamers, aggregating 94,026 tons, were purchased from Messrs. Elder, Dempster & Co. The steamers in the Atlantic Ocean services include the R.M.S. Empress of Britain, 14,500 tons, and Empress of Ireland, 14,500 tons, 18,000 H.P. (largest and fastest to Canada). The Empress of Ireland made a record eastbound passage, Rimouski to Liverpool, of 5 days 10 hrs. 58 mins., and a record westbound voyage from Liverpool to Rimouski of 5 days 14 hrs. 44 mins. There is also an Upper Lake Service (Fort William–Owen Sound Route), a British Columbia Coast Service, and a British Columbia Lake and River Service.

Fleet, 63 steamers ; about 193,000 tons.
London Office, 62 to 65, Charing Cross, S.W.

CHARGEURS RÉUNIS of Paris (Port of Registry, Havre) was established in 1872, and is the third largest shipping company in France. Services are maintained to Indo-China, West Africa, Brazil and River Plate, China, and Japan. The fleet consists of 26 steamers from 3,000 to 10,000 tons, five of which are 15-knot twin-screw vessels.

CITY LINE.—Messrs. George Smith & Sons, who sold their line and fleet in 1901 to Mr. J. R. Ellerman, celebrated their jubilee at Glasgow in 1889, fifty years after their Constellation, 344 tons, sailed thence for Calcutta. Sailings are from Glasgow and Liverpool to Calcutta and back to London ; as well as to Bombay and Karachi, returning to Liverpool ; all the steamers carrying passengers regularly to and from Malta and Egypt, in addition to the above ports. Large extensions have been made in the passenger fleet, over £1,000,000 having been spent in recent years upon new steamers.

Fleet, 28 steamers ; 133,671 tons.

CLAN LINE began a fortnightly service from Glasgow and Liverpool to Bombay and Karachi in 1878, adding one to South and East African ports in 1881, and another to Colombo, Madras, and Calcutta in 1882, a joint service from N. York direct to South and East African ports appearing in 1893. Since then a direct service has been added to the principal South African ports, Malabar Coast, and Chittagong. Twenty-eight turret-deck steamers figure in the fleet, of which the Clan Colquhoun, 5,856 tons, is the largest. The line is under the management of Messrs. Cayzer, Irvine & Co., Limited, of Glasgow, Liverpool, Manchester and London, whose chairman, Sir Charles Cayzer, Bart., was the founder.

Fleet, 49 steamers ; 202,622 tons.

THE CUNARD STEAMSHIP COMPANY, Ltd., completed 70 years of successful Atlantic service on July 4, 1910. Starting in 1840 with the Britannia, a wooden paddle steamer, which made her first voyage between Liverpool and New York in 14 days 8 hours at the rate of 8½ knots per hour, the Cunard Company's steamers have steadily advanced in size and speed, till their Atlantic fleet contains steamers crossing from Liverpool to Boston (the Ivernia and Saxonia), and to New York (the Lusitania and Mauretania, Caronia, Carmania, and Campania). The New York and Mediterranean service is conducted with the Carpathia, Ultonia, and Pannonia, and conveys passengers at moderate rates to Gibraltar, Naples, Palermo, Venice, Trieste and Fiume, with the option of crossing Europe by train and returning to New York or Boston by Cunard steamer from Liverpool. There is a frequent freight service from Liverpool to Havre, Portugal, Mediterranean, the Adriatic, and Black Sea ports. All the passenger ships of the Cunard Company are fitted with Marconi's system of wireless telegraphy. The Cunard Daily Bulletin, a thirty-two page illustrated paper published on board these boats, records news received by wireless telegraphy, and is the first real ocean daily newspaper. The Lusitania, Mauretania, Caronia, and Carmania are fitted with the Stone-Lloyd system of patent water-tight doors, rendering these steamers practically unsinkable. All the passenger boats on the New York and Boston service are fitted with the patent submarine signalling apparatus. In August, 1903, an agreement was made with the British Government by which the Cunard Co. were to build two new steamers, to be, with another Cunard ships, at the disposal of the Admiralty for hire or purchase whenever they may be required, the Government lending the company £2,600,000 to build the ships and granting them a subsidy of £150,000 a year. One, the Lusitania, 31,550 tons, was launched on June 7, 1906, and the Mauretania, 31,937 tons on Sept. 19. (See p. 757.) They are quadruple screw turbine steamers, about 70,000 horse-power, the largest, fastest, and most palatial steamers in the world. The Lusitania, Sept. 1907, broke all records for maiden trips with passage of 5*d.* 0*h.* 54*m.*, or an average of 23 knots, 593 knots being the highest day's run. The totals given includes the Caronia, 20,000 tons, fitted with reciprocating engines, and the Carmania, 20,000 tons, turbine steamer. Two new ships, the Tranconia and Laconia (each 18,000 tons gross and twin screws) are being built for the Liverpool-Boston service. They will also make trips between New York and the Mediterranean.

DONALDSON BROTHERS (Donaldson Line) began business at Glasgow in 1854. The twin-screw steamers Athenia, Cassandra, and Saturnia are the latest additions, fitted with accommodation for passengers and regularly engaged in Canadian trade. The principal trade of the firm is between Glasgow and Montreal, steamers sailing every Saturday from Glasgow and every Thursday from Montreal during the open navigation of the St. Lawrence. In winter-time the service is a weekly one to St. John, N.B. The steamers are fitted with cold storage, also with mechanical ventilation. The St. John, N.B., service in the summer months is fortnightly, and the other regular services of the firm are Glasgow to Baltimore and Glasgow to Newport News and Norfolk, Va., and a fortnightly service of steamers between Montreal and Rotterdam.

Fleet, 12 steamers; 65,159 tons.

ELDER, DEMPSTER & CO.—See p. 760.

ELDERS & FYFFES, Ltd.—This company, which was formed in 1901, is the outcome of the immense development of the West Indian banana trade. The service began in 1902 with 4 steamers adapted for the carriage of fruit; but these have since been disposed of, as being not sufficiently up to date for the safe conveyance of fruit. The company have since had built 10 steamers with special arrangements for the fruit trade and accommodation for a limited number of first class passengers, the vessels being fitted with all the latest appliances, the largest being the Tortuguero (4,161 tons), Reventazon (4,042 tons), Chirripo (4,041 tons), and Barranca (4,115 tons). Regular services are maintained between Manchester and Santa Marta, Colombia, and Bristol (Avonmouth) and Port Limon, Costa Rica; and at the expiration of the Government contract with the Imperial Direct West Indies Service in February, 1911, an additional regular fortnightly service will be maintained between Bristol and Jamaica by new steamers, which are being built for the trade. In 1904 the company was entrusted by the British Postal authorities with the carriage of parcels mail to Costa Rica. In the coffee season large consignments are brought from Costa Rica. The small inter-insular steamers employed at the Canary Islands are not included below.

Fleet, 10 steamers (and 2 building); 50,000 tons.

NAVIGAZIONE GENERALE ITALIANA.—Under this title were united the lines which formerly belonged to Florio, of Palermo, and Rubattino, of Genoa, having the head office at Rome. There are lines to and from Italy China, New York, Brazil, and River Plate. In 1910 about 73 steamers, running in the Mediterranean, Bombay, and Hongkong services, were taken over by the Società Nazionale di Servizi Marittimi, the Navigazione Generale Italiana retaining only the services to North and South America.

THE NEDERLAND LINE (Stoomvaart Maatschappij, "Nederland"), of Amsterdam, is under mail contract with the Government of the Netherlands to maintain a mail service between Holland and Java. The Nederland Steam Navigation Company was established in 1870, and now maintains three separate services, viz., two from the Netherlands to the Dutch Indies, one carrying the Royal Mails, passengers, and goods, and the other cargo only. The third is a cargo line between Java and Bengal. Mail Line.—The Company has nine mail steamers, one of which is laid up as reserve mail steamer. The other eight sail every alternate Tuesday from Southampton to Colombo, Sabang Bay, Singapore, Batavia, Samarang, and Sourabaya, vid Lisbon, Tangier, Algiers, Genoa, Port Said, and Suez. Colombo is, however, not to be touched by those homeward bound mail steamers leaving Batavia between June 1 and Aug. 15. The homeward bound mail steamers do not call at Southampton. The steamers employed in the mail service are continually being replaced by more modern ships. The four newest-built steamers, the Rembrandt, 3,723 tons, Vondel, 3,717 tons, Grotius, 3,706 tons, and the Prinses Juliana (twin screw), tons. The connections with ports in Netherlands India are made with the steamers of the Koninklyke Paketvaart Maatschappij. The cargo services employ 14 steamers.

Fleet, 24 steamers; 114,292 tons, Building 1 mail steamer, 8,300 tons.

NEW ZEALAND SHIPPING COMPANY, organised at Christchurch, New Zealand, in 1873, carried on business for ten years with sailing ships specially built for passengers and the trade. The first direct steamer, Stad Harlem, conveyed (in 1879) 600 emigrants to the enterprising colony; four years later the British King began the Government mail contract, for which ten steamers were built. Of the present fleet, two are triple-screw steamers, the largest being the Ruahine, 10,758 tons, and Rotorua, 11,130 tons. New Zealand emphasises its British characteristics by sending here nearly all its produce, which the development of the frozen industries has multiplied. This company's Mataura sailed from Port Chalmers in 1882, with 150 tons of mutton prepared on board in the absence of the necessary plant ashore. The passenger steamers sail from London every fourth Thursday vià Plymouth, Teneriffe, Cape Town, and Hobart, returning round Cape Horn vià Montevideo and Rio de Janeiro. Rates are low compared with the conveniences and table supplied to all classes. This Company's new steamer Olaki was the first vessel fitted with turbine engines in combination with the usual reciprocating engines.

Fleet, 16 steamers; 119,697 tons.

NIPPON YUSEN KAISHA (the Japanese Mail Steamship Company) was established in 1885. The importance of the company rose with the size of its fleet owing to the war with China in 1894. Independent of a complete Japanese coastal system, extending to all the principal ports in Japan, as well as to Keeling from Kobe, and to Bonin Islands from Yokohama, the European passenger line runs fortnightly from Japan to Antwerp and London, starting from Middlesbrough on the return journey; the American line is a fortnightly service connecting at Seattle with the Great Northern Railway for inland United States points. There is also a monthly line to and from Australia, and other services to China, Corea, Asiatic Russia, Hawaii, Straits Settlements, and India.

Fleet, 79 steamers; 306,674 tons.

London Office, 4, Lloyd's Avenue.

NORDDEUTSCHER LLOYD was established in 1856. On 19th June, 1858, the Bremen, 334 × 42 × 28, sailed to New York vià Southampton. Extensions to Baltimore 1868, New Orleans 1869, West Indies 1871, Brazil and River Plate 1876, evidenced the growth towards front rank which was assumed in 1881 with fast mail-boats built for an express Atlantic service, now maintained weekly from Bremen to New York vià Southampton and Cherbourg. The Imperial German Mail Service from Bremen and Hamburg vià Antwerp, Southampton, and Genoa to Eastern Asia and Australia, with various branch lines, began in 1885, and was followed in 1891 with an express line between Italy and New York in conjunction with the Hamburg-American Line. In 1900 the steamers and trade were acquired of the Scottish Oriental Co. and the East Indian Ocean S.S. Co., and extensions made between Penang and Belawan (Deli) and between Singapore and Palembang, Asahan, and Sandakan (Borneo). The line from Singapore to Labuan has been extended one way to Sulu and the Archipelago, and the other way to Manila. Steamers have been built for the development of the company's Chinese coasting business, and which now carry the German postal flag far into the interior of China up the Yangtsze. A branch line has been established between Hong Kong and Sydney vià Mariana Islands, Carolines, New Guinea, and Queensland. In 1901 sailings were resumed from Bremerhaven to Cuba. In 1904 the Singapore and Sydney line vià Batavia, &c., was superseded by a new line from Sydney to Yokohama vià New Guinea, Manila, and Hong Kong; additional lines being also established between Genoa and New York, and between Marseilles and Alexandria, vià Naples. In 1906 the company started a weekly service to the Levant. The Kronprinz Wilhelm, 14,908 tons, 35,000 H.P., joined the N.D.L. fleet in 1901, followed by the Kaiser Wilhelm II., 19,361 tons, 43,000 H.P., built by the Vulcan Works at Stettin, and Kronprinzessin Cecilie, 19,503 tons, 45,000 H.P., all monuments to German shipbuilding and industrial art.

ORIENT LINE.—The Orient Company, who provided Australia with her first direct service of full-powered steamers in 1877, is the only Company under contract with the Commonwealth Government of Australia for the carriage of mails between Australia and England. They are also entrusted by the various State Governments of Australia with the carriage of passengers receiving Government assistance. Five new twin-screw steamers of over 12,000 tons have recently been added to the fleet, and a sixth is now building. These steamers are amongst the most luxurious afloat. The accommodation includes spacious lounges, cabins de luxe, and bedstead state-rooms. There are electric laundries, and the vessels are fitted with wireless telegraph.

The steamers sail from London on alternate Fridays, calling at Gibraltar, Marseilles, Naples, Taranto, Port Said, Suez, Colombo, Fremantle, Adelaide, Melbourne, Sydney, and Brisbane. The outward and homeward steamers are timed to connect at Marseilles, so as to provide a sea voyage from London and back of 14 or 15 days, with one or two days on shore.

The Orient Company are pioneers of pleasure cruises by large ocean steamers. These voyages are purely pleasure cruises, and saloon passengers only are carried. The cruises vary in length from two to five weeks, and give opportunities for visiting the countries bordering on the Mediterranean, the Western Islands, Portugal, Norway, &c., according to season.

THE OSAKA STEAMSHIP COMPANY OF JAPAN owns 109 vessels, aggregating a gross registered tonnage of 128,328 tons. The total sum the company received from the Government by way of subsidies in 1909 amounted to £180,965. The largest vessel is the Shibertoro Marn, 3,376 tons.

Fleet, 109 steamers; 128,328 tons.

PACIFIC MAIL STEAMSHIP COMPANY.—This well-known American line, which was established at San Francisco in 1847, maintains services to Central America, Japan, China, Honolulu, &c. The Korea, 11,276 tons, and Siberia, 11,284 tons, recently built in the United States, steam 18 knots, and the Manchuria, 13,638 tons, and Mongolia, 13,639 tons, each 16 knots.

Fleet, 21 steamers; 99,651 tons.

PACIFIC STEAM NAVIGATION COMPANY, incorporated by Royal Charter in February 1840, began business with the Chile and Peru, receiving a small subsidy. A bi-monthly service between Valparaiso and Panama necessitated four more steamers in 1852, the Pacific trade developing and fresh branches of commerce being opened up. Compound engines were welcomed and adopted in 1856, thereby reducing the costly consumption of coal, the scarcity of which article had been the earliest difficulty. The company's powers were enlarged in 1865 to run as far as the River Plate. In 1867 the capital was increased for the onerous performance of a monthly mail service from Liverpool, through the Straits of Magellan to Valparaiso, the Pacific, 1,630 tons, sailing from that port May, 1868. The success of the new line resulted in three sailings a month, and an extension to Callao by 1870. Again, two years later, the capital was added to, the Sorata, 4,038 tons, starting in 1873 a weekly service under contract with H.M. Postmaster-General from Liverpool to Callao vid France, Spain, Portugal, Brazil, and River Plate. The fleet owned by the company contains a long list of vessels called after South American places. The Orcoma, 11,532 tons, the Oriana, 8,086 tons, Ortega, 7,996 tons, and Oronsa, 7,980 tons, all twin-screw steamers, are the latest additions to the fleet.

Fleet, 40 steamers; 170,184 tons.

Head Office, 31–33, James Street, Liverpool.

PENINSULAR & ORIENTAL STEAM NAVIGATION COMPANY.—Mr. Brodie McG. Wilcox began to sow the seeds in 1825, and from the William Fawcett, 206 tons: 60 h.-p.: 74×15×8, blossomed the Peninsular Company, subsequently ripening into the above institution, which was incorporated 1840 (see p. 752), and celebrated its Jubilee 1887. Universally known as the "P. & O.," it glories in the motto, "Quis separabit."

Mails were conveyed by Post Office sailing packets from Falmouth to Lisbon before the contract was given to the Peninsular Company. The Indian mails were at that time taken in Government steamers from Bombay to Suez. Prior to the completion of the railway, 1857 (followed by the Suez Canal, 1870), everybody and everything had to take the caravan route across the desert to Cairo, intimately associated with the name of Lieut. Waghorn, who organised quicker and better facilities, Nile steamers afterwards superseding the sailing boats between Cairo and Alexandria. From Alexandria, Home Government steam packets carried the mails to Gibraltar, where the Peninsular Company received them. They soon suggested and pressed a better service than this upon the Government, and eventually a line from England vid Gibraltar and Malta to Alexandria was begun by the Oriental, 1,610 tons, and Great Liverpool 1,540 tons, for which purpose the above company was constituted. The P. & O. Company secured the contract for the mails between Suez and Calcutta in 1842, the first sailing being the Hindustan, 1,800 tons; but the East India Company obstinately refused to hand over their inferior Bombay-Suez Line until 1854, by which period the P. & O. had engaged to run to China and Singapore. The first service to Australia was interrupted by the Crimean War, 11 P. & O. boats being employed for the transport of troops. The necessity growing for an independent Australian mail line, the Government called for tenders in 1856, but the P. & O. declined the onerous conditions, which were swallowed by the European and Australian Steam Navigation Company, who soon failed. The Royal Mail Company stopped the breach but temporarily, and the Government, having learnt a lesson, accepted the tender of the P. & O. Company in 1859.

The present contract provides for the delivery of the London mails at Bombay in 13¼ days; at Shanghai in 30¼ days; and at Adelaide in 28½ days. All the existing mail and sea-transit records from England vid Suez to Aden, Bombay, Colombo, Calcutta, Straits Settlements, Hongkong, Shanghai, and Australian ports have been accomplished by P. & O. steamers.

The Malwa, Mantua and Morea, each about 11,000 tons, and 18 knots speed, have recently been placed in the company's service, while other two steamers of similar type and speed, with a gross register of 13,000 tons, are in course of construction. Their completion will make a total of ten sister ships known as the "M" class.

These new vessels, together with the Company's acquisition in May, 1910, of Lund's Blue Anchor steamers (running to Australia vid the Cape), bring the P. & O. fleet to 63 ships, totalling upwards of 460,000 tons. About 3,500,000 miles are traversed every year.

THE PRINCE LINE is the substantial handiwork of Mr. James Knott, of Newcastle-on-Tyne, since he despatched the Saxon Prince in 1881 as the pioneer of his present big fleet of ubiquitous steamers, of which the largest are the Spanish Prince, 6,505 tons gross and of nearly 10,000 tons carrying capacity, and Royal Prince, 5,547 tons gross and 9,500 tons capacity, and with a speed of 12 knots. The line has regular services from Manchester, Middlesbrough, Antwerp, London and Dunkirk to Tunis, Malta, Alexandria, Syrian Coast, Cyprus, Levant, and Smyrna, with return services to Manchester, Liverpool, Dunkirk, London, and other ports in the United Kingdom and Continent. Other lines maintained are those from Antwerp and London to the River Plate, and returning to the United Kingdom; New York to the Brazils and River Plate, and back to New York; New York to the Brazils, thence New Orleans, and from the latter port to the United Kingdom and Continent; New York to China, Japan, Philippines, Straits, and back to New York; New York to South African ports and back.

Fleet, 37 steamers; 121,405 tons.
London Office, 118, Fenchurch Street, E.C.

THE RED STAR LINE was established in 1872, and at first maintained a service between Antwerp and Philadelphia with the steamers Nederland, Switzerland, &c., but since then has developed and now maintains regular services between :—

1. Antwerp and New York, calling at Dover, with the powerful twin-screw steamers Lapland of 19,000 tons, and Vaderland, Kroonland, Finland, and Zeeland, each of 12,000 tons register, and with up-to-date accommodation for first, second, and third class passengers.

2. Antwerp, Boston and Philadelphia by a triangular service with the steamers Menominee, Marquette, Manitou, &c., these steamers having accommodation for cabin passengers only.

3. Antwerp and Baltimore by a regular service of cargo steamers.

Moreover, the line, when occasion requires, has a supplementary service between Antwerp and New York carrying third-class passengers and cargo by steamers of the Samland and Gothland type.

The New York steamers call, West and East-bound, at Dover during the summer season for landing and embarking first and second class passengers only.

The latest addition to the company's fleet is the steamer Lapland, built at Messrs. Harland & Wolff's Yard, in Belfast, 605 feet long, and 18,694 tons register, with most luxurious arrangements for about 700 cabin passengers on five decks.

Fleet, 14 steamers; 122,521 tons.

JOHN T. RENNIE, SON & COMPANY, ABERDEEN DIRECT LINE.—The steamers of this line leave the West India Dock every ten days for Natal, Delagoa Bay, Beira, and Chinde, calling at Portland and the Canary Islands (Las Palmas and Teneriffe alternately); they also take passengers for East African ports as far as Mombasa and Madagascar. The line was inaugurated in the year 1856 with sailing ships which traded regularly between London and Natal. Steam was first tried in 1857 with the Waldensian and Madagascar, which were the first steamers on the South African coast, and carried the mails from Cape Town as far as the port of Durban. The present service was commenced in 1882 with the Dabulamanzi, 1,679 tons. The East African service was commenced in the year 1892, and the steamers of the Aberdeen Line now maintain a regular service as far north as Beira, calling at Delagoa Bay and Inhambane, and carrying goods also to the British concession at Chinde and Quilimane, these ports forming the best and cheapest routes for passengers for Rhodesia, Matabeleland, Nyassaland, British Central Africa, and the African Lakes District. The passenger fares are moderate and the accommodation, especially on the newer steamers, superior. The s.s. Inkosi, 3,576 tons, 13 knots, has gone from London to Natal in 23 days 10½ hours' steaming time, and the Insizwa has completed the homeward passage in 22 days 2½ hours.

Fleet, 9 steamers; 28,400 tons.

R. ROPNER & CO., of West Hartlepool, were established in 1851. The Stagpool, 4,621 tons, heads the fleet, which is engaged in general carrying trades.

Fleet, 51 steamers; 160,520 tons.

ROTTERDAM LLOYD line of steamers to Java, viâ Suez Canal, is under special mail contract with the Netherlands Government. The service was established in 1883 by the present managers, Messrs. Wm. Ruys & Sons. The steamers are despatched from Rotterdam, viâ Southampton, fortnightly, for Padang, Batavia, Cheribon, Samarang and Sourabaya, calling at Lisbon, Tangier and Marseilles, from which last port passages of 20 days have been made to Batavia. The mail steamers have all been built in recent years, since 1900, the largest being the twin-screw ss. Goentoer, 5,894 tons gross reg. They are equipped with Marconi wireless telegraphy and submarine signalling apparatus. Of the cargo steamers, 5 are of 8,000 tons carrying capacity. 52 voyages were completed in 1909, and about 1,000,000 miles traversed.

Fleet, 21 steamers; 99,000 tons.

THE ROYAL MAIL STEAM PACKET COMPANY was incorporated 1839 by Royal Charter with a subsidy of £240,000. In 1857 the company temporarily took over the carriage of the Australian mails viâ Suez. In 1868 the West Indian Mail Line was extended to Colon. In 1869 the South American main line was continued to Buenos Ayres (doing away with branch steamers from Brazil), developing by 1872 into a fortnightly service, and later into a weekly service. Cargo services are now operated from Glasgow and London to the West Indies and Central America; and from Newport, Swansea, Hull, and Antwerp to Brazil; also a line to Cuba and Mexico from Newcastle, Antwerp, and London, viâ Havana direct, and from Hull and London to the River Plate. The West Indian Mail subsidy, which had dwindled to £85,000 a year, was allowed by the Government to lapse in 1905, much against the expressed wishes of the Colonies. The company availed themselves of the freedom to extend their West Indian Main Line service to New York viâ Jamaica, maintaining their communications with the West Indian and British Guiana Colonies. In August, 1907, a contract was made for a fortnightly inter-colonial service from and to Barbados, distinct from the transatlantic service (run without subsidy). The Aragon, 9,795 tons, which sailed on her maiden voyage July 14, 1905, was the first of a series of similar vessels for the Brazil and River Plate route. The Amazon, 10,037 tons, and Araguaya, 10,537 tons, were launched in 1906, the Avon, 11,072 tons, and Asturias, 12,500 tons, in 1907. The R.M.S.P. service to Australia (carried on for a short time in 1857) was resumed at the end of 1905, the Company then acquiring a half-interest in the Australian mail service. In 1907 the company acquired a half share in the "Shire" Line, thus extending their operations to Japan, China, and the Far East. From London (Albert Dock), the ports of call including Port Said, Suez, Penang, Singapore, Hong Kong, Shanghai, Nagasaki, Kobe, and Yokohama. In 1908 the Company acquired Messrs. Forwood Bros. & Co.'s line to Gibraltar, Morocco, Canary Islands, and Madeira (see pp. 763). A service of cruising steamers (of 11,000 tons each) to Norway was successfully inaugurated in 1909. The winter of 1909–1910 has witnessed the placing on the New York station of a service of yachting cruises by R.M.S.P. Avon (11,072 tons), and the establishment of a regular service from New York to Bermuda. Two new inter-colonial mail steamers, R.M.S.P. Berbice and Balantia (twin-screw), were placed on the West India station at the end of 1909. In June, 1910, the R.M.S.P. arranged to purchase the whole of the Pacific Steam Navigation Company's share capital at par value of £25 per share, thus acquiring control of the fleet and interests of the Pacific S.N. Co. in the South American trade, the fleets of the combined companies thus practically circumnavigating the whole of South America.

The New York-Bermuda passenger service was in September last extended to Antilla, Cuba, and the Southampton West Indies-New York mail steamers also included Antilla in their itinerary, thus providing a weekly service between Cuba and New York.

Fleet, 45 steamers; 195,000 tons.

SHAW, SAVILL AND ALBION COMPANY, LIMITED.—This company, successors to Messrs. Shaw, Savill & Co. and The Albion Co., established over 50 years ago, maintain a regular service of fast steamers between London and New Zealand. Their passenger steamers are despatched from London to New Zealand every four weeks, calling on the outward journey at Plymouth, Teneriffe, Cape Town, and Hobart (to transhipAustralian passengers); and on the homeward journey, viâ Cape Horn, they call at Monte Video and/or Rio de Janeiro, Teneriffe, and Plymouth. The company also despatch fast direct cargo steamers monthly from London to various ports in New Zealand; while, in addition, a service of cargo steamers from Glasgow and Liverpool to New Zealand is maintained at regular intervals. The company own 12 steamers, including the twin-screw steamers Kia Ora, 6,558 tons, Mamari, 6,689 tons, and Matatua, 6,488 tons. The more recent additions to the passenger fleet are the twin-screw passenger steamers Arawa, 9,372 tons, and the Tainui, 9,957 tons, and the twin-screw cargo steamers Rangatira, 7,465 tons, and Pakeha, 7,911 tons. The fleet will be augmented in the current year by the addition of a new large twin-screw steamer of about 10,000 tons. All the steamers are fitted with patent refrigerators for the conveyance of frozen meat, as well as butter, cheese, and fruit, from New Zealand, and aggregate a total carrying capacity equal to about 3,000,000 carcases of sheep annually. The White Star Co. have associated with this line their ss. Athenic, ss. Corinthic, ss. Ionic, and ss. Delphic, which are not included in the totals given.

Fleet, 12 vessels; 84,113 tons.

STOCKHOLMS REDERIAKTIEBOLAG SVEA THE STOCKHOLM STEAMSHIP CO., SVEA, Ltd.) is the largest Swedish steamship company in point of numbers of vessels. The company was formed in 1908 by the amalgamation of two old established companies, viz.: Stockholms Ångfartygs Rederibolag and Nya Rederiaktiebolag Svea, with which was amalgamated in 1909 the Ångfartygs Aktiebolag Södra Sverige. They maintain regular sailings from Stockholm and Norrkoping to London and Hull, also between Stockholm and Hamburg, Amsterdam, Rotterdam, The Rhine, Antwerp, Havre, La Pallice and Bordeaux. They also run cargo and passenger steamers between Stockholm and Riga, Lübeck, Copenhagen, Gothenburg and Christiania, calling at the principal intermediate ports.

THE UNION-CASTLE LINE.—Early in 1900 the two well-known steamship companies, the Union Steamship Company, Limited, and the Castle Mail Packets Company, Limited, the former company having been formed in 1856 and the latter one in 1881, who for many years had performed the mail service between England and S. Africa, were formally amalgamated, under the title of the Union-Castle Mail Steamship Company, Limited, the joint concern being managed by Messrs. Donald Currie & Co., who were the managers of the Castle Line. The Royal Mail steamships of the line, under contract with the Colonial Governments, are despatched from Southampton every Saturday for the Cape of Good Hope and Natal, calling at Madeira. The Intermediate steamships are despatched every Friday from London, calling at Southampton on the following day, for the Cape Colony, Natal, Delagoa Bay, Beira, and Mauritius, taking passengers at lower rates than the Mail steamers. These steamers proceed alternately viâ Las Palmas or Teneriffe, and call once a month with mails at Ascension and St. Helena under contract with His Majesty's Government. At intervals, as the trade requires, extra steamships are despatched from England to the South African ports; steamers also call at Lobito Bay as required. Every 28 days an intermediate steamer is despatched viâ Marseilles, Naples, and the Suez Canal, direct to Mombasa, Zanzibar, Mozambique, Chinde, Beira, Lourenço Marques (Delagoa Bay), and Natal. Special tourist fares are arranged for the spring and summer to Madeira and the Canary Islands; also to Hamburg and Antwerp all the year round. The steamers of the fleet are amply furnished with every contrivance for the safety, comfort, and convenience of all classes of passengers. The largest steamers in the fleet are: Balmoral Castle, 13,361 tons; Edinburgh Castle, 13,326 tons, and Kenilworth Castle, 12,975 tons.

Fleet, 44 steamers; 319,333 tons.

UNION STEAM SHIP COMPANY OF NEW ZEALAND.—This company, established in 1875, is now the most important shipping concern in the Southern Hemisphere, and testifies to the expansion of both colony and company. In 1901 the company established a four-weekly mail service from Sydney to Vancouver, and discontinued running a steamer on the San Francisco mail route. The Company's fleet includes 3 turbine steamers: the Loongana, 2,500 tons (20 knots), the Maori, 3,500 tons (20 knots), and the Maheno, 5,500 tons (17 knots). The Company control a four-weekly service from Sydney to Vancouver vid Suva and Honolulu, and have recently arranged with the New Zealand Government for a four-weekly service from New Zealand to San Francisco via Rarotonga and Tahiti.

Fleet, 66 steamers; 170,000 tons.

DET FORENEDE DAMPSKIBS SELSKAB (The United Steamship Co.) of Copenhagen celebrated its 40th anniversary in 1906. It is the largest maritime undertaking in Denmark. The company's far-reaching operations cover services with Russia, Germany, Norway, United Kingdom, Belgium, France, Spain, Italy, the Levant, also North and South America, 20 of the fastest steamers being fitted with refrigerating machinery for the transport of dairy produce. The Scandinavian Amerika Passenger Line is maintained between Copenhagen and New York, vid Christiania and Christiansand, for which service 4 twin-screw steamers, each over 10,000 tons, have recently been built, with a speed of 16 knots, each with accommodation for 1,500 passengers. The largest steamer is the United States, 10,101 tons. One ice-breaker and salvage steamer, 14 sea-going lighters, and 7 tug-boats belong to the company (3,790 tons). In 1909 3,414,198 miles were traversed.

Fleet, 120 steamers; 150,874 tons.

ANDREW WEIR & CO. were established in 1885 by the senior partner, when the barques Willowbank, 862 tons, and Francis Thorpe, 1,343 tons, were acquired. Starting building for themselves in 1886, the size of the fleet, known as the Bank Line, grew to 43 clippers, which gradually diminished as the number of steamships increased, the first belonging to the firm being the s.s. Duneric, 1,878 tons, in 1896; now the s.s. Orleric, 7,000 tons, heads a list of 24 steamers grossing 101,636 tons. The Cedarbank, 2,825 tons, is the biggest of the 14 sailing ships, representing a further 26,423 tons, this being still one of the largest sailing fleets in the world. Both fleets are mostly employed in general trades.

Fleet, 38 vessels, steam and sail; 128,059 tons.

WHITE STAR LINE.—(See International Mercantile Marine Co.) The Oceanic Steam Navigation Company, Ltd., better known as the White Star Line, was founded in 1869 by the late Mr. T. H. Ismay. The New York mail steamers of the White Star Line now leave Southampton each Wednesday morning, call at Cherbourg the same afternoon, and then proceed to Queenstown to take the mails on board. Homewards the steamers leave New York every Wednesday, and steam direct to Plymouth (where the mails and such passengers as so elect are landed); from thence to Cherbourg, and end the voyage at Southampton. The White Star Line's passenger steamers from Liverpool for New York sail each Saturday, and this service is maintained by the twin-screw steamers Baltic, Cedric, Celtic, and Arabic, the average gross register of which is over 20,000 tons. The Boston steamers are despatched from Liverpool on Tuesdays, and in addition to the foregoing, the White Star Line also has services between Liverpool and New York (cargo and live-stock), Liverpool, South Africa, and Australia (passengers and cargo), Liverpool and Australia (cargo), Liverpool and New Zealand (cargo), New York and Mediterranean ports (passengers and cargo), Boston and Mediterranean (passengers and cargo). For the London and New Zealand passenger and cargo services, under the auspices of the Shaw, Savill & Albion Co., Ltd., the White Star Line has had built the largest vessels in the New Zealand trade. Olympic and Titanic, which in point of size will eclipse everything afloat, are building. Each will be 45,000 tons register, and will be propelled by a combination of turbine and reciprocating machinery. Early in 1909 the White Star Line entered the Canadian trade, maintaining a weekly service between Liverpool, Quebec, and Montreal, in conjunction with the Dominion Line. The new steamers Laurentic, 14,892 tons, and Megantic, 14,500 tons, are the largest despatched to Canada, specially built for this service. The Laurentic is a triple-screw steamer, propelled by a combination of turbine and reciprocating machinery, and the Megantic is twin-screw propelled by reciprocating machinery alone. All the services are maintained entirely with twin-screw steamers (except the Laurentic).

DURATION OF LIGHT AND DARKNESS.

THE second column of the first page of Calendar for every month contains a small diagram showing the amount of Darkness, or of Sun or Moonlight. These small figures represent the twelve hours from 6 P.M. to 6 A.M., and have four divisions, each representing three hours. From the 11th to the 16th of January there is moonlight from 6 P.M. till 6 A.M., but from the 25th to the 31st it will be seen that there is no moonlight. In the summer months the Sun comes to our aid.

Offices.

1, FREDERICK'S PLACE, OLD JEWRY, E.C.

This Trust was established in 1893 to acquire Freehold and Long Leasehold Shop Properties solely for investment purposes. Properties of a speculative nature are studiously avoided.

The Capital is divided into "A" and "B" Shares.

The "A" Shares are fully subscribed and paid up.

The "B" Shares carry a cumulative dividend of 5 per cent. per annum, and are issued as required. Only fully-paid Shares are issued, so that they involve no liability.

Both classes rank equally for priority as to Capital and Dividends.

All Dividends have been regularly and fully paid since establishment.

The present Rental Income, arising from lettings on full repairing Leases, exceeds £23,800 per annum, more than half of which is derived from freeholds.

The growth of the Trust is shown by the following Statement:—

Year.	Investments at Cost.	Annual Rent Roll.	Reserve Fund.	Subscribed Capital.

WINE MERCHANTS

To their late Majesties Queen Victoria and King Edward VII.

Directors:

SIR ERNEST HATCH, Bart.

EARL OF DENBIGH.	J. H. G. LANG, Esq.
Hon. J. MANSFIELD.	C. W. HUGHES, Esq.
C. G. RAYNE, Esq.	R. ALLISON. Esq.

H. D. BROWN, Esq.

Advantages offered to the Wine-Buying Public.

1. The guiding principle is extent of business, not magnitude of profits.
2. The prices are the lowest all round obtainable.
3. The guarantees afforded, with the exclusion of all doubtful vintages, give absolute assurance of the highest value.
4. Under our system carriage is paid on "any quantity, however small."
5. The trustworthiness of the above statements is proved by the list of Customers published in our Price List, containing many names of high distinction.

Cigar Department.

Particular attention is called to our separate List of Cigars, Cigarettes and Tobacco, all of which have been selected with the utmost care. Customers now enjoy the advantage of the use of our scientifically constructed Maturing Chamber, thus being assured of the perfect conditioning of their cigars.

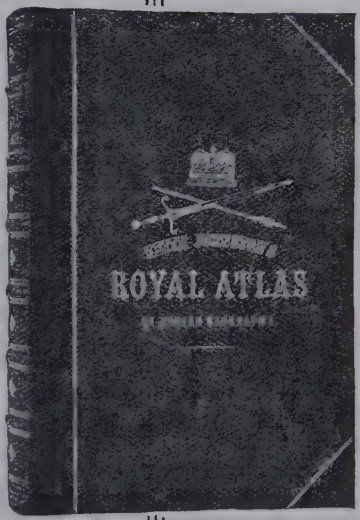
The Man of Affairs

requires among his Reference Books a good, reliable Atlas—one that can be depended on at every turn. Such an Atlas is the ROYAL ATLAS. The Geographical Information contained in the 1911 Edition is Accurate and Reliable, and of the very latest, so that the Man of Affairs may consult it with perfect confidence and rely upon it absolutely.



The Royal Atlas

contains many unique features that are not to be found in other atlases. Its 60 full-page Maps are magnificently printed on thick plate paper in colours and in a special manner that increases the beauty and clearness of the maps. A special index is given to each map, which by a unique arrangement enhances its usefulness and makes the location of any place easy and rapid.

A general index of the principal places is also given at the end of the volume.

Superbly bound in half morocco.

Price = = = £4 4s. net.

Every Man of Affairs should have this Atlas at his elbow for every-day consultation.

EDUCATION.

MESSRS. GABBITAS, THRING & CO.,

36, Sackville Street, Piccadilly, W.,

have a Department specially organised for advising Parents and Guardians as to the best Educational Establishments for Boys and Girls in the United Kingdom or on the Continent. The Firm have had experience as Educational Agents for more than thirty years, and can give information and advice as to: (1) Public and Endowed Schools; (2) Preparatory Schools; (3) Schools or Tutors' Establishments adapted specially for preparing Boys for Engineering, Agricultural, Scientific, or Commercial Careers; (4) Private Tutors preparing for Army, Civil Service, and University Examinations, or receiving backward or delicate Pupils requiring special attention; (5) Finishing Schools; (6) Schools for younger Girls; (7) Girls' Schools giving a thorough general education and preparing for Examinations; (8) Professors, Pasteurs, and Private Families receiving Pupils wishing to study abroad. To enable the Firm to advise efficiently it is necessary that full particulars should be given; especially as to the age of the Pupil, previous education, and present standard of attainments, special subjects of study, locality, whether a large or small establishment is preferred, and the fees it is intended to pay.

The Firm also can assist in procuring the services of Private Tutors, Resident, Travelling, Non-Resident, or Visiting, of whom they always have a large number on their Lists.

Transfers of and Partnerships in Boys' and Girls' Schools are also negotiated by the Firm.

The Firm during their long career have been instrumental in sending Masters and Tutors to the leading Schools and Tutors' Establishments, and are in the closest touch with all Educational matters.

Masters and Tutors seeking Posts can have a Prospectus on application, free of charge.

Whitaker's List of Schools

CONTINENTAL SECTION.

From enquiries which have been made it has been ascertained that the scope and utility of "Whitaker's List of Schools and Climates" (see pp. 810–842) would be greatly increased as a medium for facilitating the selection of a suitable school by the inclusion of a section for schools on the Continent.

A large number of English-speaking people send their children to the Continent for education, and as the Almanack circulates all over the world it must be of advantage to many readers to have a separate section relating to schools on the Continent.

In order to make the Continental Section of practical use to readers of the Almanack, the proprietors are particularly desirous that it should constitute a reliable guide to Educational Establishments of the best class.

With this object in view all applications for the Continental Section must be first recommended by Messrs. Gabbitas, Thring & Co., 36, Sackville Street, London.

The success which has attended Whitaker's List of British Schools is testified to by a perusal of pages 810–842. There is every reason confidently to expect that the Continental Section will meet with equal support, but it was decided upon too late in the year to secure a representative selection for the current edition of the Almanack.

WHITAKER'S SCHEDULE REGISTERS
OF BOYS' and GIRLS' SCHOOLS.

Whitaker's system of Schedule Registers has been established in order to enable Parents and Guardians, in search of a suitable School, to ascertain all those particulars which cannot be contained in an advertisement in Whitaker's publications.

Two pages in each Register are allotted to every School. The Schedules are most comprehensive, and the particulars are classified under five headings, viz., General Information, School Buildings, Education, Special Features, and Domestic Arrangements.

Only one form of Schedule is used, consequently all essential points can be obtained at a glance from the Register more quickly and easily than by reading through the ordinary prospectuses.

HARROGATE.

The Medical Officer of Health writes:—"Harrogate is the most important centre in Yorkshire for thoroughly equipped private secondary schools. The enterprise and educational zeal of highly qualified teachers, aided by the salubrity of the climate, have made these schools famous in every part of the United Kingdom. Harrogate is known as the 'Queen of English (Inland) Watering Places,' and is world-renowned for the medicinal properties of its waters and its magnificent baths, which are acknowledged to be the finest in Europe. The distinguishing features of the climate of Harrogate are its bracing atmosphere, low humidity, and abundant sunshine. The mortality is and always has been remarkably low. The death-rate for 1909 was 10·8 per 1,000, and the average rate for the last ten years was 11·8. The incidence of disease amongst the resident population is low. Epidemic diseases are uncommon, and when they occur they are most frequently from imported cases. Respiratory diseases are infrequent, and rheumatic fever is seldom seen. Harrogate is undoubtedly one of the best-drained towns in the kingdom. Sunshine records, average for 6 years, 1,527 hours."

Harrogate, M.B. Population, 33,000. North Eastern Rly. Location, 18 miles N. of Leeds, 20 miles W. of York. Elevation, 320 feet to 600 feet above sea-level. Neighbourhood, open moorlands. Climate, bracing. Dry, clear air. Water-supply, constant, soft. Drainage, modern. Soil, alluvial grit and shale. Total sunshine (1909), 1,399 hours (see p.853).

HOVE.

52 m. from London (L.B. & S.C. Rly.), is a fashionable residential resort, built on a gentle slope at foot of South Downs, on south coast of Sussex, immediately adjoining Brighton on the west; many advantages enjoyed by the latter town being equally applicable to Hove.

The Medical Officer of Health writes:—"The climate of Hove is singularly dry and fresh, being open to the bare Downs on the north, and the sea on the south. There is nearly always a good breeze, which in fine weather blows off the sea by day and off the Downs at night, thus preventing any feeling of oppressive heat or intense cold. London's foggy days are generally fine and sunny at Hove. In November, 1909, the recorded sunshine at Hove was 122 hours, at London 45 hours. During the whole year Hove had 500 hours of sunshine more than London (Westminster). It is specially recommended for those suffering from overwork or too active life in a busy town, and as a bracing change from the damper climate of the south-west of England. The humidity of the air is as low as 50 to 60 per cent. in the summer; the ground dries rapidly after rain."

HUNSTANTON-ON-SEA.

The Medical Officer of Health writes:—"Hunstanton shares with all the East Coast watering-places a great reputation for convalescents. Apart from this, Hunstanton seems specially adapted for children. The rapidly-drying soil, the absolutely safe bathing, the magnificent sands for exercise in wet or dry weather, perfect drainage, and splendid water, combine to make it an ideal place for them. The number of schools and the wonderful physical progress of weakly children bear testimony to these advantages" (see p. 852).

MARGATE AND CLIFTONVILLE.

The Medical Officer of Health writes:—"Nearly three thousand children are sent yearly to Margate for their education. The chief reasons for the world-wide reputation of Margate as a health resort appear to be: Its dry, bracing climate, the town is exposed to the sea breezes from all quarters except the west; it has the smallest rainfall in England; there is a notable absence of fog; the subsoil is chalk, and the roads rapidly dry even after the heaviest rain. In addition to a large expanse of firm, dry sands there are promenades extending along the cliffs and the sea-front for more than three miles, and a sheltered park in the Dane Valley. The above exceptional advantages combine to make Margate a specially desirable residence for growing children during their school days." The East Hill district is called CLIFTONVILLE; it is the highest part of the town. Hours of sunshine (1909), 1,671 (see p. 855).

MALVERN.

The Medical Officer of Health writes:—"Malvern is picturesquely situated on the eastern and western slopes of the range of Malvern Hills, with extensive and magnificent views on both sides. The Hills, which rise to an altitude of 1,400 feet, are easily accessible for delicate persons, either on foot or by carriage. The climate has a most beneficial effect on invalids. The houses are so placed as to receive more than the ordinary amount of sunshine. Weakly children, especially those suffering from tubercular glands or continually recurring catarrhs, in nearly all cases do remarkably well here. The rainfall is low, and the soil dries with remarkable rapidity. The water supply is bountiful and of great purity, and the sanitary state of the district generally of a high standard. Persons having houses to let can obtain "Sanitary Certificates" from the Urban Council, and these are not granted unless the sanitary arrangements are thoroughly up-to-date. The average annual (corrected) death-rate for the past five years is as low as 10·1 per 1,000 of the population. Outbreaks of infectious diseases are few and quickly suppressed, as the Malvern Urban District Council are provided with every means for promptly dealing with any case that may arise. No trouble or expense is spared in making Malvern the 'Queen of Health Resorts.' Pop. 18,000" (see p. 856).

WHITAKER'S PUBLICITY TRAIN-CARS

ON

METROPOLITAN RAILWAY

FOR ADVERTISING

HOLIDAY AND HEALTH RESORTS.

The Press, Railway Authorities, and Municipal Officials have already recognised the growing demands from Health and Pleasure seekers, and the general promotion of holiday facilities has become a question of National importance.

The objects of the Publicity Train-Cars are to directly bring in the most interesting manner to the notice of the Travellers upon the Metropolitan Railway, the various Seaside and Inland Health and Pleasure Resorts.

The Metropolitan Railway carried in 1908 over 100,000,000 persons, which enormous number consisted of City, Metropolitan, and Suburban Regular Passengers—as well as Holiday-makers and Business Visitors from all parts of the World.

The Metropolitan Railway forms an admirable connecting link with all the great London Terminal Stations.

The Publicity Train-Cars offer exceptional facilities for attractive and instructive displays, of special interest to Travellers upon the Metropolitan Railway, and advantageous to Advertisers.

Under the arrangement made by Messrs. J. Whitaker & Sons, Ltd., with Messrs. W. H. Smith & Son, an Advertiser only desirous of one space on the Metropolitan Railway will be able to obtain it in the Special Section of the Publicity Train-Car which applies to his locality.

The Publicity Train-Cars will therefore afford townspeople the opportunity to co-operate effectively at small individual expense, to make wider known the special advantages they can offer intending Visitors and likely Residents.

PURCHASES. The Society purchases Reversions and Remainders, whether absolute or contingent, Life Interests, whether in possession or deferred, and generally all Interests (in approved property) that depend upon the duration of human life.

LOANS. The Society also grants Loans on the security of such Interests, either on Ordinary Mortgage or by way of Reversionary Charge. The latter mode meets the convenience of borrowers who do not wish to make any payment for either principal or interest until their Reversionary Property falls into possession. The amount to which the Society will then be entitled is fixed at the outset, and does not depend on the time elapsing between the grant of the Loan and its repayment. The option of redeeming the Charge during the first three or five years can usually be combined with this form of Loan.

Forms of Proposal and full information can be obtained at the Society's Offices.

"HOW TO SELECT A LIFE OFFICE."

By G. M. DENT, F.S.S.

Extracts from a few Press Opinions.

MORNING POST.—"Mr. G. M. Dent, who is a Fellow of the Royal Statistical Society, has written a valuable pamphlet on Life Assurance, in which all the more important questions connected with the subject are discussed by a firm of merchants and an insurance broker. . . . There are two carefully-prepared tables."

PALL MALL GAZETTE.—"Deals very clearly with the main points to be borne in mind in selecting an office, and the tabular matter is very useful. Armed with this pamphlet, and blessed with a little commonsense, the ordinary man cannot go very far wrong."

DAILY CHRONICLE.—"Cannot fail to be instructive."

STATIST.—"The form of question and answer relieves the work very much from the heavy character of a statistical inquiry." "To those who may contemplate insurance, the expenditure of 1s. on this pamphlet will be a judicious outlay."

FINANCIAL TIMES.—"Carefully and skilfully compiled."

POLICY-HOLDER.—"Life Assurance as an investment, and Endowment Assurance, are both explained in a very attractive way."

UNITED SERVICE GAZETTE.—"The fact that this pamphlet has now reached its third edition amply demonstrates the value of its contents. Illustrations, proving the great value of life assurance as an investment, accompany the pamphlet, which also shows how to determine the relative merit of Offices which are not altogether 'much of a muchness' as is generally believed."

BRADFORD OBSERVER.—"The remarks on Life Assurance as a paying investment, apart from its protection against the misfortune of premature death, deserve to be widely read."

CARDIFF TIMES.—"In terse and lucid fashion, Mr. Dent not merely emphasises the utility of Life Assurance as an investment, but also explains how the assurer may obtain the maximum of security and the largest return for money."

GLASGOW HERALD.—"The pamphlet takes the form of a dialogue, which, together with a series of tables, shows the features to which an intending assurer should direct his attention before selecting a company."

LIVERPOOL COURIER.—"The dialogue is smartly written, and touches on many of the most important elements that have to be considered before a policy is taken in any office. Appended are illustrative tables showing how widely different offices vary in their mode of doing business."

The Operations of the Company embrace Life, Fire, Marine, Burglary, Fidelity Guarantee, and all Branches of Accident Insurance.

DEATH DUTIES.—Special Forms of Policies have been prepared by the Company providing for the payment of Death Duties, thus avoiding the necessity of disturbing investments at a time when it may be difficult to realise without loss.

INCOME TAX.—Under the provisions of the Act, Income Tax is not payable on that portion of the Assured's income which is devoted to the payment of annual premiums on an assurance on his life or on the life of his wife. Having regard to the amount of the Tax, this abatement (which is limited to one-sixth of the Assured's income) is an important advantage to Life Policyholders.

Full particulars of all classes of Insurance, together with Proposal Forms and Statement of Accounts, may be had on application to any of the Company's Offices or Agents.

THE LONDON LIFE

ASSOCIATION LIMITED,

81 King William Street, London, E.C

ESTABLISHED 1806. FUNDS IN HAND, £5,000,000

The London Life Association Limited is not a company trading for profit, nor one transacting fire, marine, accident or other classes of insurance, but a society of persons mutually assuring each others' lives at the lowest possible cost on an almost unique system of fixed assurance at a lessening premium. It has no shareholders to provide for, no branch offices to keep up, and it never employs travellers or pays commission to agents or solicitors to get new business. The expenses of management are thus reduced to a minimum, being but £1 6s. 3d. per cent. of the Premiums, or £2 15s. 0d. per cent. of the Income from premiums and interest—ratios less probably than those of any other Office, and in fact less than those of most for commission alone.

Full information, with the statutory accounts, may be obtained on application by post or otherwise.

Early Provident

£6 10s. per annum will secure for a child aged 2 next birthday a policy of £1000 at death after age 25 with Valuable Options at 25 and return of premiums in the event of earlier death.

Educational Annuities

£18 per annum from the birth of a child till he is 16 will secure for him an Annuity of £100 a year for 4 years from age 16. Money returned in the event of the death of the child.

(THESE ARE TWO SPLENDID SCHEMES FOR CHILDREN.)

Half Premium Endowment Policy is a very attractive form of insurance for professional and business men. At age 23 next birthday a premium of £22 10s. a year for 5 years and £35 13s. 4d. a year for 25 years secures a policy of £1000 with added Bonuses payable at the end of 30 years or at previous death.

Eight Option Policy (has proved very popular).

£28 9s. 7d. per annum at age 30 next birthday insures a healthy man for £1000 until he is 60, when he can exercise one of the EIGHT IMPORTANT OPTIONS absolutely guaranteed under the policy.

Pensions for later years should be provided as early as possible. Write for pamphlet showing what £10 a year will do. If delayed too long, there comes a time when Annuities alone are available.

"HOW TO SELECT A LIFE OFFICE."

By G. M. DENT, F.S.S.

EXTRACTS FROM A FEW PRESS OPINIONS.

"An instructive pamphlet. Insurers in search of knowledge might advantageously expend a shilling on this book."—Statist.

"The statistics as to Endowment assurance policies as investments are highly interesting and convincing."—Citizen.

"To those who contemplate taking out life policies, the expenditure of a shilling on this pamphlet may be recommended as about the wisest step they could take. Everyone should read it."—Fairplay.

"There is no doubt Mr. Dent has expended a vast amount of research on his pamphlet, and the elaborate tables which he publishes are distinctly valuable."—Financial Times.

"An interesting study of the dialogues and tables given will more than repay the shilling outlay."—Dundee Advertiser.

"All who intend to insure their lives will find much useful information in this pamphlet."—Belfast News-Letter.

"The publication is of value to the insurance broker and other professional men, but of more value still to the intending insurer."—Halifax Courier.

"A cleverly-written dialogue. Both tables are explained with great lucidity."—Law Journal.

"All who contemplate insuring their lives should read, mark, learn, and inwardly digest this able and interesting treatise."—Leeds Times.

"A well-written pamphlet. Anyone proposing to insure his life will easily find from the author's 'three interviews' how to spend his money to the best advantage."—Liverpool Mercury.

"Cannot fail to be instructive."—Daily Chronicle.

"A valuable pamphlet on life assurance. . . . There are two carefully prepared tables—No. 1, 'exhibiting in a concentrated form the more essential points to be considered in the selection of a Life Office,' and No. 2, 'showing the different results to policy-holders produced by the payment of the same money to the various offices.'"—Morning Post.

"A most valuable and exhaustive pamphlet."—Nonconformist.

"One special branch of the question, which is most lucidly treated, is the value of life assurance considered simply as an investment."—Southport Guardian.

ROYAL BLIND PENSION SOCIETY

Patron—HIS MAJESTY THE KING.

Vice-Patron—H.R.H. THE DUKE OF CONNAUGHT, K.G.

President—THE DUKE OF GRAFTON, K.G.

Honorary Secretaries—Messrs. GEORGE POCOCK and PERCY R. POCOCK.

This Society grants Pensions to the Blind Poor at their own homes in sums ranging from 10s. to 25s. per month.

There are at present 1,300 pensioners, residing in various parts of the Kingdom, among whom upwards of £9,000 is annually distributed in pensions, paid monthly, through the kind agency of Honorary Almoners.

Elections take place in May and November in each year.

In addition to those elected by the votes of Subscribers, not less than two are added at every election in order of priority. Others are nominated from time to time to receive Memorial and other special Pensions.

To be eligible, applicants must be totally blind, above 21 years of age, of good moral character, and in receipt of an income not exceeding £20, if single, and £30 if married. No distinction is made in regard to sex or creed ; nor is the receipt of parish relief a disqualification.

Application must be made on the printed forms provided by the Society.

Subscribers of 10*s.* 6*d.* annually, or Donors of Five Guineas, are entitled to One Vote at every election, and multiples thereof in proportion. They can also assist in the Nomination of a Candidate.

The payment of a Legacy to the Society confers upon each Executor the privilege of One Life Vote for every £25 bequeathed.

The yearly report, containing the rules, accounts and all information, will be forwarded on application.

Contributions will be gratefully received by the Treasurer, or by the BANK OF ENGLAND, or Messrs. Barclay and Co.

THE GORDON BOYS' HOME

(THE NATIONAL MEMORIAL TO GENERAL GORDON).

Patron—THE KING. Vice-Patrons—H.M. THE QUEEN and H.M. QUEEN ALEXANDRA.

THE HOME IS SITUATED AT WEST END, WOKING, NEAR BROOKWOOD.

OFFICES—5, YORK STREET, ST. JAMES'S, S.W.

The Home is constructed to accommodate 250 Boys, chosen from the homeless and destitute, between the ages of 14 and 16, and give them a training, up to the age of 18, which will fit them alike for civil life in this country or its Colonies, and for service in the Army, Navy or Mercantile Marine.

CONDITIONS OF ADMISSION.—1. None are admitted below 13¼ years of age or above 15½. 2. A boy must, in the opinion of the Committee, be really necessitous. 3. He must be free from such physical or mental infirmity as would disqualify him for service in the Army or Navy, or for civil employment in the Colonies or elsewhere, which would require active bodily exertion. 4. Boys of known bad character are ineligible.

Free admission is given to such number of boys as above as can be provided for out of the general income of the Home. A guaranteed payment of £22 annually during his stay at the Home will give a right of nomination for a lad fulfilling the conditions of admission. There are now 250 Boys in the Home. Subscriptions and Donations are urgently needed in order that this number may be maintained.

Subscriptions are received by THE LONDON COUNTY AND WESTMINSTER BANK, 1, St. James's Square, S.W.; by the Treasurer, General the Right Hon. Sir Dighton Probyn, G.C.B., V.C., Buckingham Palace, S.W.; and by the Secretary, at the Office, 5, York Street, St. James's, S.W., from whom any further information can be obtained.

Chairman: THE RIGHT HON. LORD HOWARD DE WALDEN.
Treasurer: LEOPOLD DE ROTHSCHILD, Esq., C.V.O.
Chairman of Committees: C. J. THOMAS, Esq., C.C., F.R.G.S.

SPECIAL APPEAL.

The Metropolitan Hospital is in the Kingsland Road, far removed from the rich, and ministers to a population of nearly half-a-million of the poorest inhabitants of London.

More than 1,800 In and 43,000 Out-Patients are treated annually, the attendances of the latter amounting to upwards of 130,000.

At the present time there are 117 beds available for In-Patients, including a Ward especially for Children, and two Wards, with special kitchens, &c., for Jewish patients.

Every care is taken to avoid abuse of the charity; and a trained Almoner is employed for this purpose and for the further purpose of forming a link between the Hospital and outside charities to assist patients to any extra help that they may require.

While the necessary annual expenditure is about £15,000 a year the income from invested property is under £700. The difference has every year to be collected from the charitable public.

Appeal is also made for Funds to build the NURSES' HOME on the Hospital's land behind the Ward blocks.

Upon this Institution, founded in 1822, rests a heavy responsibility. It is earnestly and respectfully submitted that it has in consequence a strong claim upon the benevolence of the humane and charitable.

The Council respectfully appeal to the Public to extend a hearty assistance—

I. By supplying early information of all acts of cruelty witnessed.

II. By increasing the revenue of the Society by annual subscriptions, by donations, by testamentary gifts, and particularly by inducing their friends to become members.

Trained Officers are despatched to all parts of the Kingdom. Over 6,000 convictions annually.

SUPPORTED ONLY BY VOLUNTARY CONTRIBUTIONS.

The increased operations of the Society necessitate a continual drain on the funds of the Society on account of the inadequacy of the yearly Subscription. The Council need much greater assistance, and unless such additional support be extended to them, this most righteous cause of humanity must suffer from insufficiency of means to carry out those many urgent measures which every well-wisher of this Society has so deeply at heart.

According to the latest Parliamentary Return, the number of experiments made in 1909 was 80,277. A large number of these were inoculation experiments, and, as the report says, "are attended by no considerable, if appreciable, pain."

The pain does not lie in the operation itself, but in the after effects.

The following is an example of what may ensue in the dog after the "little needle prick":—

"A dog was inoculated on January 23rd. In a few days it began to show signs of wasting, then the head became swelled and dropsical, and also the fore-legs and paws; later on this swelling disappeared, but the dog seemed very ill and weak, and there was a thickening of the membrane of both eyes. Two days before its death it refused food and seemed very thirsty. On February 29th it died."—Abridged from the Journal of Pathology and Bacteriology, March, 1906.

CONTRIBUTIONS TO THE SOCIETY GRATEFULLY ACKNOWLEDGED. [193

The Cost of Beauty

In the supposed quest of beauty large sums are often spent on artificial aids that for the most part do much more harm than good

But nature's way is the best, after all; and no cosmetic in the world will accomplish as much in promoting natural beauty of complexion by natural means as

which is absolutely pure natural soap of the highest quality in every component, and possesses those special emollient properties which are pre-eminent for softening and beautifying the skin—and its cost is only a Half penny a week!
